Not Quite Hope and Other Political Emotions in the Gilded Age Nathan Wolff, 2019 Not Quite Hope and Other Political Emotions in the Gilded Age argues that late nineteenth century US fiction grapples with and helps to conceptualize the disagreeable feelings that are both a threat to citizens agency and an inescapable part of the emotional life of democracy then as now In detailing the corruption and venality for which the period remains known authors including Mark Twain Harriet Beecher Stowe Henry Adams and Helen Hunt Jackson evoked the depressing inefficacy of reform the lunatic passions of the mob and the revolting appetites of lobbyists and office seekers Readers and critics of these Washington novels historical romances and satiric romances have denounced these books for their negative tone seeing it as a sign of cynicism and elitism Not Quite Hope argues in contrast that their distrust of politics is coupled with an intense investment in it not quite apathy but not quite hope Chapters examine both common and idiosyncratic forms of political emotion including crazy love disgust cynicism election fatigue and the myriad feelings of hatred and suspicion provoked by the figure of the hypocrite In so doing the book corrects critics too narrow focus on sympathy as the American novel's model political emotion We think of reform novels as fostering feeling for fellow citizens or for specific causes This volume argues that Gilded Age fiction refocuses attention on the unstable emotions that continue to shape our relation to politics as such International

that preserves the independence of political life And while many see his politics as based on a natural law ethic or on one in which authority is conferred by direct revelation von Heyking shows how Augustine held to an understanding of political ethics that emphasizes practical wisdom and judgment in a mode that resembles Aristotle rather than Machiavelli

Mobilising the Racialised 'Others' Suvi Keskinen, 2022-05-16 This book provides an original approach to the connections of race racism and neoliberalisation through a focus on postethnic activism in which mobilisation is based on racialisation as non white or other instead of ethnic group membership Developing the theoretical understanding of political activism under the neoliberal turn in racial capitalism and the increasingly hostile political environment towards migrants and racialised minorities the book investigates the conditions forms and visions of postethnic activism in three Nordic countries Denmark Sweden and Finland It connects the historical legacies of European colonialism to the current configurations of racial politics and global capitalism The book compellingly argues that contrary to the tendencies of neoliberal postracialism to de politicise social inequalities the activists are re politicising questions of race class and gender in new ways The book is of interest to scholars and students in sociology ethnic and racial studies cultural studies feminist studies and urban studies The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Acts of Knowing Stephen Cowden, Gurnam Singh, 2013-03-28 This provocative book's starting point is a deep and profound concern about the commodification of knowledge within the contemporary university Acts of Knowing aims to provide readers with a means of understanding the issues from the perspective of Critical Pedagogy an educational philosophy which believes that knowing must be freed from the constraints of the financial and managerialist logics which dominate the contemporary university Critical Pedagogy is important for three key reasons it conceptualises pedagogy as a process of engagement between the teacher and taught secondly that that engagement is based on an underlying humanistic view about human worth and value and thirdly that the knowing which can come out of this engagement needs to be understood essentially as exchange between people rather than a financial exchange Cowden and Singh argue that the conception of education as simply a means for securing economic returns for the individual and for the society's positioning in a global marketplace represents a fundamentally impoverished conception of education which impoverishes not just individuals but society as a whole

Speaking Truths Valerie Chepp, 2022-02-11 The twenty first century is already riddled with protests demanding social justice and in every instance young people are leading the charge But in addition to protesters who take to the streets with handmade placards are young adults who engage in less obvious change making tactics In Speaking Truths sociologist Valerie Chepp goes behind the scenes to uncover how spoken word poetry and young people's participation in it contributes to a broader understanding of contemporary social justice activism including this generation's attention to the political importance of identity well being and love Drawing upon detailed observations and in depth interviews Chepp tells the story of a diverse group of young adults from Washington D C who use spoken word to create a more just and equitable world Outlining the contours of this approach she interrogates spoken word activism's emphasis on personal storytelling and truth the strategic uses of aesthetics and emotions to politically engage across difference and the significance of healing in sustainable movements for change Weaving together their poetry and personally told stories Chepp shows how poets tap into the beautiful emotional personal and therapeutic features of spoken word to empathically connect with others advance intersectional and systemic analyses of inequality and make social justice messages relatable across a diverse public By creating allies and forging connections based on friendship professional commitments lived experiences emotions artistic kinship and political views this activist approach is highly integrated into the everyday lives of its practitioners online and face to face Chepp argues that spoken word activism is a product of and a call to action against the neoliberal era in which poets have come of age characterized by widening structural inequalities and increasing economic and social vulnerability She illustrates how this deeply personal and intimate activist approach borrows from builds upon and diverges from previous social movement paradigms Spotlighting the complexity and mutual influence of modern day activism and the world in which it unfolds Speaking Truths contributes to our understanding of contemporary social change making and how neoliberalism has shaped this political generation's experiences with social injustice
