Saint Ned The Story Of The Near Sanctification Of An Australian Outlaw:

Saint Ned Keith Dunstan, 1980 Ned Kelly as Memory Dispositif Laura Basu, 2012-12-06

Nineteenth century outlaw Ned Kelly is perhaps Australia's most famous historical figure. Ever since he went on the run in 1878 his story has been repeated time and again in every conceivable medium. Although the value of his memory has been hotly contested and arguably because of this he remains perhaps the main national icon of Australia. Kelly's flamboyant crimes turned him into a popular hero for many Australians during his lifetime and far beyond a symbol of freedom, anti-authoritarianism, anti-imperialism, a Robin Hood, a Jesse James, a Che Guevara. Others have portrayed him as a villain, a gangster, a terrorist. His latest incarnation has been as WikiLeaks founder and fellow Australian cyber outlaw Julian Assange. Despite the huge number of representations of Kelly from rampant newspaper reporting of the events to the iconic Sidney Nolan paintings to a movie starring Mick Jagger to contemporary urban street art, this is the first work to take this corpus of material itself as a subject of analysis. The fascinating case of this young outlaw provides an important opportunity to further our understanding of the dynamics of cultural memory. The book explains the processes by which the cultural memory of Ned Kelly was made and has developed over time and how it has related to formations and negotiations of national identity. It breaks new ground in memory studies in the first place by showing that cultural memories are formed and develop through tangles of relations, what Basu terms memory dispositifs. In introducing the concept of the memory dispositif, this volume brings together and develops the work of Foucault, Deleuze and Agamben on the dispositif along with relevant concepts from the field of memory studies such as allochronism, colonial aphasia and multidirectionality, the memory site especially as developed by Ann Rigney and Jan Assmann's figure of memory. Secondly, this work makes important headway in our understanding of the relationships between cultural memory and national identity at a time when matters of identity appear to be more urgent and fraught than ever. In doing so, it shows that national identities are never purely national but are always sub and transnational. The Ned Kelly memory dispositif has made complex and conflicting contributions to constructions of national identity. Ever since his outlawry, the identities invested in Kelly and those invested in the Australian nation have in a two-way dynamic fused into and strengthened each other so that Kelly is in many ways a symbol for the national identity. Kelly has come to stand for an anti-establishment, working class, subaltern, Irish-inflected national identity. At the same time, he has come to represent and enforce the whiteness, hyper-heterosexual masculinity and violence of Australianness. Basu shows that Kelly has therefore always functioned in both radical and conservative ways, often both at once, a turbulent Janus-faced figure.

Wanted Robert M. Utley, 2015-11-17

Two famous 19th century outlaws from opposite sides of the world are brought to rollicking life in the acclaimed historian's marvelous dual biography. Douglas Brinkley, author of The Wilderness Warrior, The legendary exploits of Billy the Kid and Ned Kelly live on in the public imaginations of their respective countries, the United States and Australia. But the outlaws' reputations are so mythologized the truth of their lives has become obscure. In Wanted, Robert M. Utley reveals the true stories and parallel courses of the two notorious contemporaries who lived by the gun were executed while still in their twenties and remain compelling figures in the folklore of their homelands Utley draws sharp portraits of both young men offering insightful comparisons of their lives and legacies Billy was a fun loving sharpshooter who excelled at escape and lived on the run after indictment for his role in the Lincoln Country War While Ned raised in the bush by his Irish convict father was driven by outrage against British colonial authority to steal cattle and sheep kill three policemen and rob banks for the benefit of impoverished Irish sympathizers Recounting their exploits differences and shared fates Utley illuminates the worlds in which they lived on opposite sides of the globe Robert M Utley displays the gifts that have made him a storied interpreter of the nineteenth century west T J Stiles Pulitzer Prize winning author of The First Tycoon Fabulating
