Sicily As Metaphor:

Sicily as Metaphor Leonardo Sciascia, 1994 Sicily as Metaphor an intellectual autobiography and companion piece to Sciascia's imaginative writings resulted from the conversations he had toward the end of the 1970s with the French journalist Marcelle Padovani correspondent for Le Nouvel Observateur in Italy and author of a history of the Italian Communist Party

Sicily as Metaphor Leonardo Sciascia, Marcelle Padovani, 1994-01-01 Some time ago a critic writing in the Times Literary Supplement noted that Sciascia's style shows how strongly how single minded and intelligently he has reacted against the candyfloss fluffiness of so much around him What he has to say is compressed so tightly that his writing is rock hard sometimes dry in contrast to the almost crazy carelessness in the use of words so often found in Italy his words are picked so exactly that they form mosaics of their own precise patterns of emotional or intellectual meaning beyond the precise sense of what they seem to be saying Jacket

Metaphor and the Ancient Novel S. J. Harrison, Michael Paschalis, Stavros A. Frangoulidis, 2005 This thematic fourth Supplementum to Ancient Narrative entitled Metaphor and the Ancient Novel is a collection of revised versions of papers originally read at the Second Rethymnon International Conference on the Ancient Novel RICAN 2 under the same title held at the University of Crete Rethymnon on May 19 20 2003 Though research into metaphor has reached staggering proportions over the past twenty five years this is the first volume dedicated entirely to the subject of metaphor in relation to the ancient novel Not every contributor takes into account theoretical discussions of metaphor but the usefulness of every single paper lies in the fact that they explore actual texts while sometimes theorists tend to work out of context

Allusion to the Poets Christopher Ricks, 2002 Christopher Ricks is among the best known living critics His third collection of essays several newly written for this book is strongly focused on the theme of how writers especially but not exclusively poets make use of other writers work from the subtle courtesies of different kinds of allusion to the extreme discourtesy of plagiarism

Place in Literature Roberto Maria Dainotto, 2000 Since the 1840s when Victorian England emerged into the modern era and industrial cities became the new cultural centers regionalist literature has posited itself as an aesthetic alternative to nationalist culture Yet what differentiates regionalism's claims of authenticity derived from blood and soil from those of nationalism Through close readings and theoretical elaborations Roberto M Dainotto reveals the degree to which regionalism mimics nationalism in valorizing ethnic purity He interprets regionalism not as a genre in the pastoral tradition but as a rhetorical trope a way of reading in which regionalism figures as the other against a historical process that disrupts the organic wholeness of place Dainotto traces the genealogy of the idea of place in literature examining European texts from Victorian England to Fascist Italy He finds for example in Thomas Hardy's The Return of the Native a virtual thesaurus of regionalist commonplaces Elizabeth Gaskell's North and South mediates between Madame de Stal's privileging of the sophisticated north and Jean Jacques Rousseau's nostalgia for the naive south The regionalism of the Sicilian philosopher Giovanni Gentile exhibits a deep longing for the humanities as they define Italy and Western culture Dainotto concludes with a close look at the rhetoric of Nazism and Fascism dramatizing the convergence of regionalist aesthetics and nationalist ideology in Italy and Germany between the two World Wars

Inquisition and Inquiry Anne Mullen, 2000 This study focuses on the narrative form which figured prominently in Sciascia's literary production in the 1970s and 1980s that is inchiesta the non fiction investigative essay based principally on Manzoni's Storia della colonna infame The Column of Infamy In his inchieste Sciascia investigates episodes in history from the time of the Inquisition through to his own contemporary times where intolerance and injustice outmatch human weakness and fear This study considers Sciascia's commingling of detective and investigative writing and his attempts at historiography One striking feature of his narrative technique is his reliance on literature to interpret the past Unframing and Reframing

Mediterranean Spaces and Identities, 2023-10-30 Reconsidering the Mediterranean appreciating and demarginalizing the peoples and cultures of this vast region while considering the affinities and differences is a valuable part of the process of unframing and reframing the concept of the Mediterranean The authors of this volume follow Franco Cassano's refusal of a sort of pr t porter reality of cohabitation of cultures introducing instead un alternativa mediterranea a world of multiple cultures that entails an ongoing learning and experiencing The volume's contributors use an interdisciplinary approach that mirrors the hybridity of the area and of the discipline that is much more introspective and humanistic more contemporary and inclusive Antonello da Messina and the History of Art Anna Swartwood House, 2025-03-31 This book argues that painter Antonello da Messina c 1430 1479 is a formative cross cultural figure in the practice of art history itself Featuring new interpretations of some of his best known works Anna Swartwood House shows how the uncertainties surrounding the painter have made him a uniquely pliable figure easily inserted into different narratives of contact cultural translation and exchange Using a wide range of materials including archival documents biographies civic histories collectors notes and popular literature House traces the fortunes of an artist continually defined by place The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history Renaissance studies early modern history and historiography What's Happened to the Humanities? Alvin B. Kernan, 2014-07-14 This volume of specially commissioned original essays presents the thoughts of some of the most distinguished commentators within the American academy on the fundamental changes that have taken place in the humanities in the latter part of the twentieth century In the transformation of American higher education from the university to the demoversity the humanities have become a less and less important part of education a matter established by a statistical appendix and elaborated on in several of the essays The individual essays offer close observations into how the humanities have been affected by declining academic status by demographic shifts by reductions in financial support and by changing communication technology They also explore the effect of these forces on books libraries and the phenomenology of reading in the age of images When basic conditions change theory follows and several essays trace the appearance and effect of new relativistic epistemologies in the humanities Social institutions change as well in such circumstances and the volume concludes with studies of the new social arrangements that have developed in the humanities in recent years the attack on professionalism and the effort to transform the humanities into the social conscience of academia and even of the nation as a whole Cause and effect Who can say What the essays make clear however is that as the humanities have become less significant in American higher education they have also been the scene of unusually energetic pedagogical social and intellectual changes The contributors to the volume are David Bromwich John D Arms Denis Donoghue Carla Hesse Gertrude Himmelfarb Lynn Hunt Frank Kermode Louis Menand Francis Oakley Christopher Ricks and Margery Sabin Included is a substantial introduction by Alvin Kernan and an appendix of tables and figures showing baccalaureate and doctoral degrees over the years in various types of schools Originally published in 1997 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Metaphor Simon Unwin, 2019-03-28 Each of these Analysing Architecture Notebooks is devoted to a particular theme in understanding the rich and varied workings of architecture They can be thought of as addenda to the foundation volume Analysing Architecture which first appeared in 1997 and has subsequently been enlarged in three further editions Examining these extra themes as a series of Notebooks rather than as additional chapters in future editions allows greater space for more detailed exploration of a wider variety of examples whilst avoiding the risk of the original book becoming unwieldy Metaphor is the most powerful component of the poetry of architecture It has been a significant factor in architecture since the earliest periods of human history when people were finding ways to give order and meaning to the world in which we live It is arguable that architecture began with the realisation of metaphor in physical form and that subsequent movements from Greek to Gothic Renaissance to Modern Victorian to Vernacular have all been driven by the emergence or rediscovery of different metaphors by which architecture might be generated

Socially Symbolic Acts Joseph Francese, 2006 This book discusses issues of broad cultural consequence by examining the work of three of Italy's most prominent living novelists Umberto Eco Vincenzo Consolo and Antonio Tabucchi The introductory chapter continues a discussion of some of the topics already broached in the author's Narrating Postmodern Time and Space 1997 It uses an approach that is both historicist and psychoanalytic to critically address topics in cultural studies and Italian studies The book deals with fictions of very recent publication many of which have been published after the turn of the millennium filling important gaps in the critical bibliography Close readings relate texts to their historical and cultural contexts critiquing their ideology while preserving their Utopian moments
