The Annals and Magazine of Natural History, 1916 The Balance of Nature and Human Impact Klaus Rohde, 2013-02-14 It is clear that nature is undergoing rapid changes as a result of human activities such as industry agriculture travel fisheries and urbanisation What effects do these activities have Are they disturbing equilibria in ecological populations and communities thus upsetting the balance of nature or are they enhancing naturally occurring disequilibria perhaps with even worse consequences It is often argued that large scale fluctuations in climate and sea levels have occurred over and over again in the geological past long before human activities could possibly have had any impact and that human effects are very small compared to those that occur naturally Should we conclude that human activity cannot significantly affect the environment or are these naturally occurring fluctuations actually being dangerously enhanced by humans This book examines these questions first by providing evidence for equilibrium and non equilibrium conditions in relatively undisturbed ecosystems and second by examining human induced effects Natural History of the South East Michael J. the places chosen for Australia's seven colonial capitals came to shape their unique urban character and built environments Tony Webster traces the effects of each city's geologically diverse coastal or riverine landform and the local natural materials that were available for construction highlighting how the geology and original landforms resulted in development patterns that have persisted today Amphibia and reptilia Cogger,2024-02-12 Continental Shelves of the World F.L. Chiocci ,A.R. Chivas ,2014-11-06 The world's continental shelves are the sites of vast resources of food energy and minerals the exploitation of which is continuously increasing Fluctuating global sea levels throughout the Quaternary period produced multiple transgressive and regressive cycles that profoundly affected and shaped these shelves The complex interactions among climate sea level tectonics oceanography and sediment input have formed distinctive sediment packages on each shelf and provide a guide to the interpretation of older shelf sequences throughout the geological record This Memoir compiles studies on 23 selected shelves from all the continents focusing on their evolution and examining the patterns of sedimentation during the past approximately 125 000 years In addition to providing basic background information for each area the chapters consider specific aspects of continental shelf research from seismic stratigraphy to geomorphology from palaeoceanography to palaeo sea level reconstruction and from palaeontology to geochemistry Our Heart is the Land Bruce Shaw,1995 This collection of Aboriginal oral histories focuses on themes such as dreamings religious life living off the land epidemics droughts and floods and self management Includes an introduction describing the history and geography of the region and a chapter on the Aboriginal people and their territories in the area Includes a bibliography and an index The author is a former lecturer in social anthropology at the Darwin Community College and has also compiled TMy Country of the Pelican Dreaming and TCountrymen Australian Mammal Society ,1994-06 Encyclopedia of Coastal Science M.
