Naturalist In Borneo:

A Naturalist in Borneo Robert Walter Campbell Shelford, 1985 Originally published in 1916 Robert Shelford's descriptions of the wildlife of Sarawak remain as accurate and informative as ever for the naturalist of today But the author's interests as a naturalist were not confined to the animal world Shelford was an intrepid traveller and his book vividly describes his expeditions and what he encountered as seen through the eyes of an Edwardian Englishman in the heyday of the Empire His accounts of life in the Sarawakian countryside convey the flavor of the time and present a picture which in ways is still recognizable to a modern visitor to Borneo A Naturalist in Borneo Robert W. C. Shelford, 1985 A

Two Years in the Jungle William Temple Hornaday,1885 The Naturalist's Directory ,1905 Wanderings in the Great Forests of Borneo Odoardo Beccari,2015-08-05 Excerpt from Wanderings in the Great Forests of Borneo Travels and Researches of a Naturalist in Sarawak To naturalists generally but especially to botanists the author of the following pages stands in no need of introduction His work in Borneo which he here describes was but the prelude to many years of travel and exploration which have found expression in so far as regards their scientific results in the pages of various Societies publications and the shelves and drawers of the great museums of Italy and other countries a monument alike to the author s botanical and zoological knowledge and his tireless zeal as a collector But while his name is thus familiar to the student of science notably to those who have made the fauna and flora of the Eastern Archipelago a special subject of research it is probably less so to what an old translator once contemptuously described as the mere English reader or as it would nowadays be phrased the man in the street To the latter it is only necessary to say that no one is more fully qualified to act as guide to the great island amidst whose primeval forests he wandered for so long Whether the scientific reader does or does not admit the validity of all Dr Beccari s theories concerning species formation he cannot call in question his abundant experience of the country or his knowledge of the subjects of which he treats Dr Beccari tells us that nearly forty years have passed away since the days of which he writes and deems an apology necessary for so lengthy a hesitation Certainly in these days of steam and speed a forty year old description of a country might seem to a hasty thinker something more than a little out of date Were he to reject the volume on these grounds his conclusion would be an erroneous one and he would miss not a little These vast primeval groves through which the author will guide him so pleasantly secure from mosquito s bite and equatorial temperatures are to day as they have been from almost the beginning of things The stupendous trees which form them have turned from seedling to mould for aeons not to be numbered Beneath the shade of their predecessors the common ancestors of Man and Mayas may have wandered and though change is touching even the unchanging East and there are such things as volcanoes to be reckoned with the end of the Bornean forest is not as yet within sight It is with nature rather than man that Dr Beccari deals and nature needs something more than a generation to get out of date About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Gardens of the Sun Frederick William Burbidge, 1989 This book first published in 1880 is a vividly written record of travel and discovery on the island of Borneo Little seems to have escaped Burbidge s eye during his travels through Sarawak Labuan and the north of Borneo to Sulu Although the main object of his journey was the collection of plants he is equally concerned with describing his encounters with the people he met along the way and their mode of life
