Agroforestry in Europe Antonio Rigueiro-Rodríguez,Jim McAdam,María Rosa Mosquera-Losada,2008-11-09 Agroforestry has come of age during the past three decades The age old practice of growing trees and crops and sometimes animals in interacting combinations that has been ignored in the single commodity oriented agricultural and forestry development paradigms has been brought into the realm of modern land use Today agroforestry is well on its way to becoming a specialized science at a level similar to those of crop science and forestry science To most land use experts however agroforestry has a tropical connotation They consider agroforestry as something that can and can only be identified with the tropics That is a wrong perception While it is true that the tropics compared to the temperate regions have a wider array of agroforestry systems and hold greater promise for potential agroforestry interventions it is also true that agroforestry has several opportunities in the temperate regions too Indeed the role of agroforestry is now recognized in Europe as exemplified by this book North America and elsewhere in the temperate zone Current interest in ecosystem management in industrialized countries strongly suggests that there is a need to embrace and apply agroforestry principles to help mitigate the environmental problems caused or exacerbated by commercial agricultural and forestry production enterprises

Natural Heritage Peter Howard,Thymio Papayannis,2013-10-18 It has become more and more accepted that nature conservation is not possible without taking into account human activities Thus an integrated approach to both the natural and cultural heritage is being encouraged and developed Gathering a number of distinguished authors with diverse backgrounds from a religious leader to academics to conservation scientists the book aims to investigate the relationship between human beings and nature between nature and culture Looking at nature as heritage of the human race is a recognition both of the tremendous impacts both positive and negative that human activities have had on the natural environment as well as the acceptance of human responsibility for managing our planet in a sustainable and sensitive manner The texts included examine this interface between human beings and nature in specific places from the Everglades in

Florida and Mont Saint Micelle in Atlantic France to the UK Europe and the Mediterranean as well as on a theoretical basis and in the context of the international biodiversity conventions      Nature Policy Between Trends and Traditions Mariëlle van der Zouwen, 2006
