Neanderthals And Modern Humans An Ecological And Evolutionary Perspective:

Neanderthals and Modern Humans Clive Finlayson, 2004-03-11 Neanderthals and Modern Humans develops the theme of the close relationship between climate change ecological change and biogeographical patterns in humans during the Pleistocene In particular it challenges the view that Modern Human superiority caused the extinction of the Neanderthals between 40 and 30 thousand years ago Clive Finlayson shows that to understand human evolution the spread of humankind across the world and the extinction of archaic populations we must move away from a purely theoretical evolutionary ecology base and realise the importance of wider biogeographic patterns including the role of tropical and temperate refugia His proposal is that Neanderthals became extinct because their world changed faster than they could cope with and that their relationship with the arriving Modern Humans where they met was subtle

Vanished Sadiya Qureshi, 2025-06-05 A vital and important book David Olusoga From an award winning historian of race science and empire a path breaking and poignant history of extinction as a scientific idea an imperial legacy and a political choice Anyone alive today is among a tiny fraction of the once living over 90% of species that ever existed are now extinct How did we come to think of ourselves as survivors in a world where species can vanish forever or as capable of pushing our planet to the verge of a sixth mass extinction Extinction Sadiya Qureshi shows us is a surprisingly modern concept and a phenomenon that is not as natural as we might think In Europe until the late eighteenth century species were considered perfect and unchanging creations of God Then in the age of revolutions scientists gathered enough fossil evidence to determine that mammoth bones for example were not just large elephants but a lost species that once roamed the Earth alongside ancient humans Extinction went from being regarded as theologically dangerous to pervasive and even inevitable Yet Vanished shows us that extinction is more than a scientific idea it is a political choice that has led to devastating consequences Europeans and Americans quickly used the notion that extinction was a natural process to justify persecution and genocide predicting that nations from Newfoundland's Beothuk to Aboriginal Australians were doomed to die out from imperial expansion Exploring the tangled and unnatural histories of extinction and empire Vanished weaves together pioneering original research and breath taking storytelling to show us extinction is both an evolutionary process and a human act one which illuminates our past and may alter our future Archaeologies of Cultural Contact Timothy Clack, Marcus Brittain, 2022-08-11 Archaeologies of Cultural Contact undertakes an exploration of cultural transfer with a particular focus on the combination and modification of both material and behavioural attributes under conditions of contact From globalization and displacement to cultural legitimization and identity politics the modern world is characterised by and articulated through dynamics of contact and transfer This book recognises that creolization ethnogenesis hybridity and syncretism are analytical concepts and social processes relevant not only to the postcolonial contexts of the twentieth century but also to wide ranging instances where contact is made between cultural groups Indeed in representing the re working of pre existing cultural elements they were crucial and ever present features of the human past Ranging in their analytical frame scale and geographical and temporal location the chapters in this volume demonstrate the diverse understandings that can be gained from explorations into the material remains of past contact exposing and overcoming various limitations of competing models of cultural change They permit insights into not only cultural change and difference but also the processes of appropriation resistance redefinition and incorporation Together the contributions articulate the perspectives that concern practices in relations to people places and things and note how power dynamics mediate social interactions and sustain and constrain forms of cultural contact This book will be of interest to researchers and students in archaeology as well those from cognate disciplines particularly anthropology and history High Resolution Archaeology and Neanderthal Behavior Eudald Carbonell i Roura, 2012-03-15 The aim of this book is to provide a new insight on Neanderthal behaviour using the data recovered in level J of Roman rockshelter north eastern Spain Due to the sedimentary dynamics that formed the Roman deposit the occupation layers are characterized by a high temporal resolution which makes it easier to interpret the archaeological data in behavioural terms In addition the different analytical domains geoarchaeology lithic technology zooarchaeology taphonomy anthracology palaeontology are addressed from a spatial perspective that is basic to understand human behaviour but also to evaluate the behavioural inferences in the framework of the archaeological formation processes The Middle and Upper Paleolithic Archeology of the Levant and Beyond Yoshihiro Nishiaki, Takeru Akazawa, 2017-12-06 This volume is a compilation of results from sessions of the Second International Conference on the Replacement of Neanderthals by Modern Humans which took place between November 30 and December 6 2014 in Hokkaido Japan Similar to the first conference held in 2012 in Tokyo the 2014 conference RNMH2014 aimed to compile the results of the latest multidisciplinary approaches investigating the issues surrounding the replacement of Neanderthals by modern humans The results of the sessions supplemented by off site contributions center on the archeology of the Middle and Upper Paleolithic of the Levant and beyond The first part of this volume presents recent findings from the Levant while the second part focuses on the neighboring regions namely the

Caucasus the Zagros and South Asia The 13 chapters in this volume highlight the distinct nature of the cultural occurrences during the Middle and Upper Paleolithic periods of the Levant displaying a continuous development as well as a combination of lithic traditions that may have originated in different regions This syncretism which is an unusual occurrence in the regions discussed in this volume reinforces the importance of the Levant as a region for interpreting the RNMH phenomenon in West Asia

Encyclopedia of Evolution Stanley A. Rice, 2009 Evolutionary science is not only one of the greatest breakthroughs of modern science but also one of the most controversial Perhaps more than any other scientific area evolutionary science has caused us all to question what we are where we came from and how we relate to the rest of the universe Encyclopedia of Evolution contains more than 200 entries that span modern evolutionary science and the history of its development This comprehensive volume clarifies many common misconceptions about evolution For example many people have grown up being told that the fossil record does not demonstrate an evolutionary pattern and that there are many missing links In fact most of these missing links have been found and their modern representatives are often still alive today The biographical entries represent evolutionary scientists within the United States who have had and continue to have a major impact on the broad outline of evolutionary science The biographies chosen reflect the viewpoints of scientists working within the United States Five essays that explore interesting questions resulting from studies in evolutionary science are included as well The appendix consists of a summary of Charles Darwin's Origin of Species which is widely considered to be the foundational work of evolutionary science and one of the most important books in human history The five essays include How much do genes control human behavior What are the ghosts of evolution Can an evolutionary scientist be religious Why do humans die Are humans alone in the universe

The Smart Neanderthal Clive Finlayson, 2019-02-14 Since the late 1980s the dominant theory of human origins has been that a cognitive revolution c. 50 000 years ago led to the advent of our species Homo sapiens As a result of this revolution our species spread and eventually replaced all existing archaic Homo species ultimately leading to the superiority of modern humans Or so we thought As Clive Finlayson explains the latest advances in genetics prove that there was significant interbreeding between Modern Humans and the Neanderthals All non Africans today carry some Neanderthal genes We have also discovered aspects of Neanderthal behaviour that indicate that they were not cognitively inferior to modern humans as we once thought and in fact had their own rituals and art Finlayson who is at the forefront of this research recounts the discoveries of his team providing evidence that Neanderthals caught birds of prey and used their feathers for symbolic purposes There is also evidence that Neanderthals practised other forms of art as the recently discovered engravings in Gorham's Cave Gibraltar indicate Linking all the recent evidence The Smart Neanderthal casts a new light on the Neanderthals and the Cognitive Revolution Finlayson argues that there was no revolution and instead modern behaviour arose gradually and independently among different populations of Modern Humans and Neanderthals Some practices were even adopted by Modern Humans from the Neanderthals Finlayson overturns classic narratives of human origins and raises important questions about who we really are Human Adaptation in the Asian Palaeolithic Ryan J. Rabett, 2012-08-27 This book examines the first human colonization of Asia and particularly the tropical environments of Southeast Asia during the Upper Pleistocene In studying the unique character of the Asian archaeological record it reassesses long accepted propositions about the development of human modernity Ryan J Rabett reveals an evolutionary relationship between colonization the challenges encountered during this process especially in relation to climatic and environmental change and the forms of behaviour that emerged This book argues that human modernity is not something achieved in the remote past in one part of the world but rather is a diverse flexible responsive and ongoing process of adaptation

The Lithic Assemblages of Qafzeh Cave Erella Hovers, 2009-06-09 This book presents the first comprehensive description of the lithic assemblages from Qafzeh Cave one of only two Middle Paleolithic sites in the Levant that has yielded multiple burials of early anatomically modern Homo sapiens AMHs The record from this region raises the question of possible long term temporal overlap between early AMHs and Neanderthals For this reason Qafzeh has long been one of the pivotal sites in debates on the origins of AMHs and in attempts to compare and contrast the two species adaptations and behavior Although the hominin fossils from the site were published years ago until now the associated archaeological assemblages were incompletely described often leading to conflicting interpretations This monograph includes a thorough technological analysis of the lithic assemblages incorporated in their geological and sedimentological contexts This description serves as a springboard for regional comparisons as well as a more general discussion about Middle Paleolithic behavior which is relevant to important and as yet unresolved questions on the origins of modern behavior patterns The volume includes a wide ranging and up to date bibliography that provides the middle range for discussing the ecological context and behavioral complexity of the Middle Paleolithic period and ends with some thought provoking conclusions about the dynamic human interactions that existed in the region during this time The World from Beginnings to 4000 BCE Ian Tattersall,2008-02 In this lively and readable introduction renowned anthropologist Ian Tattersall thoroughly examines both fossil and archaeological records to trace human evolution from the earliest beginnings of our zoological family Hominidae through the appearance of Homo sapiens to the Agricultural Revolution How To Think Like a Neandertal Thomas Wynn,Frederick L.
