Off The Air:

Off-Air Genève Blue, 2014-07-31 Off Air is the story of a single mother whose life becomes entwined with an era long gone and where a different reality begins to creep in through the telephone where hysterical newscasters are speaking of events and people that don't exist. It's enough to make Emma believe she's losing her mind. That is until odd messages from two strangers lead her into a mystery about alternate timelines. What is reality exactly? Is time linear? These are questions Emma asks as she unravels what is causing all the chaos in her world.

Radio Programming is designed to convey underlying principles and to assist the programmer in accomplishing specific objectives without mandating exact implementation methods. Instead it empowers station management and the PD to implement strategies that will work for the particular format and market niche. Radio Programming will be helpful for neophytes in programming experienced programmers seeking further growth, air talent seeking to develop skills and general managers trying to understand programming and effectively manage program directors without stifling creativity. It will also help general managers hire effective programmers. Eric Norberg is the editor and publisher of the Adult Contemporary Music Research Letter and a radio consultant. He has worked as a program director at several radio stations as on-air talent and general manager and has also operated a radio production company. For fourteen years he has written a weekly column on radio programming for The Gavin Report, a radio trade publication.
