Three Centuries of Travel Writing by Muslim Women Siobhan Lambert-Hurley, Daniel Majchrowicz, Sunil Sharma, 2022-08-02 When thinking of intrepid travelers from past centuries we don't usually put Muslim women at the top of the list. And yet the stunning firsthand accounts in this collection completely upend preconceived notions of who was exploring the world. Editors Siobhan Lambert-Hurley, Daniel Majchrowicz, and Sunil Sharma recover, translate, annotate, and provide historical and cultural context for the 17th to 20th century writings of Muslim women travelers in ten different languages. Queens and captives, pilgrims and provocateurs, these women are diverse. Their connection to Islam is wide ranging, as well from the devout to those who distanced themselves from religion. What unites these adventurers is a concern for other women they encounter, their willingness to record their experiences, and the constant thoughts they cast homeward even as they traveled a world that was not always prepared to welcome them. Perfect for readers interested in gender, Islam, travel writing, and global history, Three Centuries of Travel Writing by Muslim Women provides invaluable insight into how these daring women experienced the world in their own voices.

Rouman Anthology Henry Edward John Stanley, Baron Stanley, 1856 Travel and Space in Nineteenth-Century Europe Anna P.H. Geurts, 2024-06-27 This detailed study of eighty European journeys examines the everyday spatial concerns of nineteenth-century travelers with a focus on travelers from the Netherlands and North Sea region. From common soldiers in revolutionary Belgium to guests of the tsars in Russia, many of their travel accounts are here examined for the first time. Chapters analyze the different meanings of the home and homeliness, travelers' desires for socializing but equally their intricate privacy norms, their intense attachment to cleanliness, order, space, and light, and the discomforts of cold, hot, wet, hard, and cramped spaces. Author Anna P. H. Geurts details what spatial characteristics travelers valued, what measures they took to ensure them, and what sensations, emotions, and thoughts this resulted in. Geurts's careful attention to gender, class, and individual experience turns existing conceptions of industrial modernity on their head. From Napoleonic stagecoaches and sailing boats to the steam-powered journeys of the belle époque, the continuities in travel experiences are surprising, as are the commonalities between travelers of different social classes and genders. Significant shifts in their spatial micropolitics should be sought less in the world of administration and industrial machinery and more in travelers' increasingly flexible and egalitarian mindset and changing economic relations. This book will be of value to students and researchers of cultural history as well as contemporary planning and design.

The Arabian Desert in English Travel Writing Since 1950 Jenny Walker, 2022-12-30 Broadly, this book is about the Arabian desert as the locus of exploration by a long tradition of British travellers that includes T. E. Lawrence and Wilfred Thesiger; more specifically, it is about those who since 1950 have followed in their literary footsteps. In analysing modern works covering a land greater than the sum of its geographical parts, the discussion identifies outmoded tropes that continue to impinge upon the perception of the Middle East today while recognising that the laboured binaries of East and West, desert and sown, noble and savage have outrun their course. Where, however, only a barren legacy of latent Orientalism may have been expected, the author finds instead a rich seam of writing that exhibits diversity of purpose and insight contributing to contemporary discussions on travel and tourism intercultural representation and environmental awareness By addressing a lack of scholarly attention towards recent additions to the genre this study illustrates for the benefit of students of travel literature or indeed anyone interested in Arabia how desert writing under the emerging configurations of globalisation postcolonialism and ecocriticism acts as a microcosm of the kinds of ethical and emotional dilemmas confronting today's travel writers in the world's most extreme regions

Rouman Anthology: ... being a collection of the National Ballads of Moldavia and Wallachia, and of some of the works of the modern Poets, in their original language; with an appendix, containing translations of some of the poems, notes, etc. By the Hon. Henry Stanley Henry Edward John STANLEY (3rd Baron Stanley of Alderley.), 1856

Life at Sea Monique Layton, 2017 In Life at Sea anthropologist Monique Layton draws on her experiences on modern cruise ships to examine the evolution of sailing from the Age of Exploration to the Age of Tourism Using historical records and the reports of people who once went to sea through necessity curiosity or adventure she shows the common events that have shaped their voyages and the ingenuity courage and determination that characterize mankind's connection with the all surrounding sea The book's topics range from the dependence on the wind and manpower through the invention of devices to determine location at sea to modern maritime technology from the devastation of scurvy and starvation on early ships of exploration and trade to the luxuries of omnipresent food on board medical treatment and professional entertainment available on behemoth cruise ships The book also delves into the deeper meaning of seafarers' rituals and their harsh lives with severe discipline and few rewards These aspects along with the horrors of the slave trade and naval warfare the harrowing crossings of emigrants and convicts the ambiguities of piracy and economics of global trade all show the contradictory elements that have consistently shaped travel by sea
