Offending Women Female Lawbreakers And The Criminal Justice System :

Offending Women Anne Worrall,2002-09-11 Offending Women provides an interesting and useful theoretical analysis of the discourse surrounding women s deviancy

Black Women's Experiences of Criminal Justice Ruth

Chigwada-Bailey,2003 A personal discourse on the multiple disadvantages of people who are black women and from the margins of society

Women Prisoners and Health Justice Diane C. Hatton,Anastasia A. Fisher,2009 Incarceration severely affects the health and wellbeing of women both during their incarceration and following release further complicating the health disparities they already experience as a consequence of gender race and social class The scope of this international problem remains largely hidden from health professionals and policy makers This book brings the issues into the light with contributions from leading advocates criminologists feminists nurses physicians public health professionals social workers sociologists and former prisoners

Women's Imprisonment and the Case for Abolition Linda Moore,Phil Scraton,Azrini

Wahidin,2017-11-20 In 2007 the Corston Report recommended a far reaching radical women centred approach to women s imprisonment in England and Wales It suggested a fundamental re thinking about how services to support women in conflict with the law are delivered in custody and in the community recommending the development and implementation of a decarceration strategy This argued for appropriate treatment programmes in the community reserving prison for only those women who commit serious and violent offences Ten years on what progress has been made What is the relationship between Corston s vision and a more radical abolitionist agenda Drawing on a range of international scholarship this book contributes to the critical discourse on the penal system human rights and social injustice revealing the consequences of imprisonment on the lives of women and their families A decade on from Corston s publication it critically reviews her report revealing the slow progress in meeting the reforms it proposed Identifying the significant barriers to change it questions the failure to reverse the unrelenting growth of the women s prison population or to transform state responses to women s offending Reflecting the global expansion of women s imprisonment particularly marked in advanced democratic societies the chapters include comparative contributions from jurisdictions where Corston s recommendations have relevance It concludes with a critical appraisal of reformism and the case for penal abolition Essential for applied and theory courses on prisons punishment and penology social justice and the criminology of human rights gender and crime and feminist criminology

Criminology Chris Hale,Keith Hayward,Azrini Wahidin,Emma Wincup,2013-06-13 Criminology is a broad ranging and stimulating introduction that is ideal for undergraduates approaching the subject for the first time Each chapter is written by an expert in their field and includes a range of learning features designed to help students engage with the material covered

Gender and punishment in Ireland Lynsey Black,2022-04-19 Gender and punishment in Ireland explores women s lethal violence in Ireland Drawing on comprehensive archival research including government documents press reporting the remnants of public opinion and the voices of the women themselves the book contributes to the burgeoning literature on gender and punishment and women who kill Engaging with concepts such as double deviance chivalry paternalism and coercive confinement the work explores the penal landscape for offending women in postcolonial Ireland examining in particular the role of the Catholic Church in responses to female deviance The book is an extensive interdisciplinary treatment of women who kill in Ireland and will be useful to scholars of gender criminology and history

Feminist Theories of Crime Merry Morash, 2017-07-05 This collection re imagines the field of criminology with insights gleaned from feminist theory Works included here illustrate that gender is a key organizing principle of social life This means that men and women have gender that patriarchy as well as gender must be theorized and that other systems of oppression such as race and class must also be studied to fully understand the crime problem and the criminal justice system Finally the articles collected here exemplify the feminist concern for thinking consciously about how and why we do our research with the crucial goal of producing knowledge that will promote social justice

International Handbook of Love Claude-Hélène Mayer, Elisabeth Vanderheiden, 2021-05-04 This handbook is the winner of the William B Gudykunst Award for Outstanding Book in 2023 given by the International Academy of Intercultural Research This handbook includes state of the art research on love in classical modern and postmodern perspectives It expands on previous literature and explores topics around love from new cultural intercultural and transcultural approaches and across disciplines It provides insights into various love concepts like romantic love agape and eros in their cultural embeddedness and their changes and developments in specific cultural contexts It also includes discussions on postmodern aspects with regard to love and love relationships such as digitalisation globalisation and the fourth industrial revolution The handbook covers a vast range of topics in relation to love aging health special needs sexual preferences spiritual practice subcultures family and other relationships and so on The chapters look at love not only in terms of the universal concept and in private intimate relationships but apply a broad concept of love which can also for example be referred to in postmodern workplaces This volume is of interest to a wide readership including researchers practitioners and students of the social sciences humanities and behavioural sciences In the 1970s through the 90s I was told that globalization was homogenizing cultures into a worldwide monoculture This volume as risky and profound as the many adventures of love across our multiplying cultures are proves otherwise The authors revolutionary and courageous work will challenge our sensibilities and expand the boundaries of what we understand what love is But that s what love does It communicates what is offers what can be and pleads for what must be I know you ll enjoy this wonderful book as much as I do Jeffrey Ady Associate Professor retired Public Administration Program University of Hawaii at Manoa Founding Fellow International Academy for Intercultural Research The International Handbook of Love is far more than a traditional compendium It is a breath taking attempt to synthesize our anthropological and sociological knowledge on love It illuminates topics as diverse as Chinese love one night stands teen romance or love of leaders and many more This is a definitive reference in the field of love studies Eva Illouz author of The End of Love A sociology of Negative relationships Oxford University Press This is not a volume to be read in a single sitting though I almost did due to a protracted hospital stay nor is it romantic or inspirational reading though in some cases I had hoped for more narrative examples and case studies Rather it is a highly diverse scholarly effort a massive resource collection of research papers on love in a variety of contexts personal and professional settings and cultures The work is well referenced providing a large number of resources for deeper exploration We owe our thanks to the authors and editors of this handbook for work well done though that word in the title should not lead readers to suspect that enlightening as it is this book is a vade mecum or practical tour guide that provides ready solutions to the vicissitudes and challenges of our love lives Reviewed by Dr George F Simons on amazon com Please see Claude H l ne Mayer s interview related to the handbook in LeanHealth Talks published by Bernadette Bruckner <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VNXA9sWuWo> Please see Claude H l ne Mayer s interview related to the handbook published In Iran News Daily <https://newspaper.irandaily.ir/nid/6941/pid/6/type/0> The SAGE Dictionary of Criminology Eugene McLaughlin, John Muncie, 2005-11-15 If the First Edition was an invaluable guide for students the Second is well nigh indispensable I can think of no better starting point for those wanting a quick fix on any given criminological topic Professor Tony Jefferson Keele University Since its initial publication in 2001 I ve steadfastly kept The SAGE Dictionary of Criminology within easy reach of my desk referring to it countless times in writing articles books and lectures I ve found it to be a remarkable book a comprehensive dictionary certainly but as much so a significant achievement in intellectual inquiry It may seem odd to say of a dictionary but it really is one of my favourite books the only book that can replace it on my deskside bookshelf is this Second Edition whose new entries confirm the editors grasp of contemporary criminology in all its excitement and complexity Professor Jeff Ferrell Texas Christian University The welcome inclusion of entries on contemporary theoretical and policy concerns ranging from Anti Social Behaviour Eco crime and Emotions through Forensic Anthropology Globalisation Governance and Mentoring to Sex Crime Virtual Criminology and What Works adds to the well established strengths of the first edition The entries all written by established scholars provide a clear concise and critical introduction to criminological concepts and constitute an invaluable resource for all criminology students and academics Professor Hazel Croall Glasgow Caledonian University It is unusual for a dictionary to be interesting but this one manages to be both compelling and useful for faculty and students across a range of disciplines and orientations who are commonly interested in criminology The SAGE Dictionary of Criminology is also distinctive in providing a literally encyclopaedic compendium of information that has been carefully placed in social cultural and political contexts Professor Lynn Chancer Hunter College City University of New York The list of new entries is quite impressive Once you ve read them you start to wonder how come that the First Edition of The SAGE Dictionary of Criminology already felt so complete Dr Ren van Swaaningen Erasmus University Rotterdam Thoughtful evaluations of the key concepts criminologists must think about by quality contributors who include many of the world s leading criminologists Professor John Braithwaite Australian

Convict Voices Anne Schwan, 2014-12-02 In this lively study of the development and transformation of voices of female offenders in nineteenth century England Anne Schwan analyzes a range of colorful sources including crime broadsides reform literature prisoners own writings about imprisonment and courtroom politics and conventional literary texts such as Adam Bede and The Moonstone Not only does Schwan demonstrate strategies for interpreting ambivalent and often contradictory texts she also provides a carefully historicized approach to the work of feminist recovery Crossing class lines genre boundaries and gender roles in the effort to trace prisoners authors and female communities imagined or real Schwan brings new insight to what it means to locate feminist or protofeminist details arguments and politics In this case she tracks the emergence of a contested and often contradictory feminist consciousness through the prism of nineteenth century penal debates The historical discussion is framed by reflections on contemporary debates about prisoner perspectives to illuminate continuities and differences Convict Voices offers a sophisticated approach to interpretive questions of gender genre and discourse in the representation of female convicts and their voices and viewpoints Exercising Discretion Loraine

Gelsthorpe,Nicola Padfield,2012-12-06 The exercise of discretion in the criminal justice system and related agencies often plays a key part in decisions which are made but definitions of discretion are not clear and despite widespread recognition of its importance there is much controversy on its nature and legitimacy This book seeks to explore the importance of discretion to an understanding of the nature of the making of justice in theory and practice taking as its starting point the wide discretionary powers wielded by many of the key players in the criminal justice and related systems It focuses on the core elements and contexts of discretion looking at the power ability authority and duties of individuals officials and organisations to decide select or interpret vague standards requirements or statutory uncertainties Women Who Offend Gill

McIvor,2004-01-12 Presenting research that will underpin effective practice with women who offend this unique and thought provoking text aims to help professionals meet the needs of this group as well as providing a theoretical resource for policy makers and academics Honouring Social Justice Margaret E. Beare,2008-01-01 These essays provide an illuminating introduction to the background of important social causes and describe dedicated examples of how to effectively champion calls for social justice Critical Perspectives in Forensic Care Tom Mason,Dave Mercer,1997-11-28 A full and challenging examination of the practice and contextual issues relating to nursing in secure units whether within special hospitals the prison service or more general hospitals Historical and philosophical issues are explored then more practical aspects are discussed Gender, Geography, and Punishment Judith Pallot,Laura Piacentini,Dominique

Moran,2012-10-04 This book is the first of its kind that brings together human geography and the sociology of punishment to explore the relationship between distance and the punishment in contemporary Russia Using established penological and geographical theories the book presents in depth empirical research to show how the experiences of women prisoners are shaped by the distances that the Russian penal service sends prisoners to serve their sentences Its most eye catching feature is its use of interviews conducted by the authors and their research team with adult and juvenile women prisoners ex prisoners and prison officers in penal facilities in different regions of the Russian Federation between 2006 and 2010 It includes discussion of the impact of Russia s distinctive penal geography on prisoners family relationships how women prisoners sense of place and gender identities are shaped and re shaped on their journey from pre trial facility to correction colony to release and the social hierarchies relationships and practices that characterise Russia s penal institutions for women The authors are both experienced researchers in Russia The book brings together their complementary disciplinary expertise in the development of the concept of coerced mobilization to explore Russia's punishment culture. The book argues that Russia's inherited geography of penalty combined with traditional ideas about women's role that shape the penal service's management of women prisoners add to their pains of imprisonment. Crucially, the authors show how these factors are constraining the Russian penal service's ability to implement successive reforms aimed at humanizing Russia's notoriously tough prisons. Russian imprisonment as it relates to women is, they believe, an area of significant concern for lawmakers in that country as well as to human rights campaigners, geographers interested in space and power, and scholars studying the post-Soviet system.

Working with Offenders Gill McIvor, 1996. Contributors to this book review developments in social work practice, locating them in the context of changes in UK penal policy. David Smith examines the relationship between policy and practice in the Probation Service, illustrating how policy has often been preceded by practice initiatives from within the Service. George Mair argues that the past 10 years have been a period of unprecedented change, characterised by greater accountability and central control. Gill McIvor describes developments within social work departments in Scotland, particularly the introduction of full central government funding of statutory social work services and the development of associated national objectives and standards. Breidge Gadd describes the Northern Ireland Probation Board as characterized by its commitment to a range of community supervision programmes, by its customer-oriented service delivery, and by its links between probation officers and their communities. Anne Worrals reports on gender stereotyping of women by the courts: women are more likely to be referred for reports and more likely to be placed on probation. Duncan Lawrence illustrates how white probation officers' explanations of offending by black clients frequently differ from those offered by the clients themselves, and discusses how appropriate groupwork provision for black and other minority clients can be developed. Bryan Williams and Anne Creamer describe the increased use of prediction tools, despite the fact that aggregate measures are inaccurate in predicting individual behaviour. Mary Baker discusses the development of social work services for sex offenders and concludes that cognitive behavioural methods are more successful. George Mair describes and discusses the development of the intensive probation movements in England and the United States, and drawing on Home Office evaluations of UK projects, concludes that intensive probation has been generally successful. Hine and Thomas examine the extent to which Community Service orders have met the diverse aims proposed for them. Tony Martin reviews the development of reparation and mediation programs in various parts of the world and comments on the difficulties involved in evaluating them. Brian Williams looks at the growth of social work services in prisons, particularly anger management and sex offender programs, and comments on the uncertainty of future prison-based probation work. In the last chapter, Peter Raynor argues for the development of evaluative research methodologies which focus on the process of intervention and which draw upon a range of outcome measures.

Sex and Gender Alice Sullivan, Selina Todd, 2023-08-25. Sex and Gender: A Contemporary Reader is a much needed exploration of the relationship between sex, gender, and gender identity. Its multidisciplinary approach provides fascinating perspectives from the sciences social sciences and humanities as well as biology neuroscience medicine law sociology and English literature The 15 chapters are original contributions authored by scholars who are leaders in their respective fields This thought provoking collection offers significant methodological theoretical and empirical insights into one of the most fraught debates in contemporary politics and academia It provides a broad ranging introduction to the issues central to questions about how and why sex matters from a range of disciplinary perspectives drawing out the social political and legal implications Questions addressed include Is sex binary What is a woman Why do we need data on sex Also discussed are topics widely debated today such as sports feminism sex and inequality sex based rights puberty suppression criminal justice and gender dysphoria Sex and Gender A Contemporary Reader is a timely introduction to contemporary debates on sex and gender It is an accessible text for both general readers and for students of gender issues across a wide range of disciplines including sociology education history philosophy and gender studies

Delivering Rehabilitation Lol Burke, Steve Collett, 2014-12-05 Do offenders have the right to be rehabilitated and should the state be responsible for their rehabilitation Should the public expect punitive and coercive approaches to offender rehabilitation Why should the state be interested in the reform of individuals and how can helping offenders be justified when there are other disadvantaged groups in society who are unable to access the services they desperately need Finally why does the state appear to target and criminalise certain groups and individuals and not others These are just some of the questions asked in this new text which offers an analysis of the delivery of rehabilitative services to offenders over the past two decades It focuses particularly on the ideological and political imperatives of a neoliberal state that intends to segment the work of the Probation Service and hand over the majority of its work to the private sector Issues covered include governance politics and performance of probation occupational culture and professional identity markets profit and delivery partnership localism and civil society citizenship exclusion and the State This book is aimed at academics practitioners managers and leaders within the field of corrections and wider social policy It will also appeal to undergraduates and postgraduates specialising in criminal justice criminology politics and social policy
