Safety Curtain:

The Safety Curtain and Other Stories Ethel M. Dell, 2020-07-29 Reproduction of the original The Safety Curtain and Other Stories by Ethel M Dell Asbestos and Fire Rachel Maines, 2013-08-30 For much of the industrial era asbestos was a widely acclaimed benchmark material During its heyday it was manufactured into nearly three thousand different products most of which protected life and property from heat flame and electricity It was used in virtually every industry from hotel keeping to military technology to chemical manufacturing and was integral to building construction from shacks to skyscrapers in every community across the United States Beginning in the mid 1960s however this once popular mineral began a rapid fall from grace as growing attention to the serious health risks associated with it began to overshadow the protections and benefits it provided In this thought provoking and controversial book Rachel Maines challenges the recent vilification of asbestos by providing a historical perspective on Americans changing perceptions about risk She suggests that the very success of asbestos and other fire prevention technologies in containing deadly blazes has led to a sort of historical amnesia about the very risks they were supposed to reduce Asbestos and Fire is not only the most thoroughly researched and balanced look at the history of asbestos it is also an important contribution to a larger debate that considers how the risks of technological solutions should be evaluated As technology offers us ever increasing opportunities to protect and prevent Maines urges that learning to accept and effectively address the unintended consequences of technological innovations is a growing part of our collective responsibility Specifications and Drawings of Patents Issued from the United States Patent Office United States. Consuming Stories Rebecca Peabody,2021-02-23 In Consuming Stories Rebecca Peabody uses the work of contemporary American artist Kara Walker to investigate a range of popular storytelling traditions with roots in the nineteenth century and ramifications in the present Focusing on a few key pieces that range from a wall size installation to a reworked photocopy in an artist s book and from a theater curtain to a monumental sculpture Peabody explores a significant yet neglected aspect of Walker s production her commitment to examining narrative depictions of race gender power and desire Consuming Stories considers Walker s sustained visual engagement with literary genres such as the romance novel the neo slave narrative and the fairy tale and with internationally known stories including Roots, Beloved and Uncle Tom's Cabin. Walker's interruption of these familiar works along with her generative use of the familiar in unexpected and destabilizing ways reveals the extent to which genre based narrative conventions depend on specific representations of race especially when aligned with power and desire. Breaking these implicit rules makes them visible and in turn highlights viewers reliance on them for narrative legibility. As this study reveals Walker's engagement with narrative continues beyond her early silhouette work as she moves into media such as film, video and sculpture. Peabody also shows how Walker uses her tools and strategies to unsettle cultural histories abroad when she works outside the United States. These stories Peabody reminds us not only change the way people remember history but also shape the entertainment industry. Ultimately Consuming Stories shifts the critical conversation away from the visual legacy of historical racism toward the present day role of the entertainment industry and its consumers in processes of racialization.
