overlapping timeline of historical and fictional events in Tan's work a glossary of foreign terms found in her writing and a list of related writing and research topics An extensive bibliography and a comprehensive index accompany the text When East Meets West Fran Blumberg, 2008-12-18 The impetus for this book was a series of guest lectures for the Issues in Applied Cognition Institute sponsored by Fordham University's Graduate School of Education May 26-27 2005 and convened at Fordham University in New York City and May 30-June 7 2005 at The Beijing Center for Language and Culture in Beijing The book that has since emerged is designed to serve as a reference that brings together theoretical perspectives research findings and cultural practice in the examination of media from a primarily Sino-American vantage point as commented upon by Chinese U.S. and U.K. researchers and practitioners The need for such a reference is prompted by China's status as a nascent superpower and the ramifications of that emerging status for collaborative ventures and exchange of information with the U.S. Clearly one flourishing context in which this sharing will occur is media The goal of this volume is to provide the basis for consideration of the theoretical and practical issues that both China and the United States media will encounter as they move toward greater economic and political interdependence This discussion is approached through the lens of media practice research and education and includes the voices of media market researchers journalists and editors developers of children's educational programs and academicians Collectively the chapters offer a select set of snapshots of how media in China and the U.S. look at one point in time This moment is one that includes China preparing for the Beijing 2008 Olympics and the U.S. grappling with its involvement in an unpopular war However these images may capture what has been referred to in photojournalism as a decisive moment in the fledgling media interdependency between the U.S. and China East-West Identities Kwok B. Chan, Jan W. Walls, David Hayward, 2007 While the economic forces shaping globalization are powerful and seemingly getting stronger they are not immutable nor are their effects predictable or necessarily overwhelming Contributors to this book are optimistic that the socio-cultural formations of the future such as cultural hybridity and cosmopolitanism will be a viable option for constructing new or renewed global communities of migrants around the world It is with these tools that migrants are best equipped to navigate the raging torrents of globalization in the new millennium of a post-postmodern era Globalization brings with it a fear a sense of loss and demise It also brings with it a new sense of opportunity and hope It is in this spirit that this book should be read Calling All Cats! Joanne O'Sullivan, 2008 Presents hundreds of clever cat names to please even the fussiest pussycat Plus there are amusing drawings on every page as well as informative tips such as how to train a cat to actually come when he's called Happy Holidays--Animated! William D.
