Shortland Street Barbara Cairns, Helen Martin, 1996 Envisioning Media Power Brett Christophers, 2009-04-16

Envisioning Media Power develops an original geographical perspective on the nature and exercise of power in the international television economy. It uses theories of political economy as the basis for a comparative empirical examination of the UK and New Zealand television markets while closely considering these markets' respective relationships with the US market and its globally influential media corporations. In fleshing out this geographical perspective, the book critically addresses the power to produce, reproduce and extract profit from territorialized media markets. To understand such powers, the book examines processes of creation and dissemination of industry knowledge, structures of industry governance and the locational characteristics of television's operational economy. Through its rigorous and creative combination of conceptual insights with empirical substance, Envisioning Media Power both illuminates the fabric of television's international space economy and ultimately offers a unique theoretic argument suggesting that power, knowledge and geography are inseparable, not only from one another but from the process of accumulation of media capital.

New Zealand Filmmakers Ian Conrich, Stuart Murray, 2007. The most thorough study on the filmmakers who have defined New Zealand cinema from its origins to its current successes.

Television Studies: The Basics Toby Miller, 2009-12-04. Television Studies: The Basics is a lively introduction to the study of a powerful medium. It examines the major theories and debates surrounding production and reception over the years and considers both the role and future of television. Topics covered include broadcasting history and technology, institutions and ownership, genre and content, audiences. Complete with global case studies, questions for discussion and suggestions for further reading, this is an invaluable and engaging resource for those interested in how to study television.

Media International Australia, 1997 Hands On - All Media Producing Marcus Gillezeau, Evelyn Saunders, 2013-11-21. Hands On All Media Producing is a follow-up to AACTA and Emmy award-winning filmmaker Marcus Gillezeau's 2004 book Hands On. A practical guide to production and technology in film, TV and new Media, Hands On All Media Producing is a compendium of tips, advice and experiences for producers and filmmakers and aims to provide some key answers to the most pressing question facing screen practitioners today: How do I produce for multiple platforms? All Media projects represent the future of the screen industry. The entire cultural and entertainment business landscape is changing in response to the growing integration of story content and brand across media platforms. Combined with the role consumers are playing in shaping how they want to be entertained, it is at once a daunting yet exciting space to be working in. Based on the experiences of filmmaker Marcus Gillezeau and case studies of recent projects by the world's best All Media producers, this entirely accessible guide aims to help screen practitioners, producers, directors and writers plan, finance and produce their next project as an All Media production. This eBook is being provided free of charge to the industry due to the assistance of Screen Australia and Screen NSW.
