

The Lion And The Mouse

A lion was once sleeping in his den when a mouse started running up and down his body just for fun. This woke up the lion and he was quite angry. He was about to eat the mouse when the mouse pleaded with the lion to set him free. "I promise you, I will be of great help to you someday if you spare me." The lion laughed at the mouse's confidence and let him go.

One day, a few hunters came into the forest and trapped the lion in a net.. They tied him up against a tree. The lion started to roar and struggled to free himself. Soon, the mouse walked past and noticed the lion in trouble. He ran and called his friends for help. Together they gnawed on the ropes to set the lion free. They ran off into the jungle and remain friends thereafter.

Moral: A small act of kindness can go a long way.

Brand New Edition This volume does not aim to contain all the best American humorous short stories there are many other stories equally as good I suppose in much the same vein scattered through the range of American literature I have tried to keep a certain unity of aim and impression in selecting these stories In the first place I determined that the pieces of brief fiction which I included must first of all be not merely good stories but good short stories I put myself in the position of one who was about to select the best short stories in the whole range of American literature but who just before he started to do this was notified that he must refrain from selecting any of the best American short stories that did not contain the element of humor to a marked degree But I have kept in mind the wide boundaries of the term humor and also the fact that the humorous standard should be kept second although a close second to the short story standard
