Shut Out Low Income Mothers And Higher Education In Post Welfare America:

Shut Out Valerie Polakow, Sandra S. Butler, Luisa Stormer Deprez, Peggy Kahn, 2012-02-01 Shut Out portrays in vivid detail the economic educational and existential struggles that single mothers confront as they fight back against a welfare to work regime that denies them access to higher education and obstructs their aspirations as autonomous women determined to exit poverty and attain family self sufficiency The book is a unique blend of policy analysis and lived realities The voices of student mothers fighting to stay in school and organizing for a different future are embedded in an analysis grounded in the educational experiences of women in poverty across the states Harsh and punitive public policies that are designed to keep poor women trapped in low wage work are juxtaposed against the actions of those who together with their allies have resisted inspired by a vision of a different world made possible by higher education Contributing authors discuss the provisions of the 1996 welfare reform PRWORA Act and the myriad of statewide responses to educational options within the framework of national legislation In documenting the multiple obstacles and policy restrictions that low income women face the book also highlights successful state programs institutional practices and community based programs that afford low income women educational opportunities The afterword summarizes recent legislative developments and makes policy and advocacy recommendations for the future

Amartya Sen's Capability Approach and Social Justice in Education Melanie Walker, Elaine Unterhalter, 2007-07-09 This compelling book introduces Nobel laureate Amartya Sen's capability approach and explores its significance for theory policy and practice in education The book looks particularly at questions concerning the education of children gender equality and higher education Contributors hail from the UK USA Australia Italy and Mexico

Mothers Who Deliver Jocelyn Fenton Stitt, Pegeen Reichert Powell, 2012-02-01 Mothers Who Deliver Feminist Interventions in Public and Interpersonal Discourse brings together essays that focus on mothering as an intelligent practice deliberately reinvented and rearticulated by mothers themselves The contributors to this watershed volume focus on subjects ranging from mothers in children's picture books and mothers writing blogs to global maternal activism and mothers raising gay sons Distinguishing itself from much writing about motherhood today Mothers Who Deliver focuses on forward looking arguments and new forms of knowledge about the practice of mothering instead of remaining solely within the realm of critique Together the essays create a compelling argument about the possibilities of empowered mothering

Mothering by Degrees Jillian M. Duquaine-Watson, 2017-05-31 In Mothering by Degrees I show how single mothers who pursue college degrees in early 21st century America must navigate a difficult course as they attempt to reconcile their identities as single mothers college students and in many cases employees As they combine these multiple and often competing roles and responsibilities they must also negotiate a balance between cultural ideals of motherhood and their own definitions of what it means to be a good mother particularly as those ideals and definitions are shaped within context of post welfare reform America and the post secondary institutions they attend By comparing the experiences of nearly 100 single mother college students attending three postsecondary education institutions in the United States I illustrate how these women navigate the various obstacles they encounter especially obstacles related to financial concerns child care time constraints and the chilly climate of higher education In addition I demonstrate that the women regard postsecondary education not only as a means of escaping poverty but also as an extension of their mothering work something they do to help ensure the long term health and well being of their children Thus this project provides a situated comparative account of the experiences of single mothers who are college students in order to foster a better understanding of the complex ideologies and social structures that influence the life choices and education experiences of members of this important but understudied student population Finally the project discusses policies and programs that can help provide better support to single mother and may diminish the challenges they face as they endeavor to complete their education

Sole Parent Students and Higher Education Genine A. Hook, 2016-05-25 This book examines how sole parents are constituted within university contexts through social discourse and social policies The gendered assumptions of female parental care work are analysed as both constraining and enabling sole parent participation in higher education Social welfare policies and the policies of university institutions are also considered as central to the experiences of sole parents who study at universities This book explores the sense of belonging and engagement for sole parents in higher education with a view to challenging how universities engage with under represented and diverse students Equitable access to higher education is important as a potentially transformative personal and social good and this book contributes new thinking to understanding why a university education remains elusive for many students

Widening Participation in Higher Education T. Hinton-Smith, 2012-10-30 This collection offers an authoritative up to date commentary on the challenges facing higher education today across both the UK and internationally The book charts the impact of global economic trends and recent policy developments for students academics providers and changing course provision

Child Poverty in America Today Barbara A. Arrighi, David J. Maume, 2007-05-30 In a 2004 study by the Annie E Casey Ford and Rockefeller Foundations it was reported that a large number of American families are currently faring poorly in their struggle to provide for themselves Low income and poor families were found to contain one third of all of the children in American working families Low wage jobs without benefits mean that families at or below the poverty line live a precarious existence This four volume set is designed to reveal explicate analyze and assess the effects of an inadequate income on children Each volume contains original essays written by an interdisciplinary roster of contributors The first volume Children and the State addresses policy and legislation that affect low income families One issue that is considered in this volume is the lack of a national housing policy in the United States The second volume Health and Medical Issues includes discussions on the status of Medicaid the lack of mental health services available for low income families and the difficult to access healthcare for the rural poor Volume three Families and Children explores the effects of welfare reform especially the issue of childcare and the increased work expectations of parents Other compelling topics in this volume include low income families and the Family and Medical Leave Act poor children and the internet and the increase in economic insecurity among low income families who increasingly live on credit In the final volume The Promise of Education universal pre kindergarten Head Start and the education of immigrant children are all explored African American Females Eboni M. Zamani-Gallaher, Vernon C. Polite, 2013-07-01 African American Females Addressing Challenges and Nurturing the Future illustrates that across education health and other areas of social life opportunities are stratified along gender as well as race lines The unequal distribution of wealth power and privilege between men and women intersects with race and class to create multiple levels of disadvantage This book is one result of a unique forum intended to bring into focus the K 12 and postsecondary schooling issues and challenges affecting African American girls and women Focusing on the historical antecedents of African American female participation and the contemporary context of access and opportunity for black girls and women the contributors to this collection pay particular attention to the interaction of gender with race ethnicity class age and health with the central aim of encouraging thoughtful reading critical thinking and informed conversations about the necessity of exploring the lives of African American females Additionally the book frames important implications for recommended changes in policy and practice regarding a number of critical matters presently affecting African American females in schools and communities across the state of Michigan and nationwide Understanding the Working College Student Laura W. Perna, 2023-07-14 How appropriate for today and for the future are the policies and practices of higher education that largely assume a norm of traditional age students with minimal on campus or no work commitments Despite the fact that work is a fundamental part of life for nearly half of all undergraduate students with a substantial number of traditional dependent undergraduates in employment and working independent undergraduates averaging 34 5 hours per week little attention has been given to how working influences the integration and engagement experiences of students who work especially those who work full time or how the benefits and costs of working differ between traditional age students and adult students The high and increasing prevalence and intensity of working among both dependent and independent students raises a number of important questions for public policymakers college administrators faculty academic advisors student services and financial aid staff and institutional and educational researchers including Why do so many college students work so many hours What are the characteristics of undergraduates who work What are the implications of working for students educational experiences and outcomes And how can public and institutional policymakers promote the educational success of undergraduate students who work This book offers the most complete and comprehensive conceptualization of the working college student available It provides a multi faceted picture of the characteristics experiences and challenges of working college students and a more complete understanding of the heterogeneity underlying the label undergraduates who work and the implications of working for undergraduate students educational experiences and outcomes The volume stresses the importance of recognizing the value and contribution of adult learners to higher education and takes issue with the appropriateness of the term non traditional itself both because of the prevalence of this group and because it allows higher education institutions to avoid considering changes that will meet the needs of this population including changes in course offerings course scheduling financial aid and pedagogy     Reformed American Dreams Sheila M. Katz,2019-07-12 Reformed American Dreams explores the experiences of low income single mothers who pursued higher education while on welfare after the 1996 welfare reforms This research occurred in an area where grassroots activism by and for mothers on welfare in higher education was directly able to affect the implementation of public policy Half of the participants in Sheila M Katz s research were activists with the grassroots welfare rights organization LIFETIME trying to change welfare policy and to advocate for better access to higher education Reformed American Dreams takes up their struggle to raise families attend school and become student activists all while trying to escape poverty Katz highlights mothers experiences as they pursued higher education on welfare and became grassroots activists during the Great Recession     Invisible Children in the Society and Its Schools Sue Books,2015-04-24 The authors in this book use the metaphors of invisibility and visibility to explore the social and school lives of many children and young people in North America whose complexity strengths and vulnerabilities are largely unseen in the society and its schools These invisible children are socially devalued in the sense that alleviating the difficult conditions of their lives is not a priority children who are subjected to derogatory stereotypes who are educationally neglected in schools that respond inadequately if at all to their needs and who receive relatively little attention from scholars in the field of education or writers in the popular press The chapter authors some of the most passionate and insightful scholars in the field of education today detail oversights and assaults visible and invisible but also affirm the capacity of many of these young people to survive flourish and often educate others despite the painful and even desperate circumstances of their lives By sharing their voices providing basic information about them and offering thoughtful analysis of their social situation this volume combines education and advocacy in an accessible volume responsive to some of the most pressing issues of our time Although their research methodologies differ all of the contributors aim to get the facts straight and to set them in a meaningful context New in the Third Edition Chapters retained from the previous edition have been thoroughly revised and updated and five totally new chapters have been added on the topics of young people pushed into the school to prison pipeline the environmental landscape of two out of school Mexican migrant teens in the rural Midwest the perceptions and practices in and outside schools that construct African American boys as school failures negative portrayals of blackness in the context of understanding the collateral damage of continued white privilege and working class pregnant and parenting teens efforts to create positive identities for themselves Of interest to a broad range of researchers students and practitioners across the field of education this compelling book is accessible to all readers It is particularly appropriate as a text for courses that address the social context of education cultural and political change and public policy including social foundations of education sociology of education multicultural education curriculum studies and educational policy      The Development of Early Childhood Education in Europe and North America Harry Willekens, Kirsten Scheiwe, Kristen

Nawrotzki, 2015-07-06 The public provision of early childhood education has developed at different rates across individual countries over the past two centuries This book provides the historical background to explain how these national differences occurred with particular reference to welfare and educational systems to highlight how particular influences grew

Experiences of Single-Mother Doctoral Students as They Navigate Between the Educational System, Societal Expectations, and Parenting Their Children: A Phenomenological Approach Meshkin B. AmiriRad, 2016-11-28 Among many factors perhaps their confidence was shaped by cultural mantras in the United States which proclaim that this is a country of opportunity where it is possible to pursue one's dreams and reach the top of one's potential as one of the participants indicated Of relevance there are a multitude of good reasons for women to leave abusive relationships in order to reach their full potential and this was what many single mother doctoral students have had to do On one hand societal expectations are on their side encouraging them to leave the relationship On the other hand when they do leave they often experience a crippling lack of cultural societal and programmatic support When they left these relationships and decided to pursue their doctorates while being single parents to their children they were often marginalized by their universities doctoral programs and faculty by peers and by what should have been their support systems      Marginalized Mothers, Mothering from the Margins Tiffany Taylor, Katrina Bloch, 2018-10-08 This volume examines the barriers and borders that marginalize mothers and their efforts to be good mothers and how they mother as a form of resistance to these barriers and borders

Contemporary Perspectives on Early Childhood Education Nicola Yelland, 2010-03-16 This book considers and interrogates a range of new and critical issues in contemporary early childhood education It discusses both fundamental and emerging topics in the field and presents them in the context of reflective and contemporary frameworks Bringing together leading experts whose work is at the cutting edge of contemporary early childhood education theory and research across the world this book considers the care and education of young children from a global perspective and deals with issues and groups of children or families that are often marginalized The contributing authors challenge traditional views and maintain that new ways of thinking and doing are required in these new times The chapters in this book highlight some of the most important issues as catalysts for discussion and critique Central to the discussions is the notion that these are complex issues that warrant debate and that there are often no simple solutions to them These theoretical perspectives are situated in practice with the use of engaging case studies This edited collection is essential reading for anyone studying or working in early childhood education Contributors Marina Umaschi Bers Erica Burman Judith Duncan Anne Haas Dyson Karen Gallas Rachael Holmes Elizabeth Jones Michelle Leiminer Hillevi Lenz Taguchi Maggie MacLure Christina MacRae Joanna McPake Veronica Pacini Ketchabaw Alan Pence Helen Penn Lydia Plowman Valerie Polakow Christine Stephen Gail Yuen

Strategies for Improving Economic Mobility of Workers Maude Toussaint-Comeau, Bruce D. Meyer, 2009 The chapters in this book aim at offering a fresh review of the economic circumstances of disadvantaged segments of our Population as well as providing a provocative but nuanced assessment of the effectiveness of various policies and practices geared to redress a number of issues affecting them Examples of programs discussed include housing allowances that address the spatial mismatch between poor inner city neighborhoods and areas with job growth education retention programs and financial aid for older low income students employment and training programs for former welfare recipients and labor market reentry programs for the hard to employ ex offenders in distressed communities This diversity of programs reflects the variety of challenges and varying issues that vulnerable populations and communities confront it also reflects the many creative ways of approaching these problems

Living on the Edge in Suburbia Terese Lawinski, 2010-07-09 A vivid ethnography of how welfare reform and the low wage labor market converge to intensify the insecurity of poor families in Westchester County

Twenty-first Century Motherhood Andrea O'Reilly, 2010-09-23 A pioneer of modern motherhood studies Andrea O'Reilly explores motherhood's current representation and practice considering developments that were unimaginable decades ago the Internet interracial surrogacy raising transchildren male mothering intensive mothering queer parenting the applications of new biotechnologies and mothering in the post 9/11 era Her work pulls together a range of disciplines and themes in motherhood studies She confronts the effects of globalization HIV/AIDS welfare reform politicians as mothers third wave feminism and the evolving motherhood movement and she incorporates Chicana African American Canadian Muslim queer low income trans and lesbian perspectives

Who Cares for our Children? Valerie Polakow, 2007 Valerie Polakow spent a year traveling around the country listening to low income women from diverse backgrounds tell their stories of struggle resilience distress and occasional success as they encountered ongoing child care crises The resulting work is both a compelling account of the lived realities of the child care crisis and an incisive critique of public policy that points to the United States as an outlier in the international community Drawing on historical and international perspectives Polakow creates a groundbreaking analysis of child care as a human right persuasively arguing for a universal child care system Who Cares for Our Children is one of the most disturbing books I have read in a long time It should have a major impact on debates over poverty and social policy From the Foreword by Barbara Ehrenreich author of Nickel and Dimed In this beautifully written and provocative volume Polakow deftly steps aside and lets real mothers struggling against the odds to keep their families safe and sound speak for themselves about what they need This book delivers a timely message Child care should be viewed as a human right Martha F Davis Northeastern University School of Law A collection of moving and often chilling personal narratives Who Cares for Our Children is a powerful and well documented analysis of the worlds of low income families Beth Blue Swadener Arizona State University Thoroughly researched and grounded in a heartfelt sympathy for the struggles of families that face such painful choices and dilemmas in meeting the needs of their children

James Garbarino Loyola University Chicago      Reworking Vocational Education Anja Heikkinen, Katrin Kraus, 2009 A new political order is transforming the nature of work in advanced industrialised countries What does this mean for the nexus of education and work How does it affect the idea of vocation the reality of lifelong learning the concept of employability and the future of vocational education and training This volume analyses the foundations of this transformation featuring globalisation and individualisation It offers an analysis of the shifting terrain of governance and policy and their impact on the field of vocational education With contributions from scholars located in Europe as well as in Australia and the USA it provides an understanding of a number of important educational policy topics including changing social and cultural conditions of labour migration an aging populace and the spread of cross national discourses Additional chapters tackle the concepts of employability gender earning and lifelong learning and examine their relation to policies practices theory and research in vocational education
