Abstract: Writing skill is an essential skill which includes all knowledge and abilities to express one's ideas through the written word. However, English writing has always been a challenge to master by the students, especially students in junior high schools. The main objective of this research is focused on finding out student's difficulties in acquiring writing English. This study used case study with descriptive qualitative research. About 26 students are as the participants of the research. The data gained through document analysis, questioners and interview. The result indicates students had a significant problem in writing English. The findings revealed that the most significant problems are because of their lack of vocabulary mastery and language used. They assumed that they had limited knowledge in constructing sentence grammatically and also their lack of vocabulary mastery made them felt confused in choosing the word. Besides, they also were not interested in English.

I. INTRODUCTION

There are four competencies in studying English they are: listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Writing is one in every language studying competency that is very beneficial for those who learn English specifically for students. According to Harmer (2007), writing (as one of the four skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing) has always formed part of the syllabus in the teaching of English.

It has been realized that writing is one in all English skills that has to be perfect by a people language learner. Writing is additionally thought of because the indicator toward the students' success in learning English and their future skilled careers. Kingston, et.al, (2002) state that student's achievement in learning English is barely measured by the productive skills, particularly the writing performance. Moreover, recently people like the written sort of communication in accessing info to the oral communication. To support the concept of the importance of writing performance, Abbas (2007) states that one of the characteristics of the twenty first century is that English has modified its idea in term of the language use; the speech communication that is extremely dominant are going to be followed by the additional dominant of the written language. Thus, the target of a people teaching and learning should be emphasized at serving to the students to be able to communicate each in spoken and written forms.

Referring to standard of Competency and Basic Competence of curriculum 2013, the purpose of writing for the Junior High School is to encourage the students to write some kinds of texts in the form of functional texts (greeting cards, announcements, notice, and label), transactional (to get things done), interpersonal conversation (socialization) in text, and monolog texts (descriptive, recount, procedure, narrative, and report). These texts have their own characteristics, such as social function, generic schematic structures, lexical items, and grammatical features.

Based on standard of Competency and Basic Competence of curriculum 2013, the objectives of teaching writing of the ninth grade are to make students are able to create short functional texts and simple monolog texts are procedure, narrative and report text. The students should understand the social function (purpose), generic structure, and language features of the texts. Therefore, every student should be able to write. But in fact, the limitation of vocabulary and lack ability in writing their ideas with the use of correct grammar and punctuation makes troublesome for the students to put in writing and to translate each word and sentence. They find it difficult to use correct grammar, vocabulary, and punctuation to structure English sentences into a readable and acceptable text. The students seemed to be reluctant in
