Sight Unseen Whiteness And American Visual Culture:

Sight Unseen Martin A. Berger, 2005-11-03 A compelling and challenging work Frances K Pohl author of Framing America Berger is unafraid to tackle the major issues and this book shows it Bruce Robertson author of Marsden Hartley and Reckoning with Winslow Homer Berger writing on topics as diverse as landscape photography and early film pushes into fascinating issues of gender race and class with sensitivity insight and largely jargon free analysis Having made a mark as a key Eakins scholar he promises to achieve a similar feat in Sight Unseen getting us to rethink traditional material in a new light John Wilmerding Christopher Binyon Sarofim Professor of American Art Princeton University Visual Culture Alexis L. Boylan, 2020-08-11 As if John Berger's Ways of Seeing was re written for the 21st century Alexis L Boylan crafts a guide for navigating the complexities of visual culture in this concise introduction The visual surrounds us some of it invited most of it not In this visual environment everything we see art color the moon a skyscraper a stop sign a political poster rising sea levels a photograph of Kim Kardashian West somehow becomes legible normalized accessible How does this happen How do we live and move in our visual environments This volume offers a guide for navigating the complexities of visual culture outlining strategies for thinking about what it means to look and see and what is at stake in doing so The Handbook of Visual Culture Ian Heywood, Barry Sandywell, 2017-04-20 Visual culture has become one of the most dynamic fields of scholarship a reflection of how the study of human culture increasingly requires distinctively visual ways of thinking and methods of analysis Bringing together leading international scholars to assess all aspects of visual culture the Handbook aims to provide a comprehensive and authoritative overview of the subject The Handbook embraces the extraordinary range of disciplines which now engage in the study of the visual film and photography television fashion visual arts digital media geography philosophy architecture material culture sociology cultural studies and art history Throughout the Handbook is responsive to the cross disciplinary nature of many of the key questions raised in visual culture around digitization globalization cyberculture surveillance spectacle and the role of art The Handbook guides readers new to the area as well as experienced researchers into the topics issues and questions that have emerged in the study of visual culture since the start of the new millennium conveying the boldness excitement and vitality of the subject Imag(in)ing Jesus in the Universal or Particular Victoria Olaide Omotoso, 2025-09-04 This volume is a critical exploration of cross cultural Bible film reception presented through an analysis of the responses of UK and South African audiences to The Lumo Project The Gospel of Mark 2014 and Son of Man 2006 Victoria Olaide Omotoso places emphasis on audience reception and highlighting the non Western experience of biblical films by examining the responses of audiences from different cultural contexts to identical media with a cross cultural audience discourse facilitated by cultural dynamics fidelity to the biblical text ethnicity music and gender By examining historic and cinematic debates audience responses and filmmaker responses Omotoso explores the ethnicity of Jesus theological contexts and implications and the presentation of Jesus in an androcentric world Omotoso adopts the concepts of universality and particularity as frameworks to determine the ways through which the filmmakers attempt to identify their cinematic visions and locations She defines universality as a phenomenon through which the filmmaker seeks to place the narrative within a trans cultural frame for a global audience in contrast her definition of particularity is envisioning a unitary and specific cultural context for the narrative By exploring fidelity to the text the ethnic identity of Jesus musical contexts masculinity and female agency the universal and particular are shown as complex contested and shifting concepts within the process of cross cultural audience reception which frequently destabilizes the intentions of the filmmakers

Building Character Charles L. Davis II, 2019-09-06 In the nineteenth century paradigm of architectural organicism the notion that buildings possessed character provided architects with a lens for relating the buildings they designed to the populations they served Advances in scientific race theory enabled designers to think of race and style as manifestations of natural law just as biological processes seemed to inherently regulate the racial characters that made humans a perfect fit for their geographical contexts architectural characters became a rational product of design Parallels between racial and architectural characters provided a rationalist model of design that fashioned some of the most influential national building styles of the past from the pioneering concepts of French structural rationalism and German tectonic theory to the nationalist associations of the Chicago Style the Prairie Style and the International Style In Building Character Charles Davis traces the racial charge of the architectural writings of five modern theorists Eugene Emmanuel Viollet le Duc Gottfried Semper Louis Sullivan Frank Lloyd Wright and William Lescaze to highlight the social political and historical significance of the spatial structural and ornamental elements of modern architectural styles

Making Race Jacqueline Francis, 2012-01-15 Malvin Gray Johnson Yasuo Kuniyoshi and Max Weber were three New York City artists whose work was popularly assigned to the category of racial art in the interwar years of the twentieth century The term was widely used by critics and the public at the time and was an unexamined unquestioned category for the work of non whites such as Johnson an African American non Westerners such as Kuniyoshi a Japanese born American and ethnicized non Christians such as Weber a Russian born Jewish American The discourse on racial art is a troubling chapter in the history of early American modernism that has not until now been sufficiently documented Jacqueline Francis juxtaposes the work of these three artists in order to consider their understanding of the category and their stylistic responses to the expectations created by it in the process revealing much about the nature of modernist art practices Most American audiences in the interwar period disapproved of figural abstraction and held modernist painting in contempt yet the critics who first expressed appreciation for Johnson Kuniyoshi and Weber praised their bright palettes and energetic pictures and expected to find the residue of the minority artist's heritage in the work itself Francis explores the flowering of racial art rhetoric in criticism and history published in the 1920s and 1930s and analyzes its underlying presence in contemporary discussions of artists of color Making Race is a history of a past phenomenon which has ramifications for the present

Sacrificing Soldiers on the National Mall Kristin Ann

Hass,2013-03-22 For the city's first two hundred years the story told at Washington DC's symbolic center the National Mall was about triumphant American leaders Since 1982 when the Vietnam Veterans Memorial was dedicated the narrative has shifted to emphasize the memory of American wars In the last thirty years five significant war memorials have been built on or very nearly on the Mall The Vietnam Veterans Memorial the Korean War Veterans Memorial the Women in Military Service for America Memorial The National Japanese American Memorial to Patriotism During WWII and the National World War II Memorial have not only transformed the physical space of the Mall but have also dramatically rewritten ideas about U S nationalism expressed there In Sacrificing Soldiers on the National Mall Kristin Ann Hass examines this war memorial boom the debates about war and race and gender and patriotism that shaped the memorials and the new narratives about the nature of American citizenship that they spawned Sacrificing Soldiers on the National Mall explores the meanings we have made in exchange for the lives of our soldiers and asks if we have made good on our enormous responsibility to them

Painting the Inhabited Landscape Margaretta M. Lovell, 2023-03-27

The impulse in much nineteenth century American painting and culture was to describe nature as a wilderness on which the young nation might freely inscribe its future the United States as a virgin land that is unploughed unfenced and unpainted Insofar as it exhibited evidence of a past its traces pointed to a geologic or cosmic past not a human one The work of the New England artist Fitz H Lane however was decidedly different In this important study Margaretta Markle Lovell singles out the more modestly scaled explicitly inhabited landscapes of Fitz H Lane and investigates the patrons who supported his career with an eye to understanding how New Englanders thought about their land their economy their history and their links with widely disparate global communities Lane s works depict nature as productive and allied in partnership with humans to create a sustainable balanced political economy What emerges from this close look at Lane s New England is a picture not of a virgin wilderness but of a land deeply resonant with its former uses and a human history that incorporates rather than excludes Native Americans as shapers of land and as agents in that history Calling attention to unexplored dimensions of nineteenth century painting Painting the Inhabited Landscape is a major intervention in the scholarship on American art of the period examining how that body of work commented on American culture and informs our understanding of canon formation

The Black Skyscraper Adrienne Brown, 2017-11-15 How did writers and artists view the intersection of architecture and race in the modernist era Winner of the MSA First Book Prize of the Modernist Studies Association With the development of the first skyscrapers in the 1880s urban built environments could expand vertically as well as horizontally Tall buildings emerged in growing cities to house and manage the large and racially diverse populations of migrants and immigrants flocking to their centers following Reconstruction Beginning with Chicago s early 10 story towers and concluding with the 1931 erection of the 102 story Empire State Building Adrienne Brown s The Black Skyscraper provides a detailed account of how scale and proximity shape our understanding of race Over the next half century as city skylines grew American writers imagined the new urban backdrop as an obstacle to racial differentiation Examining works produced by writers painters architects and laborers who grappled with the early skyscraper s outsized and disorienting dimensions Brown explores this architecture s effects on how race was seen read and sensed at the turn of the twentieth century In lesser known works of apocalyptic science fiction light romance and Jazz Age melodrama as well as in more canonical works by W E B Du Bois F Scott Fitzgerald Aaron Douglas and Nella Larsen the skyscraper mediates the process of seeing and being seen as a racialized subject From its distancing apex reducing bodies to specks to the shadowy mega blocks it formed at street level the skyscraper called attention Brown argues to the malleable nature of perception A highly interdisciplinary work The Black Skyscraper reclaims the influence of race on modern architectural design as well as the less well understood effects these designs had on the experience and perception of race

Wild West Civil War submarines Vikings the Titanic and others      Craft in Art Therapy Lauren Leone, 2020-07-27 Craft in Art Therapy is the first book dedicated to illustrating the incorporation of craft materials and methods into art therapy theory and practice. Contributing authors provide examples of how they have used a range of crafts including pottery glass work textiles sewing knitting crochet embroidery and quilting paper artist books altered books book binding origami and zines leatherwork and Indian crafts like mendhi and kolam rangoli in their own art and self care and in individual group and community art therapy practice. The book explores the therapeutic benefits of a range of craft materials and media as well as craft's potential to build community to support individuals in caring for themselves and each other and to play a valuable role in art therapy practice. Craft in Art Therapy demonstrates that when practiced in a culturally sensitive and socially conscious manner craft practices are more than therapeutic they also hold transformational potential      Race and Modern Architecture Irene Cheng, Charles L. Davis II, Mabel O. Wilson, 2020-05-26 Although race a concept of human difference that establishes hierarchies of power and domination has played a critical role in the development of modern architectural discourse and practice since the Enlightenment its influence on the discipline remains largely underexplored. This volume offers a welcome and long awaited intervention for the field by shining a spotlight on constructions of race and their impact on architecture and theory in Europe and North America and across various global contexts since the eighteenth century. Challenging us to write race back into architectural history contributors confront how racial thinking has intimately shaped some of the key concepts of modern architecture and culture over time including freedom revolution character national and indigenous style progress hybridity climate representation and radicalism. By analyzing how architecture has intersected with histories of slavery colonialism and inequality from eighteenth century neoclassical governmental buildings to present day housing projects for immigrants Race and Modern Architecture challenges complicates and revises the standard association of modern architecture with a universal project of emancipation and progress      Picturing Indians Steven D. Hoelscher, 2008 Having built his reputation on his photographs of the Dells steep gorges and fantastic rock formations H. H. Bennett turned his camera upon the Ho Chunk and thus began the many layered relationship. The interactions between Indian and white man photographer and photographed suggested a relationship in which commercial motives and friendly feelings mixed though not necessarily in equal measure      From Black to Schwarz Maria Diedrich, Jürgen Heinrichs, 2011 From Black to Schwarz explores the long and varied history of the exchanges between African America and Germany with a particular focus on cultural interplay. Covering a wide range of media of expression music performance film scholarship literature visual arts reviews the essays collected in this volume trace and analyze a cultural interaction collaboration and mutual transformation that began in the eighteenth century literally boomed during the Harlem Renaissance. Weimar Republic could not even be liquidated by the Third Reich's Degenerate Art campaigns and with new media available to further exchanges is still increasingly empowering and inspiring participants on both sides of the Atlantic      Frederic

Church Jennifer Raab, 2015-01-01 A reconsideration of Church's works offering a sustained examination of the aesthetics of detail that fundamentally shaped 19th century American landscape painting      Indecent Exposures Sarah Gordon, 2015-10-27 Photographer Eadweard Muybridge 1830-1904 often termed the father of the motion picture presented his iconic Animal Locomotion series in 1887 Produced under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania and encompassing thousands of photographs of humans and animals in motion the series included more than 300 plates of nude men and women engaged in activities such as swinging a baseball bat playing leapfrog and performing housework an astonishing fact given the period's standards of propriety In the first sustained examination of these nudes and the remarkable success of their production wide circulation and reception Indecent Exposures positions this revolutionary enterprise as central to crucial advancements of the modern era Muybridge's nudes ushered in new attitudes toward science and progress including Darwinian ideas about human evolution and hierarchy quickened debates over the role of photography and scientific investigation in art and offered innovative perspectives on the human body This fascinating story is copiously illustrated and includes many lesser known photographs published here for the first time
