Sight, Sound, and Sense Thomas Albert Sebeok, 1995      Full-Sense Focus T.S Avini, 2025-08-01 Dive into the transformative world of Full Sense Focus and discover how harnessing your senses can revolutionize your meditation practice This comprehensive guide explores the intricate relationship between meditation and the senses offering insights and techniques to deepen your awareness and enrich your life Discover practical exercises to integrate your senses sight sound taste smell and touch into your meditation practice Learn to create a sensory friendly meditation space that enhances your focus and mindfulness Embark on a journey to explore the often overlooked aspects of meditation such as interoception and intuition and understand their role in achieving a balanced and fulfilling practice This book also provides real world applications and stories of transformation demonstrating the profound impact of sensory mindfulness Uncover the scientific principles behind sensory meditation and learn how to overcome challenges with step by step guided practices Whether you are new to meditation or seeking to deepen your practice Full Sense Focus offers valuable tools and insights to help you cultivate a lifetime of sensory awareness Begin your journey toward greater mindfulness today      A Sense of Place Annie Davy, 2019-02-07 Tried and tested accessible strategies that support the wellbeing and learning journey of children through mindfulness with a focus on learning outdoors and connecting with the world Being outside and connecting with nature is key to young children's learning and wellbeing especially in a busy fast changing and digitalised world Outdoors children can more easily connect to their bodies and learn about themselves and others and how to be in the world They use their senses to explore understand and become mindful of the earth and the people around them But how can Early Years practitioners best support young children as they engage with nature while also passing on the values about the future of the planet A Sense of Place is an easily accessible guide that will make outdoor learning more interesting and fun while also supporting children's development of resilience and resourcefulness so that they can survive and thrive in the world as they grow      To Make a New Race Jon Woodson, 1999-05 Jean Toomer's adamant stance against racism and his call for a raceless society were far more complex than the average reader of works from the Harlem Renaissance might believe In To Make a New Race Jon Woodson explores the intense influence of Greek born mystic G I Gurdjieff on the thinking of Toomer and his coterie Zora Neale Hurston Nella Larsen George Schuyler Wallace Thurman and through them the mystic's influence on many of the notables in African American literature Gurdjieff born of poor Greco Armenian parents on the Russo Turkish frontier espoused the theory that man is asleep and in prison unless he strains against the major burdens of life especially those of identification like race Toomer whose novel Cane became an inspiration to many later Harlem Renaissance writers traveled to France and labored at Gurdjieff's Institute for the Harmonious Development of Man Later the writer became one of the primary followers approved to teach Gurdjieff's philosophy in the United States Woodson's is the first study of Gurdjieff Toomer and the Harlem Renaissance to look beyond contemporary portrayals of the mystic in order to judge his influence Scouring correspondence manuscripts and published texts Woodson finds the direct links in which Gurdjieff through Toomer played a major role in the development of objective literature He discovers both coded and explicit ways in which Gurdjieff's philosophy shaped the world views of writers well into the 1960s Moreover Woodson reinforces the extensive contribution Toomer and other African American writers with all their international influences made to the American cultural scene Jon Woodson an associate professor of English at Howard University in Washington D C is a contributor to the collection Black American Poets Between Worlds 1940-1960 He has published articles in African American Review and other journals

Sensory Tourism Ian S. Jenkins, Robert S. Bristow, 2024-11-13 Tourism offers countless global locations providing a multitude of sensory experiences These include commercialised tourism products such as saunas and floatation tanks through to natural phenomenon such as mountains and wilderness destinations Consequently sensory elements are a curious concept within tourism because every destination provides a sensory experience of one kind or another The first of its kind this book examines holidays and tourism through sensory perceptions which either encourage or deter consumers It studies sensoriscapes and how they effect and affect tourism at destinations and be linked with the development of tourist niches reflecting the segmenting of the mass market tourism into smaller segments Finally it reflects on how with increased urbanisation there a growing need is to find quiet spaces free from urban or anthropogenic noise such as silent retreats and dark sky meditation holidays Escape has always been one of the main components of tourism development together with attraction to spatial locations that match tourists needs It will be of interest to those studying tourism management as well as wider social science disciplines

Understanding and Teaching Reading Emerald Dechant, 2013-09-13 In the words of Aldous Huxley Every man who knows how to read has it in his power to magnify himself to multiply the ways in which he exists to make his life full significant and interesting Few people question the value of reading in fact most extol its virtues As our culture becomes more complex reading plays an increasingly greater role in satisfying personal needs and in promoting social awareness and growth In the last 20 years the teaching of this invaluable skill has focused so intensely on comprehension and prediction from context that it has lost sight of the significance of automaticity and fluency in the word identification process Reading is a synthesis of word recognition and comprehension thus this text is about these basic processes and their integration A common plea from teachers today is that research and psychology be translated into teaching behavior Therefore the aim of this book is twofold one to identify report organize and discuss those bits of data research and theory that are most relevant to the teacher's understanding of the reading process and two to help educators to interpret and apply theory and research data to everyday classroom teaching as well as to the problems encountered frequently in developmental and remedial teaching

As the Dust of the Earth Harriet Murav, 2024-04-02 An estimated forty thousand Jews were murdered during the Russian Civil War between 1918 and 1922 As the Dust of the Earth examines the Yiddish and Russian literary response to the violence pogroms and the relief effort exploring both the poetry of catastrophe and the documentation of catastrophe and care Brilliantly weaving together narrative fiction poetry memoirs newspaper articles and documentary Harriet Murav argues that poets and pogrom investigators were doing more than recording the facts of violence and expressing emotions in response to it They were interrogating what was taking place through a central concept familiar from their everyday lifeworld hefker or abandonment Hefker shaped the documentation of catastrophe by Jewish investigators at pogrom sites impossibly tasked with producing comprehensive reports of chaos Hefker also became a framework for Yiddish writers to think through such incomprehensible violence by creating new forms of poetry Focusing less on the perpetrators and more on the responses to the pogroms As the Dust of the Earth offers a fuller understanding of the seismic effects of such organized violence and a moving testimony to the resilience of survivors to process and cope with catastrophe
