International Law Concerning Child Civilians in Armed Conflict Jenny Kuper, 1997 Each year many thousands of child civilians are killed injured or otherwise physically and psychologically harmed as a result of armed conflicts There is a considerable body of international law which aims to minimise the harm inflicted on these children and yet it is little known or observed This book is the first major international legal text to focus exclusively on child civilians It addresses three main questions 1 what are the precise rules incorporated in the pertinent body of law and what are its implementation mechanisms 2 how effective is it with reference to recent conflicts involving Iraq in helping to achieve some protection for child civilians and 3 can it be rendered more effective The book concludes by proposing a number of strategies to strengthen the impact of the applicable law As the first detailed analysis of the surprisingly large body of law relevant to the treatment of child civilians this book is an important contribution to a topical and highly charged human rights issue

Self-Determination, Terrorism and the International Humanitarian Law of Armed Conflict Elizabeth Chadwick, 2023-08-28 A preliminary definition of international terrorism was agreed by the world community in 1937 Since then a World War and the Cold War have made any such modern consensus impossible In particular the UN principles of equal rights and self determination of Peoples have caused political and juridical confusion in that liberation fighters who utilize terror methods as one tactic in an overall political strategy to achieve self determination are frequently termed terrorists and are prosecuted as such In order to regulate wars of self determination under international law and to control the means and methods of warfare utilized in them international humanitarian law IHL was extended in 1977 to include armed conflicts for the right to self determination as enshrined in the Declaration on Principles of International Law concerning Friendly Relations and Co operation among States in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations Thus acts of terrorism perpetrated during armed struggles for self determination are separable from random acts of international violence and when perpetrated by states or insurgent forces during wars of self determination may be prosecuted under IHL as war crimes However although states are obliged to seek out and prosecute the perpetrators of illicit acts of warfare they rarely do so Dr Chadwick argues that should IHL be fully utilized during wars of self determination if only for purposes of guidance the separability of illicit acts of war would enable the international community to reach consensus more easily in regard to a definition of terrorism in general and a coordination of efforts to deter its occurrence
