Breaking the Barriers Beatriz Chu Clewell, Bernice Taylor Anderson, Margaret E. Thorpe, 1992-11-05 The current global marketplace demands more workers who are scientifically literate yet few are being adequately prepared to meet that demand Particularly underrepresented are women and minorities who often lack the social and academic support that stimulate and sustain interest in science math and engineering The authors of this book demonstrate that early intervention especially during grades 4 through 8 can help overcome some of these obstacles They show how increased career awareness and exposure to mentors and role models can help students see science and math related careers as desirable and viable options And they explain how test preparation activity based instruction cooperative learning and tutoring can help to improve academic outcomes The authors also provide critical information on ten successful intervention programs including MESA Project SEED and Operation SMART and they offer practitioners specific guidance for developing funding and implementing similar programs in their own schools Normal Instructor and Primary Plans ,1926 Bulletin ,1974
