Making a Difference in Patients' Lives Sandra Buechler, 2008-04-24 Winner of the 2009 Gradiva Award for Outstanding Psychoanalytic Publication Within the title of her book Making a Difference in Patients' Lives Sandra Buechler echoes the hope of all clinicians But she counters experience soon convinces most of us that insight on its own is often not powerful enough to have a significant impact on how a life is actually lived Many clinicians and therapists have turned toward emotional experience within and outside the treatment setting as a resource How can the immense power of lived emotional experience be harnessed in the service of helping patients live richer more satisfying lives Most patients come into treatment because they are too anxious or depressed or don't seem to feel alive enough Something is wrong with what they feel or don't feel Given that the emotions operate as a system with the intensity of each affecting the level of all the others it makes sense that it would be an emotional experience that would have enough power to change what we feel But ironically the wider culture and even psychoanalysts seem to favor solutions that aim to mute emotionality rather than relying on one emotion to modify another We turn to pharmaceutical cognitive or behavioral change to make a difference in how life feels Because we are afraid of emotional intensity we cut off our most powerful source of regulation In clear jargon free prose that utilizes both clinical vignettes and excerpts from poetry art and literature Buechler explores how the power to feel can become the power to change Through an active empathic engagement with the patient and an awareness of the healing potential inherent in each of our fundamental emotions the clinician can make a substantial difference in the patient s capacity to embrace life Making a Difference Through Marketing Carolin Plewa,Jodie Conduit,2016-05-04 This book
