Making Markets:

Making Markets Mitchel Y. Abolafia, 2001-10-30 In the wake of million dollar scandals brought about by Michael Milken Ivan Boesky and their like Wall Street seems like the province of rampant individualism operating at the outermost extremes of self interest and greed But this Mitchel Abolafia suggests would be a case of missing the real culture of the Street for the characters who dominate the financial news Making Markets an ethnography of Wall Street culture offers a more complex picture of how the market and its denizens work Not merely masses of individuals striving independently markets appear here as socially constructed institutions in which the behavior of traders is suspended in a web of customs norms and structures of control Within these structures we see the actions that led to the Drexel Burnham and Salomon Brothers debacles not as bizarre aberrations but as mere exaggerations of behavior accepted on the Street Abolafia looks at three subcultures that coexist in the world of Wall Street the stock bond and futures markets Through interviews anecdotes and the author's skillful analysis we see how traders and New York Stock Exchange specialists negotiate the perpetual tension between short term self interest and long term self restraint that marks their respective communities and how the temptation toward excess spurs market activity We also see the complex relationships among those market communities why for instance NYSE specialists resent the freedoms permitted over the counter bond traders and futures traders Making Markets shows us that what propels Wall Street is not a fundamental human drive or instinct but strategies enacted in the context of social relationships cultural idioms and institutions a cycle that moves between phases of unbridled self interest and collective self restraint

Making Markets and Making Money Bernard Beaudreau, 2004-08 First studied by Swiss economist Jean Charles L onard Sismonde de Sismondi in 1819 Making Markets and Making Money Strategy and Monetary Exchange examines the strategic aspects of monetary exchange specifically of making markets Economist Bernard C Beaudreau author of Mass Production the Stock Market Crash and The Great Depression The Macroeconomics of Electrification examines the strategic aspects of making markets using basic game theory Drawing from the archaeological and historical records Beaudreau documents the prevalence of coordination failures in trade in general and monetary exchange in particular He argues convincingly that the ability to execute trades make markets has been is and will continue to be a more important economic problem than scarcity itself

Making Markets in the Welfare State Jane R. Gingrich, 2011-06-23 Over the past three decades market reforms have transformed public services such as education health and care of the elderly Whereas previous studies present markets as having similar and largely non political effects this book shows that political parties structure markets in diverse ways to achieve distinct political aims Left wing attempts to sustain the legitimacy of the welfare state are compared with right wing wishes to limit the state and empower the private sector Examining a broad range of countries time periods and policy areas Jane R Gingrich helps readers make sense of the complexity of market reforms in the industrialized world The use of innovative multi case studies and in depth interviews with senior European policymakers enriches the debate and brings clarity to this multifaceted topic Scholars and students working on the policymaking process in this central area will be interested in this new conceptualization of market reform

Making Markets Work for Africa Eleanor M. Fox, Mor Bakhoun, 2019 This is a book on market law and policy in sub Saharan Africa It shows how markets can be harnessed by poorer and developing economies to help make the markets work for them to help them integrate into the world economy and raise the standard of living for their people while preserving their values of inclusive development It studies particular countries and particular regions delving deeply into the facts

Making Markets More Inclusive K. McKague, M. Siddiquee, 2014-07-24 Most studies of doing business at the bottom of the economic pyramid focus on viewing the poor as consumers as micro entrepreneurs or as potential employees of local companies Almost no analysis focuses on the poor as primary producers of agricultural commodities a striking omission given that primary producers are by far the largest segment of the working age population in developing economies Making Markets More Inclusive bridges the management literature with original research on agricultural value chains in developing and emerging economies This exciting work is the first to delve into the skills capabilities strategies and approaches needed for inclusive value chain development McKague shows how NGOs and companies can connect poor producers in developing economies with the right markets to better create social and economic impact He also analyzes one of the leading agricultural value chain initiatives in the world which is being replicated by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation in several different value chains in Malawi Tanzania Ghana India and Mali Want more Check out these compelling videos which provide a glimpse into the stories and examples used throughout the book Video Trailer for Making Markets More Inclusive Farmer Training Kallani Rani increased the productivity of her cows become a cattle feed seller in her village Chapter 6 and opened a fresh milk canteen in her local market Chapter 7 She now trains other women farmers and works to improve opportunities for women in her community Chapter 5 Animal Health Care Services Asma Husna trained to be an animal health worker with CARE to provide important animal health services and education to local farmers on a fee for service basis Chapter 6 Cattle Feed Shops Fulera Akter started a business as a cattle feed seller after demand for nutritional animal feed grew due to farmers improved knowledge of nutrition Chapter 6 Savings Groups Coauthor Muhammad Siddiquee the Coordinator of Agriculture and Value Chain Programs at CARE Bangladesh discusses the value of farmer savings groups Chapter 6 Milk Collection Sarothi Rani became a milk collector to earn an improved income for her family and provide an important service to other dairy farmers in her community Chapter 7 Digital Fat Testing Introducing digital fat testing machines into the dairy value chain helped reward farmers for making investments in producing higher quality milk as well as ensuring transparent and timely payments Chapter 7 Microfranchising Supporting agricultural input shop owners with training relationships to suppliers common branding and standardized customer services improves the productivity of smallholder farmers and the profitability of shops Chapter 12 Bangladesh Dairy Value Chain Learning Reflections from some of the 40 CARE staff from 17

countries who came to Bangladesh to learn from the experience of the dairy value chain project Chapter 15

Making Markets in Australian Agriculture Patrick O'Keeffe, 2019-01-21 This book provides a genealogical study of Australian agricultural restructuring focusing on the case study of wheat export market deregulation This policy shift was implemented in 2008 ending 60 years of statutory wheat marketing At the time policy makers claimed that market liberalisation would empower individual growers providing them with choice and freedom through uninhibited participation in markets However regional wheat markets have become concentrated and are increasingly controlled by a small number of transnational agribusiness firms which have been increasingly active in setting the policy agenda in Australian agriculture The book delves into the discursive construction of policy truths such as efficiency competition and the consumer to understand how this shift was made possible whose interests have been served and what the implications of this shift have been This book focuses on the machinations which contributed to this shift by examining the construction of knowledge values and identities which have helped to make the transition from the public to the private appear as a logical common sense solution to the challenges facing Australian agriculture The author shows how governmental technologies such as audit cost benefit analysis performance objectives and the consumer were used to make this reality operable In doing so he argues that this shift should be viewed as part of the broader restructuring of Australian society which has facilitated the transference of economic and policy making power from the public to the private

Making Markets Making Place Benjamin Coles, 2021-05-03 This book examines place and place making in London's Borough Market In particular it uses topography place writing to interrogate the ways in which Borough Market's material social sensual and discursive relations assemble to reproduce Borough Market as a place market and marketplace Its central premise is that market processes the negotiation and exchange of commodities are place processes This means that the often abstract relationships that ultimately define what we think of as the economy are embedded in the rich and every materiality sociality sensuality and meanings associated with place By tracing out these different elements topography illustrates the ways in which economic reproduction is grounded in particular and often discrete practices However by assembling them together this highlights the ways in which place and place making are the driving force behind the economy at large

The Making of the Populist Movement Adam Slez, 2020-08-19 When it comes to explaining the origins of electoral populism in the United States we often look to the characteristics and conditions of voters overlooking the reasons why populist candidates emerge in the first place In The Making of the Populist Movement Adam Slez argues that the rise of electoral populism in the American West was a strategic response to a political environment in which the configuration of positions was literally locked in place precluding the success of new contenders or otherwise marginal competitors Combining traditional forms of historical inquiry with innovations in network analysis and spatial statistics he shows how the expansion of state and market drove the push for market regulation in southern Dakota where an insurgent farmers movement looked to third party alternatives as a means of affecting change In the context of western settlement the struggle for political power was synonymous with the struggle for position in an emerging urban hierarchy As inequities in the spatial distribution of resources became more pronounced appeals to agrarian populism became a powerful political tool with which to wage partisan war Offering a fresh take on the origins of electoral populism in the United States The Making of the Populist Movement contributes to our understanding of political action by explicitly linking the evolution of the political field to the transformation of physical space through concerted action on the part of elites

Markets Patrik Aspers, 2013-05-08 Our lives have gradually become dominated by markets They are not only at the heart of capitalistic economies all over the world but also central in public debates This insightful book brings together existing knowledge on markets from sociology economics and anthropology and systematically investigates the different forms of markets we encounter daily in our social lives Aspers starts by defining what a market actually is analyzing its essential elements as well as its necessary preconditions and varied consequences An important theme in the book is that a whole host of markets are embedded within one other and in social life at large and Aspers discusses these in the context of other forms of economic coordination such as networks and organizations Combining theory with empirical examples the book cuts to the core of understanding how different markets function the role they have played in history and how they come into being This accessible and theoretically rich book will be essential reading for upper level students seeking to make sense of markets and their complex role in social life
