The Metronomic Society Michael Dunlop Young, 1988 The Rise of the Network Society Manuel Castells, 2011-08-24

This first book in Castells groundbreaking trilogy with a substantial new preface highlights the economic and social dynamics of the information age and shows how the network society has now fully risen on a global scale Groundbreaking volume on the impact of the age of information on all aspects of society Includes coverage of the influence of the internet and the net economy Describes the accelerating pace of innovation and social transformation Based on research in the USA Asia Latin America and Europe Experiencing New Worlds Jürg Wassmann, Katharina Stockhaus, 2007 The many different localities of the Pacific region have a long history of transformation under both pre and post colonial conditions More recently rates of local transformation have increased tremendously under post colonial regimes The forces of globalization which rapidly distribute commodities images and political and moral concepts across the region have presented Pacific populations with an unprecedented need and opportunity to fashion new and expanded understandings of their cultural and individual identities This volume the first in a new series examines the forces of globalization at different levels as they manifest themselves and operate across cultural cognitive and biographical dimensions of human life in the Pacific While posing familiar questions it offers new answers through the integration of cultural and psychological methods The contributors draw on practice theory cognitive science and the anthropology of space and place while exploring the key analytical rubrics of human agency memory and landscape Time Helga Nowotny, 2018-03-12 Helga Nowotny's exploration of the forms and meaning of time in contemporary life is panoramic without in any way partaking of the blandness of a survey From the artificial time of the scientific laboratory to the distinctively modern yearning for one's own time she regards every topic in this wide ranging book from a fresh angle of vision one which reveals unsuspected affinities between the bravest newest worlds of global technology and the most ancient worlds of myth Lorraine Daston University of Chicago This book represents a major contribution to the understanding of time giving particular attention to time in relation to modernity The development of industrialism the author points out was based upon a linear and abstract conception of time Today we see that form of production and the social institutions associated with it supplanted by flexible specialization and just in time production systems New information and communication technologies have made a fundamental impact here But what does all this mean for temporal regimes How can we understand the transformation of time and space involved in the bewildering variety of options on offer in a postmodern world The author provides an incisive analysis of the temporal implications of modern communication She considers the implications of worldwide simultaneous experience made possible by satellite technologies and considers the reorganization of time involved in the continuous technological innovation that marks our era In this puzzling universe of action how does one achieve a time of one's own The discovery of a specific time perspective centred in the individual she shows expresses a yearning for forms of experience that are subversive of established institutional patterns This brilliant study became a classic in Germany will be of interest to students and professionals working in the areas of social theory sociology politics and anthropology Time and Social Theory Barbara Adam,2013-03-01 Time is at the forefront of contemporary scholarly inquiry across the natural sciences and the humanities Yet the social sciences have remained substantially isolated from time related concerns This book argues that time should be a key part of social theory and focuses concern upon issues which have emerged as central to an understanding of today s social world Through her analysis of time Barbara Adam shows that our contemporary social theories are firmly embedded in Newtonian science and classical dualistic philosophy She exposes these classical frameworks of thought as inadequate to the task of conceptualizing our contemporary world of standardized time computers nuclear power and global telecommunications Real History Martin Bunzl,2005-06-20 Real History is a fascinating and essential read for all those interested in a reconciliation of the debates about the methodology and study of the philosophy of history Unhastening Science Dick Pels,2003-03-01 This book offers a new account of what makes science special among other human pursuits critically engaging with a variety of approaches especially constructivist and relativist studies of science and technology It focuses on the studied lack of haste of science its relative stress freeness and its socially sanctioned withdrawal from the swift pace of ordinary life Unhastening Science offers a balanced and thoughtful argument which emphasises the dangers of cossetting science from the scourge of internal competition while at the same time highlighting the need for distance between the process of scientific thought and the faster machinery of politics business sports and the media The Abstract Wild Jack Turner,2021-12-21 If anything is endangered in America it is our experience of wild nature gross contact There is knowledge only the wild can give us knowledge specific to it knowledge specific to the experience of it These are its gifts to us How wild is wilderness and how wild are our experiences in it asks Jack Turner in the pages of The Abstract Wild His answer not very wild National parks and even so called wilderness areas fall far short of offering the primal mystic connection possible in wild places And this is so Turner avows because any managed land never mind what it s called ceases to be wild Moreover what little wildness we have left is fast being destroyed by the very systems designed to preserve it Natural resource managers conservation biologists environmental economists park rangers zoo directors and environmental activists Turner s new book takes aim at these and all others who labor in the name of preservation He argues for a new conservation ethic that focuses less on preserving things and more on preserving process and leaving things be He takes off after zoos and wilderness tourism with a vengeance and he cautions us to resist language that calls a tree a resource and wilderness a management unit Eloquent and fast paced The Abstract Wild takes a long view to ask whether ecosystem management isn t a bit of a sham and the control of grizzlies and wolves at best a travesty Next the author might bring his readers up close for a look at pelicans mountain lions or Shamu the whale From whatever angle Turner stirs into his arguments the words of dozens of other American writers including Thoreau Hemingway Faulkner and environmentalist Doug Peacock We hunger for a kind of experience deep enough to change our selves our form of life writes Turner Readers who take his words to heart will find if not their selves their perspectives on the natural world recast in ways that are hard to ignore and harder to forget Breaking the Mold Lotte Bailyn,1993 Discusses the balance between career and private life and considers how organizations can respond to the needs of employees with family responsibilities Reason of Sociology Kauko Pietila,2011 Published in association with the ISA and part of the SAGE Studies in International Sociology series this is a passionate and stimulating exploration of how the work of Georg Simmel can help revitalise and focus the aims of sociology today Anthropology and the Riddle of the Sphinx Paul Spencer,2025-07-01 Originally published in 1990 Anthropology and the Riddle of the Sphinx Paradoxes of Change in the Life Course seeks to relate the problems of maturation and ageing to the life course as a whole As it is treated here the riddle posed by the sphinx asks What is it that changes as we age and is concerned with the enigmas of this total process Ultimately the ways in which we experience these problems stem from our view of ageing and the contradictions of society itself The essays in this volume consider aspects of this problem with reference to a variety of cultures The young the mature and the elderly have distinctive identities but they form a continuum whose profile is culturally constructed Anthropology and the Riddle of the Sphinx Paradoxes of Change in the Life Course is intended as a contribution to the growing literature on ageing deliberately broadening the topic in the search for a wider understanding This volume aims to stimulate interest in neglected aspects of the ageing process within social anthropology and to present an anthropological point of view to others who have an interest in problems associated with the life course It will be of particular value to the students of social anthropology and medical sociology It was originally published as part of the ASA Monographs series <https://www.routledge.com/ASA+Monographs/book/series/SE0127> Handbook of Equality of Opportunity ,2024-07-12 This Handbook provides an authoritative exposition of equality of opportunity It presents the different concepts most commonly associated with equality of opportunity and discusses the many problems dominating the controversies on equality of opportunity at the theoretical policy or practical level The chapters give a concise exposition of the different conceptions and basic concepts of equal opportunities They clarify variables that are part of the algorithm of equal opportunities e g opportunity equality non discrimination fairness responsibility chance and choice excellence qualifications effort talent merit desert inequality and risk The idea of equality of opportunity has traditionally been associated with a set of largely unquestioned ideals and over the last 50 years it has been at the very centre of the major progressive social changes and firmly entrenched in political rhetoric Yet the idea of equality of opportunity is far from unquestionable or unproblematic as the only solid assumption different conceptions have in common is their rejection of fixed social relations but not hierarchy itself Disagreements over the fundamental principles criticism over the inefficiency of policies aiming to ensure equal opportunities and objections to their unfairness all pose questions that current conceptions answer in different ways This Handbook examines a wide variety of questions about issues of motivation procedures genealogy taxonomy and compensation Learning, Curriculum and Life Politics Ivor Goodson, 2005 Having spent the last thirty years researching thinking and writing about some of the key issues in education Professor Ivor Goodson presents twenty of his most important writings in this single volume Making Time Richard Whipp, Barbara Adam, Ida Sabelis, 2002-07-04 Time is an essential feature of social and organizational life and part of the deep structure of business activity Plans performance productivity and pay are all linked to and often measured by time Yet time is often taken for granted in daily life and the business world The aim of this book is to bring time into sharper focus and in particular to look at the way time is constructed made managed and used in organizations The book both provides an overview of some of the key concepts in time time s arrow time s cycle clock time etc and it explores how particular features of the modern world global time futures etc extend and change the temporal dimension of organizational activity Making Time emphasizes the richness of the temporal relations within organizations and the wealth of competing attempts to order and control time in the act of managing It describes and explains this temporal complexity as it occurs in management giving full recognition to the way that people create their own sense of time alongside the official temporal apparatus of the clock and diary The contributors use a variety of management perspectives strategy organization theory decision making industrial relations and marketing and deliberately place the experience of more traditional industrial settings alongside those at the forefront of the new economy Making Time seeks to spark a debate across the field of management that does justice to the richness of the temporal features of contemporary organizations The book will be vital reading for those who want to understand the complexities of time in organizations and the modern world and the challenges it presents for the theoretical and practical spheres of management Cities, Railways, Modernities Carlos López Galviz, 2019-01-10 Cities Railways Modernities chronicles the transformation that London and Paris experienced during the nineteenth century through the lens of the London Underground and the Paris Métro By highlighting the multiple ways in which the future of the two cities was imagined and the role that railways played in that process it challenges and refines two of the most dominant myths of urban modernity A planned Paris and an unplanned London The book recovers a significant body of work around the ideas the plans the context and the building of metropolitan railways in the two cities to provide new insights into the relationship of transport technologies and urban change during the nineteenth century Trust and Honesty Tamar Frankel, 2008-08-14 America s culture is moving in a new and dangerous direction as it becomes more accepting and tolerant of dishonesty and financial abuse Tamar Frankel argues that this phenomenon is not new in fact it has a specific traceable past During the past thirty years temptations and opportunities to defraud have risen legal moral and theoretical barriers to abuse of trust have fallen She goes on to suggest that fraud and the abuse of trust could have a widespread impact on American economy and prosperity and argues that the way to counter this disturbing trend is to reverse the culture of business dishonesty Finally she presents the following thesis If Americans have had enough of financial abuse they can demand of their leaders of themselves and of each other more honesty and trust and less cynicism Americans can reject the actions attitudes theories and assumptions that brought us the corporate scandals of the 1990s Though American society can have bad apples and its constituents hold differing opinions about the precise meaning of trust and truth it can remain honest as long as it aspires to honesty

A Pluralist Theory of Age Discrimination Stuart Goosey, 2021-01-28 This book provides a comprehensive theory of age discrimination that can guide the direct and indirect age discrimination provisions of the Equality Act 2010 The Act holds that unequal treatment on the grounds of age and measures that are on their face age neutral but have the effect of disadvantaging particular age groups are lawful only if the treatment can be shown either to be a proportionate means of achieving a legitimate aim or if the treatment fits into a specifically prescribed exception In this way the proportionality test distinguishes justified and unjustified age differential treatment with only the former legally permissible This book outlines and defends a pluralist theory of age discrimination that assists in making the distinction between justified and unjustified age differential treatment The theory identifies the principles that explain when and why age differential treatment wrongs people and the principles that can justify this treatment It is a pluralist theory because it recognises that age differential treatment can wrong people for a number of different overlapping reasons and these different reasons should inform how we apply age discrimination law The pluralist approach to age discrimination theory can improve legal reasoning in age discrimination cases by articulating the relevant principles and competing interests that are at stake in age discrimination claims In constructing the theory the book adopts the reflective equilibrium method This requires that we examine our initial moral beliefs about age discrimination by seeking coherence with beliefs we have about similar moral and philosophical issues and revising the initial beliefs as a result of challenges to them In applying this method the book identifies the following five principles to form a pluralist theory of age discrimination equality of opportunity social equality respect autonomy and efficiency
