Metropolitan Community Amos Henry Hawley, Basil George Zimmer, 1970-02 The Metropolitan Community Cynthia Taines, 2025-06-30 In metropolitan areas across the United States city and suburban public school students receive grossly unequal funding Since funding is critical to student success this means the primarily Black Latinx and low income students attending city schools are being denied an equal education So entrenched is this system that it can feel normal or too big to undo Yet recent student activism in the form of an innovative cross community school partnership offers new hope The Metropolitan Community Partnering for Equality Across the Educational Divide tells the story of two Chicago area schools one suburban one urban whose students come together to examine the disparities between their schools and advocate for change It follows these students over a year as they meet tour each other s schools wrestle with how to discuss unfairness and ultimately commit to fighting together for a more equal education In depth interviews and detailed observations chronicle the students advocacy which unfolds in conversation with teachers and administrators and eventually brings them to the table with legislators from whom they demand better policies Through the examples set by students readers are invited to develop their own metro outlook to see how our seemingly separate worlds are connected by the educational system we hold in common and must work together to reshape The first book to depict sustained allyship between city and suburban students The Metropolitan Community offers an invigorating pedagogical approach organizational model and political strategy for achieving educational justice through youth led partnerships and collaboration Perfect for courses such as School and Society Curriculum and Instruction Diversity and Equity in Education Socio cultural Foundations Educational Policy Culturally Relevant Pedagogy Sociology of Education Urban Education Social Studies Methods Multicultural Education Anthropology of Education School Counseling School Psychology and School Social Work The Metropolitan Community Roderick Duncan McKenzie, 1953 Exploring the Metropolitan Community , Exploring the Metropolitan Community John Constantinus Bollens, 1964 Exploring the Metropolitan Community John C. Internal Revenue Service, 1989 Suburban Landscapes Paul H. Mattingly, 2003-04-01 Certificate of Commendation from the American Association for State and Local History Most Americans today live in the suburbs Yet suburban voices remain largely unheard in sociological and cultural studies of these same communities In Suburban Landscapes Culture and Politics in a New York Metropolitan Community Paul Mattingly provides a new model for understanding suburban development through his narrative history of Leonia New Jersey an early commuter suburb of New York City Although Leonia is a relatively small suburb a study of this kind has national significance because most of America

s suburbs began as rural communities with histories that predated the arrival of commuters and real estate developers Examining the dynamics of community cultural formation Mattingly contests the prevailing urban and suburban dichotomy In doing so he offers a respite from journalistic cliches and scholarly bias about the American suburb providing instead an insightful nuanced look at the integrative history of a region Mattingly examines Leonia s politics and culture through three eras of growth and change 1859 94 1894 1920 and 1920 60 A major part of Leonia s history Mattingly reveals was its role as an attractive community for artists and writers many contributors to national magazines who created a suburban aesthetic The work done by generations of Leonias artists provides an important vantage and a wonderful set of tools for exploring evolving notions of suburban culture and landscape which have broad implications and applications Oral histories census records and the extensive work of Leonia s many artists and writers come together to trace not only the community s socially diverse history but to show how residents viewed the growth and transformation of Leonia as well Federal Register

OECD Territorial Reviews: Brussels-Capital Region, Belgium OECD,2024-02-06 The OECD Territorial Review of the Brussels Capital Region Belgium provides an in depth assessment of the trends challenges and opportunities for sustainable and inclusive urban development in the region Public Participation and Innovations in Community Governance Peter McLaverty,2017-07-05 Comprised of a series of national case studies this book critically examines initiatives in public participation and their relationship to developments in community governance As such the case studies enable national perspectives to be applied to crucial features of modern public policy and politics Focusing on case studies in areas which are undergoing major social and institutional transformation and or which raise particular issues because of the marginal position of the areas within their nation states the book also concerns itself with developments in Western European countries and why people should logically support some but not other initiatives in public participation This book will be very useful for students and academics in areas such as politics public administration social policy and sociology It should also be of interest to local activists such as councillors members of pressure groups and those concerned about modern trends in democracy The Structure of the Metropolitan Community Donald J. Bogue,1948 Financial Assistance by Geographic Area ,1978 Good Times and Growing Pains Carroll Dale Short,Robert Hamburger,Lawrence Goodwyn,Steve Hofflus,Louie Crew,Malcolm Jones,David Bowman,Wendy Watriss,Jack Boozer,Steven Ward,Stephen March,Garland Strother,Manning Marable, This issue which marks the beginning of our fifth year combines a number of articles about the good times and growing pains of a South reaching national maturity It seems appropriate for us to answer at this time some of our readers questions about who we re and what Southern Exposure represents Early observers thought we d never make it this far with a regional journal so critical of the powers that be and so preoccupied with the lesser known people with the struggles and heritage of a culture considered bankrupt by sophisticated America But like the South we have attained a new stability partly from the spin off of the media search for Jimmy Carter s South they have yet to find it and partly from our appeal to the same hunger for connections to a past a place a people that made Roots a meaningful event for so many

The Effect of Community Context on Intergenerational Spanish Maintenance and English Proficiency Among Latina and Latino Children Nancy Alison Garrett, 1997 In this dissertation I investigate how community context affects Spanish language use and English proficiency among Latina and Latino children in the United States focusing on the children of immigrants I view children s language attributes through a sociological perspective that recognizes that children learn and use languages within specific social and cultural contexts and that these contexts have an important effect on language acquisition and use This theoretical perspective leads to the hypothesis that children s language skills and language use will be affected by the communities they live in I predict that living in a metropolitan area with a greater propinquity and availability of Spanish speakers will increase a child s likelihood of speaking Spanish because this will increase opportunities for using and hearing Spanish and promote Spanish within a larger United States context that often devalues languages other than English At the same time I hypothesize that community context will have little effect on children s English skills because of the ubiquitous presence of English in the daily life of any U S child I test these hypotheses using a national sample of children who live in metropolitan areas drawn from the 1990 Census I find that levels of Spanish maintenance are extremely high among children of Latino immigrants and that a large majority of children who are born in the U S speak English fluently Multivariate analysis demonstrates that several dimensions of a metropolitan area s language context in particular the saturation and segregation of Spanish speakers have a strong effect on second generation children s likelihood of speaking Spanish that persists even after controlling for household and individual level variables Contrary to my original hypothesis I also find that the language characteristics of the metropolitan area have a significant effect on children s English proficiency This effect however is smaller than the effect of metropolitan context on Spanish use This analysis produces a better understanding of the specific elements of household and community context that affect language use The results imply that children of immigrants are following multiple paths to language adaptation and that metropolitan context is an important influence on this process of adaptation
