Hollywood's Embassies Ross Melnick, 2022-04-26 Winner 2024 Culbert Family Book Prize International Association for Media and History Winner 2022 Richard Wall Memorial Award Theatre Library Association Beginning in the 1920s audiences around the globe were seduced not only by Hollywood films but also by lavish movie theaters that were owned and operated by the major American film companies These theaters aimed to provide a quintessentially American experience Outfitted with American technology and accoutrements they allowed local audiences to watch American films in an American owned cinema in a distinctly American way In a history that stretches from Buenos Aires and Tokyo to Johannesburg and Cairo Ross Melnick considers these movie houses as cultural embassies He examines how the exhibition of Hollywood films became a constant flow of political and consumerist messaging selling American ideas products and power especially during fractious eras Melnick demonstrates that while Hollywood's marketing of luxury and consumption often struck a chord with local audiences it was also frequently tone deaf to new social cultural racial and political movements He argues that the story of Hollywood's global cinemas is not a simple narrative of cultural and industrial indoctrination and colonization Instead it is one of negotiation booms and busts successes and failures adoptions and rejections and a precursor to later conflicts over the spread of American consumer culture A truly global account Hollywood's Embassies shows how the entanglement of worldwide movie theaters with American empire offers a new way of understanding film history and the history of U S soft power

Cinemas Dark and Slow in Digital India Lalitha Gopalan, 2021-02-12 This book provides a sustained engagement with contemporary Indian feature films from outside the mainstream including Aaranaya Kaandam I D Kaul Chauthi Koot Cosmic Sex and Gaali Beeja to undercut the dominance of Bollywood focused film studies Gopalan assembles films from Bangalore Chennai Delhi Kolkata and Trivandrum in addition to independent productions in Bombay cinema as a way of privileging understudied works that deserve critical attention The book uses close readings of films and a deep investigation of film style to draw attention to the advent of digital technologies while remaining fully cognizant of the digital as a cryptic formulation for considering the sea change in the global circulation of film and finance This dual focus on both the techno material conditions of Indian cinema and the film narrative offers a fulsome picture of changing narratives and shifting genres and styles

Although it has only been in the last decade that the planet's population balance tipped from a predominantly rural makeup towards an urban one the field of cinema history has demonstrated a disproportionate skew toward the urban. Within audience studies however an increasing number of scholars are turning their attention away from the bright lights of the urban and towards the less well lit and infinitely more variegated history of rural cinema. Rural Cinema Exhibition and Audiences in A Global Context is the first volume to consider rural cinema going from a global perspective. It aims to provide a rich and wide ranging introduction to this growing field and to further develop some of its key questions. It brings together eighteen international scholars or teams all representatives of a dynamic new field. Moving beyond a Western focus is essential for thinking through questions of rural exhibition distribution and cinema experience since over the relatively short history of cinema it is the rural that has dominated cinema goers lives in much of the developing world. To this end the volume also innovates by bringing discussions of North American and European ruralities into dialogue with contributions on Kenya Brazil China Thailand South Africa and Australia.

Mr Movie Man Patrick Church, 2022-12-16 Films Cinemas Movies They capture our imagination throughout our lives for whatever reason. Everyone has a different memory to associate with a film title or cinema name. Be it your very first experience at a young age your first date and that kiss and cuddle in the back row or perhaps even a film that scared the life out of you. This book brings back to life a distant memory to each and every one for their own reason. Be it your favourite movie star or that musical's song that wouldn't leave your head for weeks that journey to a far distant galaxy or just being chased by a giant man eating shark. Cinema is the only place to capture all these adventures.

Screening the World Stuart Hanson, 2019-07-26 This book charts the development of the multiplex cinema as the pre eminent form of film exhibition across the world. Going from its origins in the USA in the 1960s to its expansion overseas from the mid 1980s across Europe Australia and other parts of Asia Pacific the book considers the emergence of a series of initially regional then national and then international exhibition circuits. However more than a consideration of US overseas expansion on the part of companies this book examines the hegemony of the multiplex as a cultural and business form arguing for its significance as a phenomenon that has transcended national and global boundaries and which has become the predominant venue for film viewing. Implicit in this analysis is a recognition of the domination of US media multi nationals and Hollywood cinema and the development of the multiplex cinema as symbolic of the extension and maintenance of the USA's cultural and economic power. With case studies ranging from European countries such as Belgium France Germany and The Netherlands to Pacific Asian countries such as Australia China Japan and South Korea this book is the first to explore the development of multiplexes on a global scale.

Cinema in the Arab World Ifdal Elsaket, Daniël Biltreyst, Philippe Meers, 2023-01-26 Cinema in the Arab world has been the subject of varied and rigorous studies but most have focused on films as text providing in depth analyses of plot style ideologies or examination of the biographies of prominent directors or actors. This innovative new volume shifts the focus on Arab cinema off screen to examine the histories politics and conditions of distribution exhibition and cinema going in the Arab world Through broadening the frame of study beyond the screen the book widens understanding of the cinema not merely as a collection of films as texts but as a site of cultural and political contestation in the Arab world Divided into two sections and guided by interdisciplinary considerations the contributors examine historical and contemporary issues of Arab cinema in terms of the experience of movie going and filmmaking They examine the networks of distribution and exhibition as well as the contested and multiple meanings that the cinema embodied through diverse historical periods and geographical locations Part I focuses on new histories of Arab cinema in terms of film production distribution exhibition and audience s experiences of cinema going Part II deals with more recent issues within scholarship on Arab cinema such as issues of politics economics ideologies as well as issues related to Arab movies international circulation and screenings at festivals Together the chapters enrich our understanding of the cinema in the Arab world showing how deeply embedded it is within its social political and economic contexts

Cinema Treasures Ross Melnick, Andreas Fuchs, 2004 More than 100 years after the first movie delighted audiences movie theaters remain the last great community centers and one of the few amusements any family can afford While countless books have been devoted to films and their stars none have attempted a truly definitive history of those magical venues that have transported moviegoers since the beginning of the last century In this stunningly illustrated book film industry insiders Ross Melnick and Andreas Fuchs take readers from the nickelodeon to the megaplex and show how changes in moviemaking and political social and technological forces e g war depression the baby boom the VCR have influenced the way we see movies Archival photographs from archives like the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences and movie theater ephemera postcards period ads matchbooks and even a barf bag sourced from private collections complement Melnick s informative and engaging history Also included throughout the book are Fuchs profiles detailing 25 classic movie theaters that have been restored and renovated and which continue to operate today Each of these two page spreads is illustrated with marvelous modern photographs many taken by top architectural photographers The result is a fabulous look at one way in which Americans continue to come together as a nation A timeline throughout places the developments described in a broader historical context We ve had a number of beautiful books about the great movie palaces and even some individual volumes that pay tribute to surviving theaters around the country This is the first book I can recall that focuses on the survivors from coast to coast and puts them into historical context Sumptuously produced in an oversized format on heavy coated paper stock this beautiful book offers a lively history of movie theaters in America an impressive array of photos and memorabilia and a heartening survey of the landmarks in our midst from the majestic Fox Tucson Theatre in Tucson Arizona to the charming jewel box that is the Avon in Stamford Connecticut I don t know why but I never tire of gazing at black they evoke the era of moviemaking and moviegoing I care about the most and this book is packed with them Cinema Treasures is indeed a treasure and a perfect gift item for the holiday season Leonard MaltinHumble or grandiose stand alone or strung together movie theaters are places where dreams are born Once upon a time they were treated with the respect they deserve In their heyday historian Ross Melnick and exhibitor Andreas Fuchs write in Cinema Treasures openings of new motion picture pleasure palaces that would have dazzled Kubla Khan received enormous attention in newspapers around the country On top of the publicity they generated their debuts were treated like the gala openings of new operas or exhibits with critics weighing in on everything from the interior and exterior design to the orchestra Handsomely produced and extensively illustrated Cinema Treasures is detailed without being dull and thoroughly at home with this often neglected subject matter Its title would have you believe it is a celebration of the golden age of movie theaters But this book is something completely different an examination of the history of movie exhibition which the authors accurately call a vastly under researched topic Los Angeles Times

Towards a Comparative Economic History of Cinema, 1930-1970 John Sedgwick, 2022-09-09 This book examines the economic circumstances in which films were produced distributed exhibited and consumed during the spoken era of film production until 1970 The periodisation covers the years between the onset of sound and the demise of the phased distribution of films Films are generally appreciated for their aesthetic qualities But they are also commodities This work of economic history presents a new approach considering consumption behaviour as significant as supply side decision making Audiences tastes are considered central with box office an indicator of what they liked The POPSTAT Index of Film Popularity is used as a proxy where box office knowledge is missing Comparative analysis is conducted through the tool RelPOP The book comprises original case studies covering film consumption in Great Britain the Netherlands Sweden and the United States during the 1930s Australia and occupied Belgium during the Second World War and Italy the United States Poland and Czechoslovakia during the Post war An overriding theme is how the classical American business model which emerged during the 1910s linking production to distribution and exhibition adapted to local circumstances including the two countries behind the Iron Curtain during the years of High Stalinism

Studying British Cinema Eddie Dyja, 2010 British cinema in the 1990s was a decade of contradictions This book examines the fragile revival in British film fortunes by taking a detailed analysis of 20 films made during the 1990s

British Cinema of the 1950s Sue Harper, Vincent Porter, 2003 In this definitive and long awaited history of 1950s British cinema Sue Harper and Vincent Porter draw extensively on previously unknown archive material to chart the growing rejection of post war deference by both film makers and cinema audiences Competition from television and successive changes in government policy all forced the production industry to become more market sensitive. The films produced by Rank and Ealing many of which harked back to wartime structures of feeling were challenged by those backed by Anglo Amalgamated and Hammer. The latter knew how to address the rebellious feelings and growing sexual discontents of a new generation of consumers. Even the British Board of Film Censors had to adopt a more liberal attitude. The collapse of the studio system also meant that the screenwriters and the art directors had to cede creative control to a new generation of independent producers and film directors. Harper and Porter explore the effects of these social cultural industrial and economic changes on 1950s British cinema. Towards a Sociology of the Cinema (ILS 92) Ian Charles Jarvie, 2014-05-12. First published in 1998. Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis, an informal company. The Oxford History of World Cinema, 1996-10-17. From its humble beginnings as a novelty in a handful of cities, cinema has risen to become a billion dollar industry and the most spectacular and original contemporary art form. It has spread to all parts of the globe and is enjoyed by audiences that cut across all sections of society. The Oxford History of World Cinema traces the history of this enduringly popular entertainment medium. Covering all aspects of its development, stars, studios and cultural impact, the book celebrates and chronicles over one hundred years of diverse achievement from westerns to the New Wave, from animation to the Avant Garde and from Hollywood to Hong Kong. An international team of distinguished film historians tells the story of the major inventions and developments in the cinema business, its institutions, genres and personnel. Other chapters outline the evolution of national cinemas round the world, the varied and distinctive filmic traditions that have developed alongside Hollywood. A unique aspect of the book are the special inset features on the film makers and personalities: Garbo and Godard, Keaton and Kurosawa, Bugs Bunny and Bergman, who have had an enduring impact in popular memory and cinematic lore. With over 300 illustrations, a full bibliography and an extensive index, this is the buff's ultimate guide to cinema worldwide.

Shadow Cinema James Fenwick, Kieran Foster, David Eldridge, 2020-11-12. Filmmakers and cinema industries across the globe invest more time, money and creative energy in projects and ideas that never get produced than in the movies that actually make it to the screens. Thousands of projects are abandoned, in pre-production, halted, cut short or even made and never distributed: a shadow cinema that exists only in the archives. This collection of essays by leading scholars and researchers opens those archives to draw on a wealth of previously unexamined scripts, correspondence and production material, reconstructing many of the hidden histories of the last hundred years of world cinema. Highlighting the fact that the movies we see are actually the exception to the rule, this study uncovers the myriad reasons why failures occur and considers how understanding those failures can transform the disciplines of film and media history. The first survey of this new area of empirical study across transnational borders, Shadow Cinema is a vital and fascinating demonstration of the importance of the unmade, unseen and unknown history of cinema.
