The Imagined Island Pedro L. San

Miguel,2006-05-18 In a landmark study of history power and identity in the Caribbean Pedro L San Miguel examines the historiography of Hispaniola the West Indian island shared by Haiti and the Dominican Republic He argues that the national identities of and often the tense relations between citizens of these two nations are the result of imaginary contrasts between the two nations drawn by historians intellectuals and writers Covering five centuries and key intellectual figures from each country San Miguel bridges literature history and ethnography to locate the origins of racial ethnic and national identity on the island He finds that Haiti was often portrayed by Dominicans as the other first as a utopian slave society then as a barbaric state and enemy to the Dominican Republic Although most of the Dominican population is mulatto and black Dominican citizens tended to emphasize their Spanish white roots essentially silencing the political voice of the Dominican majority San Miguel argues This pioneering work in Caribbean and Latin American historiography originally published in Puerto Rico in 1997 is now available in English for the first time

Asymmetric Ecologies in Europe and South America around 1800 Susanne Schlünder,Rolando M. Carrasco,2022-08-01 This volume proposes new ways of understanding the historical semantics of the relationship between humans and nature in South America in the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries The authors in this volume use the notion of asymmetry to discuss the representations of and forms of knowledge about nature circulating in and about colonial and postcolonial South America They argue that the production of knowledge about the American natural space widened the power gap between the Europeans colonizers and the local population This gap therefore rests on what we call asymmetric ecologies Eurocentric epistemic orders excluded forms of indigenous mestizo and Creole knowledge about nature By looking at literary as well as non literary sources such as natural histories travel narratives encyclopaedias or medical writing the essays in this volume trace the origins of new theoretical paradigms ecocriticism biopolitics transarea studies etc and examine the regional cultural identity and epistemic conflicts that undercut the Eurocentric narrative of enlightened modernity Rudder Thomas Fleming Day, 1913
