Michael Barry's Radio Times Cookery Year Michael Barry, 1994-01-01 Hunter-gatherer Childhoods Barry S. Hewlett, Michael E. Lamb, In the vast anthropological literature devoted to hunter gatherer societies surprisingly little attention has been paid to the place of hunter gatherer children Children often represent 40 percent of hunter gatherer populations thus nearly half the population is omitted from most hunter gatherer ethnographies and research This volume is designed to bridge the gap in our understanding of the daily lives knowledge and development of hunter gatherer children The twenty six contributors to Hunter Gatherer Childhoods use three general but complementary theoretical approaches evolutionary developmental cultural in their presentations of new and insightful ethnographic data For instance the authors employ these theoretical orientations to provide the first systematic studies of hunter gatherer children's hunting play infant care by children weaning and expressions of grief The chapters focus on understanding the daily life experiences of children and their views and feelings about their lives and cultural change Chapters address some of the following questions why does childhood exist who cares for hunter gatherer children what are the characteristic features of hunter gatherer children s development and what are the impacts of culture change on hunter gatherer child care The book is divided into five parts The first section provides historical theoretical and conceptual framework for the volume the second section examines data to test competing hypotheses regarding why childhood is particularly long in humans the third section expands on the second section by looking at who cares for hunter gatherer children the fourth section explores several developmental issues such as weaning play and loss of loved ones and the final section examines the impact of sedentism and schools on hunter gatherer children This pioneering volume will help to stimulate further research and scholarship on hunter gatherer childhoods thereby advancing our understanding of the way of life that characterized most of human history and of the processes that may have shaped both human development and human evolution Barry S Hewlett is professor of anthropology at Washington State University Vancouver Michael E Lamb is professor of psychology in the social sciences Cambridge University World Food Mary Ellen Snodgrass, 2012-09-15 This multicultural and interdisciplinary reference brings a fresh social and cultural perspective to the global history of food foodstuffs and cultural exchange from the age of discovery to contemporary times Comprehensive in scope this two volume encyclopedia covers agriculture and industry food preparation and regional cuisines science and technology nutrition and health and trade and commerce as well as key contemporary issues such as famine relief farm subsidies food safety and the organic movement Articles also include specific foodstuffs such as chocolate potatoes and tomatoes topics such as Mediterranean diet and the Spice Route and pivotal figures such as Marco Polo Columbus and Catherine de Medici Special features include dozens of recipes representing different historic periods and cuisines of the world listing of herbal foods and uses and a chronology of key events people in food history Whitaker's Books in Print .1998 Do Fathers Matter? Paul Raeburn, 2014-06-03 In Do Fathers Matter the award winning journalist and father of five Paul Raeburn overturns the many myths and stereotypes of fatherhood as he examines the latest scientific findings on the parent we ve often overlooked Drawing on research from neuroscientists animal behaviorists geneticists and developmental psychologists among others Raeburn takes us through the various stages of fatherhood revealing the profound physiological connections between children and fathers from conception through adolescence and into adulthood and the importance of the relationship between mothers and fathers In the process he challenges the legacy of Freud and mainstream views of parental attachment and also explains how we can become better parents ourselves www Amazon com

Social Identities in the Classic Maya Northern Lowlands Traci Ardren, 2015-04-15 Social Identities in the Classic Maya Northern Lowlands plumbs the archaeological record for what it can reveal about the creation of personal and communal identities in the Maya world Using new primary data from her excavations at the sites of Yaxuna Chunchucmil and Xuenkal and new analysis of data from Dzibilchaltun in Yucatan Mexico Traci Ardren presents a series of case studies in how social identities were created shared and manipulated among the lowland Maya Ardren argues that the interacting factors of gender age familial and community memories and the experience of living in an urban setting were some of the key aspects of Maya identities She demonstrates that domestic and civic spaces were shaped by gender specific behaviors to communicate and reinforce gendered ideals Ardren discusses how child burials disclose a sustained pattern of reverence for the potential of childhood and the power of certain children to mediate ancestral power She shows how small shrines built a century after Yaxuna was largely abandoned indicate that its remaining residents used memory to reenvision their city during a time of cultural reinvention And Ardren explains how Chunchucmil's physical layout of houses plazas and surrounding environment denotes that its occupants shared an urban identity centered in the movement of trade goods and economic exchange Viewing this evidence through the lens of the social imaginary and other recent social theory Ardren demonstrates that material culture and its circulations are an integral part of the discourse about social identity and group membership Official Gazette of the United States Patent Office United States. Unrau, 1996 Kinship and Gender Linda Stone, Diane E. King, 2018-09-27 Does kinship still matter in today s globalized increasingly mobile world Do family structures continue to influence the varied roles that men and women play in different cultures Answering with a resounding yes Linda Stone and Diane E King offer a lively introduction to and working knowledge of kinship They firmly link these concepts to cross cultural gender studies illuminating the malleable nature of gender roles around the world and over time Written to engage students each chapter in Kinship and Gender provides key terms and useful generalizations gleaned through research on the interplay of kinship and gender in both traditional societies and contemporary communities Detailed case studies and cross cultural examples help students understand how such generalizations are experienced in real life. The authors also consider the ramifications of current social problems and recent developments in reproductive technology as they demonstrate the relevance of kinship and gender to students lives The fully revised sixth edition contains new case studies on foster parenting in the United States and on domestic violence It provides new material on pets as family members and an expanded discussion of the concept of lineal masculinity There is also a comparison of the adoption of new reproductive technologies in Israel with other countries along with a discussion of the issue of transnational movements in the use of these technologies Redescribing the Gospel of Mark Barry S. Crawford, Merrill P. Miller, 2017-06-16 A collaborative project with a variety of critical essays This final volume of studies by members of the Society of Biblical Literature's consultation and later seminar on Ancient Myths and Modern Theories of Christian Origins focuses on Mark As with previous volumes the provocative proposals on Christian origins offered by Burton L Mack are tested by applying Jonathan Z Smith's distinctive social theorizing and comparative method Essays examine Mark as an author's writing in a book culture a writing that responded to situations arising out of the first Roman Judean war after the destruction of the Jerusalem temple in 70 CE Contributors William E Arnal Barry S Crawford Burton L Mack Christopher R Matthews Merrill P Miller Jonathan Z Smith and Robyn Faith Walsh explore the southern Levant as a plausible provenance of the Gospel of Mark and provide a detailed analysis of the construction of Mark as a narrative composed without access to prior narrative sources about Jesus A concluding retrospective follows the work of the seminar its developing discourse and debates and the continuing work of successor groups in the field Features A thorough examination of the relation between structure and event in social and anthropological theory that provides conceptual tools for representing the project of the author of Mark An exploration of the southern Levant as a plausible provenance of the Gospel a permanent site of successive imperial regimes and culturally related peoples A detailed analysis of the construction of Mark as a narrative composed without access to prior narrative sources about Jesus Business Law and the Regulation of Business Richard A.
