Currently part of Poland the city of Poznan straddled an ethnic border zone of sorts prior to World War II on the edge of a predominantly German sphere of settlement to the west and a predominantly Polish sphere to the east This juxtaposition of cultures helped stimulate the development of vigorous nationalist movements in the first half of the nineteenth century and Poznan emerged as an important center of such activity among Germans and Poles alike Robert E Alvis tracks the rise of nationalism in Poznan and examines how religious affiliation factored into the process Drawing upon a wealth of archival data including memoirs police and government correspondence and parish and archdiocesan records the author reconstructs evolving patterns of collective identity during a time of rapid socioeconomic change and political religious and cultural ferment He concludes that in Poznan religion provided critical foundations for the development of Polish and German nationalist movements and enhanced their appeal across a broad demographic spectrum This book encourages a rethinking of the widely held view that early European nationalism was largely a secular phenomenon at odds with religion People of Today ,2002 The Central Law Journal ,1906 Vols 65 96 include Central law journal s international law list The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art ,1870 United States review ,1923 Colliery Guardian, and Journal of the Coal and Iron Trades ,1922 The Jews of Poznań Zbigniew Pakuła, 2003 The Holocaust swept away the centuries old Jewish community of Pozna in western Poland Zbigniew Pakula traces the history of that community its institutions and its response to crucial but little known events like the expulsion of Polish Jews from Germany in 1938 The Jews of Pozna however is not only about destruction but also about survival and the way that the memory of a lost world can endure as a cornerstone of individual identity Pakula locates the remaining Jews of Pozna now living scattered around the world He accompanies them as they reminisce meet old friends or return to walk again the streets of what will always be their city The People's Journal John Saunders, 1849 People's & Howitt's Journal ,1846
