Battlefield Tourism David William Lloyd, 2014-07-31 In the aftermath of the Great War a wave of tourists and pilgrims visited the battlefields cemeteries and memorials of the war The cultural history of this battlefield tourism is chronicled in this absorbing and original book which shows how the phenomenon served to construct memory in Britain as well as in Australia and Canada The author demonstrates that high and low culture tradition and modernism the sacred and the profane were often inter related rather than polar opposites The various responses to the actual and imagined landscapes of battlefields are discussed as well as bereavement and how this was shaped by gender religion and the military experience Individual memory and experience combined with nationalism and imperial identity as powerful forces informing the pilgrim experience But this book not only analyzes travel to battlefields which unsurprisingly paralleled the growth of the modern tourist industry it also looks closely at the transformation of national war memorials into pilgrimage sites and shows how responses both to battlefields and memorials which continue to serve as potent symbols evolved in the years after the Great War

An Anthology of Women's Travel Writings Shirley Foster, Sara Mills, 2002 This anthology aims to challenge stereotypes of women travellers Rather than simply presenting writings by Victorian women who travelled bravely around the world disregarding social convention and danger the editors present a range of writing and possible ways of being a woman traveller As well as the eccentric woman traveller the editors have included writings by those who might be seen as failed travellers cautious and conventional travellers and those who did not conform to the adventurous heroine stereotype Because travelling as a woman and writing as a woman presents the author with a number of textual problems which must be negotiated Foster and Mills have chosen to include writings which confronted these problems and which resolved them or did not resolve them in different ways These textual problems include the depiction of other women the representation of spatial relations the negotiations undertaken in relation to the adventure heroine narrative and character and the position taken by the author in relation to the representation of knowledge These issues are all crucial in relation to travel writing by women and the women whose writing has been collected together in this anthology have made bold decisions in relation to them

David Roberts Debra N. Mancoff, 1999 In 1838 Scottish painter David Roberts 1796 1864 embarked on a three year journey that would shape Europe s perception of the Middle East Nurtured on Bible stories and tales of the exotic Orient Roberts had always dreamed of exploring the Holy Land though travel there was an arduous dangerous undertaking While he set himself the goal of bringing home an accurate visual record he returned with a portfolio of hand tinted lithographs that lost nothing of romanticism His use of light color and atmosphere lent an aura of exoticism to his realistic view

Many Histories Deep Roger Bowen,1995 Fraser and the Greek exiles George Seferis and Elie Papadimitriou Great Desert Explorers Andrew Goudie,2016-12-01 Desert exploration like climbing Everest or polar expeditions is not for the faint hearted and many of the vivid tales within this fascinating biographical history end in tragedy However the informative and absorbing descriptions of the extraordinary journeys challenges and achievements of these intrepid figures are captivating They risked their lives variously for good old fashioned epic adventure solitude fame the answer to mythical questions and some were even spies They experienced fear excitement and hardship in their journeys into the unknown There are many books on exploration but remarkably few on desert exploration Moreover some of the great desert explorers of the last three hundred years are now very little remembered or appreciated in comparison say with those who ventured to the poles climbed Everest or sought the source of the Nile Yet crossing unknown deserts is no less challenging This volume finally brings these Great Desert Explorers into the limelight with short illustrated biographies of around 60 of the most interesting intrepid and important explorers of the world s greatest deserts There is also a brief introduction to each desert region The many original quotations illustrations and maps contemporary figures as well as plates of a range of desert landscapes make this a colourful lively and informative read

A History of Tourism in Africa Todd Cleveland,2021-02-23 An engaging social history of foreign tourists dreams the African tourism industry s efforts to fulfill them and how both sides affect each other Since the nineteenth century foreign tourists and resident tourism workers in Africa have mutually relied upon notions of exoticism but from vastly different perspectives Many of the countless tourists who have traveled to the African continent fail to acknowledge or even realize that skilled African artists in the tourist industry repeatedly manufacture authentic experiences in order to fulfill foreigners often delusional or at least uninformed expectations. These carefully nurtured and controlled performances typically reinforce tourists' reductive impressions formed over centuries of the continent, its peoples, and even its wildlife. In turn, once back in their respective homelands, tourists' accounts of their travels often substantiate and thereby reinforce prevailing stereotypes of exotic Africa. Meanwhile, Africans staged performances not only impact their own lives primarily by generating remunerative opportunities but also subject the continent's residents to objectification, exoticization, and myriad forms of exploitation.

The Broadview Anthology of Victorian Prose, 1832-1901 Mary Elizabeth Leighton, Lisa Surridge, 2012-08-20. The Victorian era witnessed dramatic transformations in print culture, and this new anthology covers the exciting intellectual and social debates of the period. From first-person accounts of the lives of factory workers to Oscar Wilde's aesthetic theory and from narratives of British travelers in Africa and Asia to Havelock Ellis's theories of sexual inversion, the surprising diversity of nineteenth-century nonfiction writing is represented. Illustrations from Victorian periodicals provide a vivid sense of the original reading experience. The book's thematic organization emphasizes the social and historical contexts of prose writings as well as the way in which these writings address each other. In addition to a general critical introduction, the anthology features new thematic introductions by experts in the field.
