Nationalism, Violence and Democracy Ludger Mees, 2003-06-24 Ludger Mees offers the first comprehensive study of one of Europe's most protracted ethnic conflicts He carefully analyzes both the historical roots of the conflict and its later growing violent dimension Special attention is paid to the framing of a new opportunity structure during the 1990s which facilitated the first serious but ultimately frustrated attempt to broker a settlement In the light of different theoretical and comparative approaches the reasons for the dramatic return of terrorism and the possibilities of a more successful conflict de escalation in the near future are discussed The Politics and Memory of Democratic Transition Diego Muro, Gregorio Alonso, 2010-11-23 Most accounts on the Spanish transition to democracy of the late 1970s are based on a false dilemma Its simplest formulation could be was it the pressure from below i e the organized working classes students and neighbors associations that triggered political change or was the elite settlement reached by the regime soft liners and the moderate sectors of the democratic opposition that established it This new and innovative volume appraises the movement towards a more democratic Spain from a variety of important perspectives the collection of essays sheds light on the wide range of crucial processes institutions and actors involved in the political transformation that operated in the Spanish instance of the Third Wave of democratization By making comparisons to other democratic transitions synthesizing the ideas of several leading Spanish History scholars as well as incorporating new voices involved in creating the directions of research to come The Politics and Memory of Democratic Transition offers a thorough and vital look at this key period in contemporary Spanish history taking stock of critical lessons to be gleaned from the Spanish Transition and pointing the way toward its future as a democratic nation Democratic Consolidation in Eastern Europe: Volume 2: International and Transnational Factors Jan Zielonka, Alex Pravda, 2001-06-14 This is the second volume in a two volume series of books on democratic consolidation in Eastern Europe The first volume focused on the issue of institutional engineering This second volume analyses the external parameters of democratic consolidation in thirteen Eastern European countries how different international actors and various economic cultural and security types of transnational pressures have shaped democratic politics in the region The aim is to contrast a set of democracy theories with empirical evidence accumulated in Eastern Europe over the last ten years The volume tries to avoid complex debates about definitions methods and the uses and misuses of comparative research Instead it seeks to establish what has really happened in the region and which of the existing theories are helpful in explaining these developments The volume is divided into two parts The first part presents a conceptual and comparative frame of analysis the second consists of detailed studies of individual countries undergoing democratic consolidation Case study chapters deal with the following countries Estonia and Latvia Hungary Poland the Czech Republic Slovakia Romania Bulgaria and Macedonia the states of former Yugoslavia Belarus and Ukraine and finally Russia The concluding chapter identifies a set of variables responsible for the enormous impact of external factors on democratic consolidation in Eastern Europe It conceptualises the interplay of internal and external factors impinging upon democracy and shows the interplay of different positive and negative types of external pressures It also evaluates the conscious Western effort to craft or engineer democracy in Eastern Europe
