Regimes Of Memory:

Regimes of Memory Katharine Hodgkin, Susannah Radstone, 2003-09-02 A focus on memory has come to prominence across a wide range of disciplines History literature philosophy anthropology and cultural studies have placed memory at the heart of their interrogations of subjectivity narrative time and imagination At the same time memory has emerged as a central theme and preoccupation in popular literature film and television and the emergence of memory as an academic theme cannot be separated from its prominence in the wider culture This volume represents explores and interrogates the current developments engaging directly with the place of memory in culture and with memory's meanings and history

Memory Cultures Selma Leydesdorff, Katharine Hodgkin, 2017-07-12 In recent years memory has attracted increasing attention From analyses of electronic communication and the Internet to discussions of heritage culture to debates about victimhood and sexual abuse memory is currently generating much cultural interest This interdisciplinary collection takes a journey through memory in order to contextualize this current memory boom Memory Cultures focuses on memories outside in the many fields within which understandings of memory have been produced It focuses less on memory as an object whose inner workings are to be studied and more on memory as a concept It traces the genealogies of our contemporary Western understandings of memory through studies of the early modern arts of memory It also discusses nineteenth century evolutionary museums and the modernist explorations of artists and writers Here it explores the differences between Western and non Western concepts of the lived past and compares understandings of memory in history psychoanalysis and anthropology The volume is divided into five parts Believing the Body Propping the Subject What Memory Forgets Models of the Mind What History Forgets Memory and Time and Memory Beyond the Modern Individual essays by many of the foremost international scholars in memory studies trace memory's intimate association with identity and recognition with cities with lived time with the science of the mind with fantasy and with the media Memory Cultures will be of essential interest to those working in the fields of cultural studies history and also anthropology

Regimes of Terror and Memory Manfred Henningsen, 2023-07-31 Regimes of Terror and Memory Beyond the Uniqueness of the Holocaust illustrates how convenient it has become in not recognizing other regimes of terror in recent history Manfred Henningsen compares the memory of Nazi Germany's macro criminal record with the remembrances of Stalin's Russia and Mao's China the Japanese Empire Pol Pot's Cambodia Sukarno's Indonesia He discusses the cultural reasons for these memory distortions in the West and in the societies that have experienced these macro crimes of genocidal violence Henningsen has embedded his search in an autobiographical context that begins with his birth upbringing and education in Germany from 1938 to 1969 continues after his move to Hawaii in 1970 in the American political culture and becomes more realized through extensive traveling in Europe Asia and Africa

Memory, History, Nation Katharine Hodgkin, Susannah Radstone, 2005-10-01 The chapters in Memory History Nation written by international scholars offer a complex awareness of the workings of memory and the ways in which different or changing histories may be explained They explore the relation between individual and social memory between real and imaginary event and fantasy history and myth Contradictory accounts or memories in direct contradiction to the historical record are not always the sign of a repressive authority attempting to cover something up The tension between memory as a safeguard against attempts to silence dissenting voices and memory's own implication in that silencing runs throughout the book

Feeling Memory Lindsey Dodd, 2023-07-04 What did it feel like to be a child in France during World War II Feeling Memory is an affective exploration of children's lives in wartime France and the ways they are remembered Lindsey Dodd draws on the recorded oral narratives of a hundred people to examine the variety of experiences children had during the war She considers different aspects of remembering underscoring the centrality of emotion to memory This book covers a wide range of locations the country and the city Occupied France and the Free Zone and situations well off and poor children those separated from their families and those with them it places Jewish children's experiences alongside non Jewish children's Against the backdrop of momentous events readers encounter children playing working eating thinking doing and feeling An investigation of the emotions of history Feeling Memory argues for the transformative potential of affect theory and affective methodologies in oral history and the history of everyday life This book makes major contributions to the history of France during World War II understandings of children's lives in war and the use of memory in historical and oral history analysis

Memory and Totalitarianism Luisa Passerini, 2017-07-12 Understanding Europe's past became an urgent matter with the events of August 1991 in Moscow in the former Soviet Union The invasion of Moscow's streets by Russian people rejecting an attempted coup d'etat was the culmination of a process that had been initiated years before and raised crucial questions To what extent can these events be considered the end of an era stretching from World War I to the 1980s when Europe experienced many forms of dictatorship To what extent can the various forms of dictatorship Europe experienced in the twentieth century be grouped together Can any sort of affinity be established between them The new introduction to the paperback edition of this volume in the Memory and Narrative series Leydesdorff and Crownshaw underline the fundamental importance of the struggle for memory and its meaning Memory and Totalitarianism explores the remembered experiences of individuals living under different totalitarian regimes and examines the construction of memory in the aftermath of those regimes' collapse It attempts to situate the findings of oral history in the context of contemporary memory It wrestles with the most painful memories that Europeans have of this century at the end of the Cold War These memories compare with oral history's research into such experiences as racist attitudes against blacks in the South or the cultural and psychological effects of apartheid in South Africa or the Aborigines' claim to their own history and to a new idea of history in Australia Totalitarianisms are products of the twentieth century that go far beyond earlier manifestations of absolutism and autocracy in their effort to completely control political social and intellectual life They were made possible by modern industrialism and technology Therefore the theme of the book expands to include many other experiences that relate to totalitarian mentalities

Recovering Memory Hedda Friberg, Irene Gilsenan Nordin, Lene Yding

Pedersen, 2009-03-26 Various ways of collecting storing and recovering memories have been the focus of the most recent joint research project carried out by a group of Irish Studies scholars all based in the Nordic countries and members of the Nordic Irish Studies Network NISN The result of the project Recovering Memory Irish Representations of Past and Present is a collection of essays which examines the theme of memory in Irish literature and culture against the theoretical background of the philosophical discourse of modernity Offering a wide range of perspectives this volume examines a plurality of representations past and present of memory both public and private and the intersection between collective memory and individual in modern Ireland Also explored is the relation between memory and identity national and private as well as questions of subjectivity and the construction of the self Given Ireland's tragic past and its long history of colonisation it is inevitable that various aspects of memory in terms of nationality post colonialism and politics also have bearing on this study The volume is divided into five sections each of which examines one broadly defined aspect of memory The introductory section focuses on memory and history and is followed by sections on memory and autobiography place identity and memory in the work of novelist John Banville Within each section the individual writers engage in a fruitful dialogue with each other and with the approaches of such theorists as Arendt Husserl Merleau Ponty Ricoeur and Baudrillard

Remembering

'Umar Khayyām Arash Ghajarjazi, 2025-03-03 This book explores the Persian sage Umar Khayyām and the globally renowned quatrains rubā'iyāt attributed to him from a new angle These quatrains have unleashed responses from Sufis and Islamic theologians fostering secular thought in the Persianate world From the early 12th century to the present Umar Khayyām's persona has been a source of inspiration for various literate communities This monograph addresses an undesirable gap in Khayyām scholarship by re-examining the reception of his quatrains within a changing collective memory It investigates a wide range of texts and objects including Sufi texts chronicles mystical poetry anthologies memorial monuments Victorian illustrations and modern periodicals The focus is on how the remembrance of Khayyām has contributed to the formation of a secular intellectual tradition in modern Iran The book argues for a re-conceptualisation of Khayyām as a nexus of Sufi literature memory and secularity Additionally it critically examines traditional scholarship on Khayyām's biography and the debates regarding the authenticity of his quatrains This work aims to connect scholars of Sufism Studies memory studies and Persian and Islamic Studies

Rhetorical Memory

Stewart Whitemore, 2015-10-22 Institutions have regimes policies that typically come from the top down and are meant to align the efforts of workers with the goals and mission of an institution Institutions also have practices day to day behaviors performed by individual workers attempting to interpret the institution's missives Taken as a whole these form a company's memory regime and they have a significant effect on how employees analyze mix translate sort filter and repurpose everyday information in order to meet the demands of their jobs their customers their colleagues and themselves In Rhetorical Memory Stewart Whitemore demonstrates that strategies we use to manage information techniques often acquired through trial and error rarely studied and generally invisible to us are as important to our success as the end products of our work First he situates information management within the larger field of rhetoric showing that both are tied to purpose audience and situation He then dives into an engaging and tightly focused workplace study presenting three cases from a team of technical communicators making use of organizational memory during their everyday work By examining which techniques succeed and which fail Whittemore illuminates the challenges faced by technical communicators He concludes with a number of practical strategies to better organize information that will help employees managers and anyone else suffering from information overload Disputed Memory Tea Sindbæk

Andersen, Barbara Törnquist-Plewa, 2016-06-20 The world wars genocides and extremist ideologies of the 20th century are remembered very differently across Central Eastern and Southeastern Europe resulting sometimes in fierce memory disputes This book investigates the complexity and contention of the layers of memory of the troubled 20th century in the region Written by an international group of scholars from a diversity of disciplines the chapters approach memory disputes in methodologically innovative ways studying representations and negotiations of disputed pasts in different media including monuments museum exhibitions individual and political discourse and electronic social media Analyzing memory disputes in various local national and transnational contexts the chapters demonstrate the political power and social impact of painful and disputed memories The book brings new insights into current memory disputes in Central Eastern and Southeastern Europe It contributes to the understanding of processes of memory transmission and negotiation across borders and cultures in Europe emphasizing the interconnectedness of memory with emotions mediation and politics
