Global Innovation Leadership

Marc-Michael H. Bergfeld, 2009 Securing the Global Economy Andreas Freytag, Paolo Savona, 2016-04-01

Securing the Global Economy explores how and why the G8 and other institutions of global governance deal with increasingly comprehensive and complex economic security connections. These connections are explored from an interdisciplinary perspective with economists, political scientists and those in the policy world bringing their insights to bear. Moreover, this volume explores this economic security connection from a constitutional or institutional perspective. In a classical liberal spirit, it is concerned with the organizing principles of a liberal international economic order and the framework of rules that enables it to survive and flourish. Security issues, national trade policies, the multilateral trade system and the detailed technical issues they subsume are analysed from this higher vantage point. This is thus a work about global governance as a whole and at its core, rather than a problem solving manual for a few of the issues now at centre stage. Furthermore, it applies this larger vision to the current G8 and global economic security agenda to generate a set of policy recommendations about how the global community, through and outside the G8, can better cope with the complex interconnected challenges it now confronts. Its innovative policy recommendations are especially timely when the recent global financial crisis, economic recession and fragile recovery place great strains on the liberal economic order, while new challenges from Iran, ongoing terrorist threats and corruption make this security-economic connection critically important.

Location of International Business Activities Academy of International Business, 2014-12-02

In recent years, an extensive range of new research has been revisiting the topic of the location of international business activities from a variety of different perspectives and background interests. This work has been inspired in part by two apparently quite different but actually related contemporary trends: on the one hand, an emergence or revitalization of clusters of activities co-located in or around selected global city regions or fast growing metropolitan areas; and on the other hand, an increased global dispersion of activities conducted within the value chains managed or coordinated by many large multinational enterprises and their business partners. The former trend has given rise to discussions of how the elite of the cultural cognitive economy of the 21st century, in Allen Scott's terminology or the creative class, Richard Florida's term, are now being drawn or brought back to major urban centers, while the latter trend is associated with debates over outsourcing and the economic and social consequences of shifts in the ownership and location of distinct nodes of value chains once production systems become more fragmented and the component parts of such systems become more geographically dispersed. An increased interest in the subject of international business location has been shown by scholars in Strategic Management, in Economic Geography and in Regional Science, as well as in our own interdisciplinary field of International Business Studies. However, as is often the case in academic research communities, these bodies of scholarship have tended to develop at something of a distance from one another, each conversing internally more than they have with one another. Location of International Business Activities aims to promote a greater conversation between those interested in the topic of Location from various different backgrounds or starting points.

The articles are taken from a special issue on the theme of the Multinational in Geographic Space which was published by The Journal of International Business Studies in 2013 Firm-Level Internationalization, Regionalism and Globalization J. Berrill, E. Hutson, R. Sinkovics, 2011-03-04 The current international business environment is characterized by two contradictory but at times mutually supplementary trends Regionalization is part of the process of globalization but it can also be a counter force to globalization as stakeholders act to protect their perceived interests This book expands the debate on this interesting topic Doing Business in Asia Gabriele Suder, Terence Tsai, Sumati Varma, 2020-10-12 From the author of Doing Business in Europe SAGE 2018 Gabriele Suder has teamed up with Sumati Varma based in India and Terence Tsai from China to bring this comprehensive solution for Asian business teaching and learning The book offers a highly productive mix of international business and marketing theory and is packed with pedagogical tools to engage and develop understanding including two full length corporate case studies per chapter This is a unique volume covering the most relevant topics of Asia focused business and management practice spanning from cross cultural management to supply chain resilience to market entry and expansion strategy and much more Specifically designed to meet the needs of Postgraduate MBA and those taking part in Executive Education programmes this exciting learning experience will prepare Asia's leaders of the future
