Buckley, Yolonda Youngs, 2018-03-01 This innovative book provides a dynamic and often surprising view of the range of environmental issues facing the United States today A distinguished group of scholars examines the growing temporal spatial and thematic breadth of topics historical geographers are now exploring Seventeen original chapters examine topics such as forest conservation mining landscapes urban environment justice solid waste exotic species environmental photography national and state park management recreation and tourism and pest control Commemorating the twenty fifth anniversary of the publication of the seminal work The American Environment Interpretations of Past Geographies the book clearly shows much has changed since 1992 Indeed not only has the range of issues expanded but an increasing number of geographers are forging links with environmental historians promoting a level of intellectual cross fertilization that benefits both disciplines As a result environmental

Canoe and Canvas Jessica Dunkin, 2019-08-22 Canoe and Canvas offers a detailed portrait of the summer encampments of the American Canoe Association between 1880 and 1910 The encampments were annual events that attracted canoeing enthusiasts from both sides of the Canada US border to socialize race canoes and sleep under canvas While the encampments were located away from cities they were still subjected to urban logic and ways of living The encampments thus offer a unique site for exploring cultures of sport and leisure in late Victorian society but also for considering the intersections between recreation and the politics of everyday life A social history of sport Canoe and Canvas is particularly concerned with how gender class and race shaped the social cultural and physical landscapes of the ACA encampments Although there was an ever expanding arena of opportunity for leisure and sport in the late nineteenth century as the example of the ACA makes clear not all were granted equal access Most of the members of the American Canoe Association and the majority of the campers at the annual encampments were white middle class men though white women were extended partial membership in 1882 and in 1883 they were permitted to camp on site Canoe and Canvas also reveals how Black Indigenous and working class people while obscured in the historical record were indispensable to the smooth functioning of these events through their labour

Inventing Stanley Park Sean Kheraj, 2013-05-24 In the early hours of 15 December 2006 a windstorm of a ferocity not known for more than forty years ripped through Vancouver In the crisp light of dawn the city's residents awoke to discover that Stanley Park their city's most treasured park had been transformed into a tangle of splintered and uprooted trees In the weeks that followed people toured Stanley Park by car and by foot like a procession of mourners at a funeral Their anguish revealed more than just an attachment to the memory of a park it marked the end of a romanticized vision of timeless natural space In Inventing Stanley Park environmental historian Sean Kheraj examines how this tension between popular expectations of idealized wilderness and the volatility of complex ecosystems helped shape one of the world's most famous urban parks Drawing on a wealth of illustrations and the insights of environmental history Kheraj not only describes and depicts the natural and cultural forces that shaped the park's landscape he also reveals the roots of our complex relationship with nature Released to coincide with Stanley Park's 125th anniversary this book offers a revealing meditation on the interrelationship between nature culture parks policy and public memory Against Ecological Sovereignty Mick Smith, 2011-09-29 Links the political critique of sovereign power with ecological concerns Transforming Parks and Protected Areas Kevin S.
