Rehabilitation Of Older People A Handbook For The Multidisciplinary Team:

Rehabilitation of Older People Amanda J. Squires, 2013-11-11 Attitudes to rehabilitation of older people particularly in departments specializing in care of the elderly have become increasingly positive in recent years A growing number of professionals see the speciality as a necessary career experience and this needs encouragement if the professions are to be prepared for the increasing number of older people who will require help from their members The purpose of this book is to bring together the skills and experience of experts in several fields of rehabilitation to provide a primer for those needing the knowledge of how to manage the older person in whatever environment or speciality they present Readers will be able to enhance their own knowledge already gained in a variety of fields and play an immediate part in the team The information will also be of value to interested carers agencies contributing to the widened provision of service to older people and their purchasers The continuing transformation of healthcare delivery world wide resulting from changing user and provider expectations and government policies is altering approaches to and delivery of rehabilitation services These current and envisaged future changes are addressed by each discipline using the UK National Health Service as an example

Ray, 2019-02-27 This book discusses the state of the research and cutting edge practice with regard to chronic illnesses and rehabilitation in older adults It emphasizes biopsychosocial and culturally appropriate rehabilitation approaches to reduce the degree of disability and maximize independence in the activities of daily living among the burgeoning aging population Organized in four sections Introduction and Overview Major Illnesses and Problems in Aging Populations Evaluation of Functional Rehabilitation Approaches for Aging Populations and Future Clinical Research Needs the book includes chapters on the graying of the West with implications for increased chronic illnesses and disabilities a review of biopsychosocial rehabilitation approaches important aging issues such as slips and falls musculoskeletal pain chronic disabling conditions such as cancer and cardiovascular disease and work related factors to maintain work engagement in older workers The US Census Bureau projects that by the year 2030 about 20% of the US population will be 65 or older contributing to the increased concern about healthcare and rehabilitation issues among older adults This work will be of interest to healthcare rehabilitation vocational human resource and disability management professionals policy makers as well as researchers in areas of aging gerontology chronic illness disability rehabilitation social work medicine and psychology Rehabilitation of Older People Amanda J. Squires, 1996 Attitudes to rehabilitation of older people have become increasingly positive in recent years A growing number of professionals see the speciality as a necessary carer experience and this needs encouragement if the professions are to be prepared for the increasing number of older people who will require help from their members. Rehabilitation of Older People in its updated and expanded second edition brings together the skills and experience of experts in many fields of rehabilitation. Readers will be able to gain knowledge of how to manage older people with difficult conditions and in different environments. Much of the work of professionals in this area has changed as a result of NHS reforms, new practices, research and patient demands. These current and envisaged changes are addressed by each discipline in the light of the continuing move to community care. The demographic and epidemiological needs of older people and ethical questions such as the right to refuse treatment are also discussed.

Handbook of Geriatric Assessment Joseph J. Gallo, 2006 Nursing Handbook of Old Age Liaison Psychiatry George Tadros, George Crowther, 2024-04-11 This essential new handbook provides practical and essential information on old age liaison psychiatry in the general hospital setting for use in everyday practice. Covering the assessment and management of older people's mental health, it addresses the most common day to day clinical presentations and conditions. The book provides a unique and valuable insight into the emotional and psychological challenges that older people and their families face in hospital when dealing with both physical health and social crises. Featuring contributions from a range of experts from diverse medical and psychiatric specialities on topics such as service development, use of technology, ethical issues, safeguarding procedures and evidence based practice for effective management. The book shines a light on the integration of mental and physical health for older people and the importance of managing all aspects of care alongside the impact of each on mental health. An essential guide for hospital clinicians across all specialties. Handbook of Burns Volume 1 Marc G. Jeschke, Lars-Peter Kamolz, Folke Sjöberg, Steven E. Wolf, 2019-10-29 The second edition of this volume provides updated information on acute burn treatment. It also discusses genomic responses to burns and novel techniques in this area. Divided into four topical parts, this book provides insights into the history, epidemiology, prevention of burns as well as initial and pre-hospital management of burns, acute burn care and therapy and non-thermal burns. All chapters have been edited by leading world authorities on burn care and offer readers a broad overview of the techniques and outcomes in this area. Please also have a look at Handbook of Burns Volume 2: Reconstruction and Rehabilitation 2nd edition. Nursing in Care Homes Linda Nazarko, 2009-02-12 Nursing in Care Homes is a practical guide for nurses of all levels working in care homes. It is directly relevant to everyday practice and covers clinical issues such as continence care, wound care, infection control and nutrition as well as information on a wide range of issues including legal requirements, care home standards and liaising with social and health care services. The revised and updated second edition includes new chapters on maximising abilities, risk management, stroke and diabetes and calls upon the recommendations of the National Service Framework for Older People and the requirements of the Care Standards Act 2002. Concise and easy to follow, Nursing in Care Homes is an essential guide to skilled professional care for all nurses in care homes. It will also be invaluable to nursing students undertaking their placements in care homes The Routledge Handbook of Contemporary Ageing Issues Mala Kapur Shankardass, 2025-09-30

This handbook provides a comprehensive look into the emerging issues confronting ageing societies across the world. Drawing on scholarship from Africa, the Americas, Asia Pacific and Europe, it explores different dimensions of ageing: gender, health, environment, care, elder abuse, generational relationships and grief. The volume adopts a gerontological perspective to evaluate ageing-specific policies and places emphasis on guiding research and practice towards achieving a better quality of life for older people across the world. It argues that new developments, because of changing age structures, support ratios, family relationships and socioeconomic situations, call for innovative practices in terms of health and social care facilities, livelihood opportunities, retirement options, skill development and educational learning. Lucid and accessible, the handbook will be of interest to those working in gerontology, ageing, health, death studies, social care, public health, policy, human rights, law, sociology and social policy, gender studies, cultural studies, medical sociology, political sociology, mental health and social sciences.

Embracing the Song of Term: An Psychological Symphony within Rehabilitation Of Older People A Handbook For The Multidisciplinary Team
