Developing Reading and Writing in Second-language Learners Diane August,Timothy Shanahan,2008 A Co Publication of Lawrence Erlbaum Associates Inc and The International Reading Association This book is a shorter version of the full volume Developing Literacy in Second Language Learners reporting the findings of the National Literacy Panel on Language Minority Children and Youth. The Panel, a distinguished group of expert researchers in reading, language, bilingualism, research methods, and education, was appointed to identify, assess, and synthesize research on the literacy education of language minority children and youth. In this book, chapters adapted from the original report concisely summarize what is known from empirical research about the development of literacy in language minority children and youth, including development, environment, instruction, and assessment. Cornell University Courses of Study, Cornell University, 2004.

English-Only Instruction and Immigrant Students in Secondary Schools, Lee Gunderson, 2017-09-25. This book is for teachers, teacher educators, school and district administrators, policy makers, and researchers who want to know about literacy, cultural diversity, and students who speak little or no English. It offers a rich picture of the incredible diversity of students who enter secondary school as immigrants: their abilities, their needs, and their aspirations. The studies reported are part of a large longitudinal study of about 25,000 immigrant students in a district in which the policy is English-only instruction. These studies provide multiple views of the students' lives and their success in schools where the language of instruction differs from the languages they speak with their friends and families; explore the students' views of teaching and learning; describe the potential differences between the students' views and those of their teachers; look at issues related to students' views of their identities as they work, study, and socialize in a new environment; and examine different reading models designed to facilitate the learning of English as a second language. ESL educators and researchers will find the descriptions of students' simultaneous learning of English and of academic content relevant to their view of whether instruction should be English-only or bilingual. For teachers who view multicultural education as an important endeavor, this book may on occasion surprise them and at other times confirm their views. The author does not attempt to develop a particular political viewpoint about which approach works best with immigrant students. Rather, the objective of the studies was to develop a full, rich description of the lives of immigrant high school students enrolled in classes where the medium of instruction is English. The reader is left to evaluate the results.

Teaching Chinese Language in the International School Context, Jia-Fei Hong, Chung-Mou Si, 2023-11-29. This book explores the learning and teaching of K-12 Chinese language in international schools. The authors of this book are scholars from teaching training institutions and universities as well as professional frontline teachers. With a combination of the works and insights from both perspectives of theory and practice, the book presents how theories of teaching can be operated in the classroom to improve the effectiveness of language teaching. It covers curriculum setting, design of teaching materials, teaching principles, methods, strategies, and evaluation. The book also discusses issues and concepts such as concept-driven learning, identity change, and recognition of L1 and L2. Chinese teacher pinyin teaching, Chinese character teaching, evaluation for learning improvement, and integration of South Asian non-Chinese speaking students into local schools. It emphasizes empirical action research methods. This is a highly
