Impact of COVID-19 Pandemics and Syndemics on Healthcare Systems Worldwide Ozgur Karcioglu , Garyfallia Syridou,2024-12-11

The COVID 19 pandemic has altered almost every aspect of the world including economics social issues health care and politics Many experts consider this phenomenon to be a syndemic as it is more than just an outbreak of a viral infectious disease Almost all countries worldwide have been deeply involved in the battle since the early months of 2020 As of June 2023 almost 700 million people have been infected with reportedly 6.9 million deaths around 1% recorded globally due to COVID 19 These profound changes have had an adverse impact on healthcare systems worldwide The healthcare industry has evolved to screen diagnose and treat COVID 19 patients promptly and cost effectively However this shift has meant that resources have been diverted to managing a specific disease rather than on preventive measures and critical areas of healthcare like injury prevention care of mothers and infants elderly care long term care institutions etc As a result patients have encountered significant challenges in accessing care from their regular physicians finding hospital beds and accessing ICU beds in situations of extreme illness Healthcare workers have also faced dramatic consequences such as losing their lives carrying a higher risk of infection compared to the general population and working in high risk environments while mourning for their colleagues and still being obligated to work for extended hours under these conditions Additionally vaccination procedures have been difficult and problematic particularly in developing countries where full coverage has been difficult to achieve This Research Topic aims to cover topics related to the impact and challenges of the pandemic and syndemic on pediatric healthcare focusing on specific areas such as the prehospital system emergency departments ICUs medical branches preventive medicine rehabilitation sports medicine and infection surveillance
