Rose and Lotus Tonglin Lu,1991-01-22      Rose and Lotus Tonglin Lu,1991-01-22 Compares the narrative expression of sexual sublimation and perversion in two 18th century French novels with that in two classical Chinese novels The works Julie ou la nouvelle Heloise and Les Liaisons dangereuses and The Golden lotus and Dream of the red chamber were chosen to illustrate a period before significant culture intercourse between the two countries and because their status as major literary works has raised them above the particular context of their origin Also available in paper unseen 14 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR      Desire and Fictional Narrative in Late Imperial China Martin W. Huang,2020-03-23 In this new study of desire in Late Imperial China Martin Huang argues that the development of traditional Chinese fiction as a narrative genre was closely related to changes in conceptions of the fundamental nature of desire He further suggests that the rise of vernacular fiction during the late Ming dynasty should be studied in the context of contemporary debates on desire along with the new and complex views that emerged from those debates Desire and Fictional Narrative in Late Imperial China shows that the obsession of authors with individual desire is an essential quality that defines traditional Chinese fiction as a narrative genre Thus the maturation of the genre can best be appreciated in terms of its increasingly sophisticated exploration of the phenomenon of desire      China Exchange News ,1990      The Culture of Love in China and Europe Paolo Santangelo,Gábor Boros,2020-01-13 In The Culture of Love in China and Europe Paolo Santangelo and Gábor Boros offer a survey of the cults of love developed in the history of ideas and literary production in China and Europe between the 12th and early 19th century They describe parallel evolutions within the two cultures and how innovatively these independent civilisations developed their own categories and myths to explain exalt but also control the emotions of love and their behavioural expressions The analyses contain rich materials for comparison point out the universal and specific elements in each culture and hint at differences and resemblances without ignoring the peculiar beauty and attractive force of the texts cultivating love      Rereading the Stone Anthony C. Yu,2018-06-05 The eighteenth century Hongloumeng known in English as Dream of the Red Chamber or The Story of the Stone is generally considered to be the greatest of Chinese novels one that masterfully blends realism and romance psychological motivation and fate daily life and mythical occurrences as it narrates the decline of a powerful Chinese family In this path breaking study Anthony Yu goes beyond the customary view of Hongloumeng as a vivid reflection of late imperial Chinese culture by examining the novel as a story about fictive representation Through a maze of literary devices the novel challenges the authority of history as well as referential biases in reading At the heart of Hongloumeng Yu argues is the narration of desire Desire appears in this tale as the defining trait and problem of human beings and at the same time shapes the novel's literary invention and effect According to Yu this focalizing treatment of desire may well be Hongloumeng's most distinctive accomplishment Through close readings of selected episodes Yu analyzes principal motifs of the narrative such as dream mirror literature religious enlightenment and rhetorical reflexivity in relation to fictive representation He contextualizes his discussions with a comprehensive genealogy of qing desire disposition sentiment feeling a concept of fundamental importance in historical Chinese culture and shows how the text ingeniously exploits its multiple meanings Spanning a wide range of comparative literary sources Yu creates a new conceptual framework in which to reevaluate this masterpiece Shan'ge, the 'Mountain Songs' Yasushi OKI, Paolo Santangelo, 2011-02-17 Mountain Songs is a collection of folk songs edited by the famous writer Feng Menglong 1574 1646 By this innovative work mainly written in the Suzhou dialect he aimed to revitalize poetry through the power of popular songs This collection is very significant to the understanding of the characters of the mobile society of Jiangnan and the vitality of its intellectual world The songs deal with the lives of common people women often prostitutes boatmen peasants hunters fishers and paddlers Their spirit is far from the orthodox moral intents that Zhu Xi advocated for interpreting the Shijing and their language is often vulgar and full of crude expressions or salacious double meanings and contains allusions to sexual and erotic behaviour Beyond the May Fourth Paradigm Kai-wing Chow, Tze-ki Hon, Hung-yok Ip, Don C. Price, 2008-04-18 When did China make the decisive turn from tradition to modernity For decades the received wisdom would have pointed to the May Fourth movement with its titanic battles between the champions of iconoclasm and the traditionalists and its shift to more populist forms of politics A growing body of recent research has however called into question how decisive the turn was when it happened and what relation the resulting modernity bore to the agendas of people who might have considered themselves representatives of such an iconoclastic movement Having thus explicitly or implicitly decentered the May Fourth such research augmented by contributions in the present volume leaves us with the task of accounting for the shape Chinese modernity took as the product of dialogues and debates between and the interplay of a variety of actors and trends both within and certainly no less importantly without the May Fourth camp voices of women in China have begun calling out loudly in ways that challenge prevalent views about the Chinese female persona Fictions of Enlightenment Qiancheng Li, 2003-12-31 Fictions of Enlightenment is the first book to examine the fascinating and intricate relationship between Buddhism and the development of Chinese vernacular fiction Qiancheng Li brings Buddhist models to bear on the vision structure and narrative form of three classics of late imperial literature Journey to the West Tower of Myriad Mirrors and Dream of the Red Chamber arguing that by fashioning their plots after the narratives of certain Mahayana sutras the novelists transformed Buddhist concepts into narrative structures Within the traditional Chinese novel Li even defines a new genre the fiction of enlightenment Masterworks of Asian Literature in Comparative Perspective: A Guide for Teaching Barbara Stoler Miller, 2016-09-16 This is a collection of 46 essays by specialists in Asian literature who offer a wide range of possibilities for introducing Asian literature to English speaking students It is intended to help in promoting multicultural education Comparative Criticism: Volume 22, East and West: Comparative Perspectives E. McMahon identifies a sexual economy defined by the figures of the miser and the shrew caricatures of the retentive self containing man and the overflowing male enervating woman Among these and other characters the author explores the issues surrounding the practice of polygamy the logic of its overvaluation of masculinity and the nature of sexuality generally in Chinese society How does the man with many wives manage and justify his sexual authority Why and how might he escape or limit this presumed authority sometimes to the point of portraying himself as abject before the shrewish woman How do women accommodate or coddle the man or else oppose undermine or remold him And in what sense does the man place himself lower than the spiritually and morally superior woman The most extensive English language study of Chinese literature from the eighteenth century this examination of polygamy will interest not only students of Chinese history culture and literature but also all those concerned with histories of gender and sexuality Licentious Worlds Julie
