Sense-making: Problematizing Constructs of Literacy for 21st Century Education Marilyn J. Narey, Kelli Jo Kerry-Moran, 2021-03-15 This book is a rich yet highly accessible volume that details an exciting and much needed inquiry into the notion of literacy what it is why it is and how it might be framed most effectively for 21st century education The chapters unfold in a creative interplay of practice and theory Narey s insightful questioning into the socio historical cultural implications of literacy as empowerment establishes the critical context while Kerry Moran s examination of the burgeoning literacy landscape reveals challenges for teacher education Drawing upon classic and cutting edge theories Narey builds a provocative and powerful case for a 21st century construct of literacy as sense making sense as relative to the senses i e sight hearing and sense as making meaning Her innovative model of the literacy event opens up a range of potential foci for analysis and facilitates her teasing out of two critical areas for instruction sensory perception and aesthetic knowledge This theoretical sense making lens is applied to Kerry Moran's teacher education classroom as the authors reflect upon further development. As a timely original and thought provoking work, this slim volume of big ideas promises to be a valuable resource for teacher educators and other scholars who seek a clear and cohesive frame for literacy in 21st century education. This is a very well written scholarly text that provides a new and important theory of 21st century literacy. Narey's sketches of literacy as sense making are laid out in logical form building upon researched and referenced sources to ground her ideas and offering the reader information, examples and new insights. In addition to providing many significant perspectives underpinning her new theory, Narey provides excellent historical and current explanations about literacy from highly respected researchers in the field. The inclusion of a practical application of Narey's conceptual theoretical framework to Kerry Moran's example of an instructional unit in a teacher education course is helpful to understanding the theory in practice. The references throughout the work are extensive, comprehensive and very well documented. This text, Sense making: Problematizing Constructs of Literacy for 21st Century Education, contributes original thinking to the field of literacy and learning and would be an excellent resource for literacy and language professors or instructors in a post graduate or professional development program. Penny Silvers, Professor of Education, Dominican University, USA.

The Space and Practice of Reading Chin Ee Loh, 2017-02-10. Mirroring worldwide debates on social class, literacy rates and social change, this study explores the intersection between reading and social class in Singapore, one of the top scorers on the Programme for International Assessment (PISA) tests and questions the rhetoric of social change that does not take into account local spaces and practices. This comparative study of reading practices in an elite school and a government school in Singapore draws on practice and spatial perspectives to provide critical insight into how taken-for-granted practices and spaces of reading can be, in fact, unacknowledged spaces of inequity. Acknowledging the role of social class in shaping reading education is a start to reconfiguring current practices and spaces for more effective and equitable reading practices. This book shows how using localized, contextualized approaches sensitive to the home, school, national and global contexts can lead to more targeted policy and practice transformation in the area of reading instruction and intervention. Chapters in the book include: Becoming a Reader, Home School Connections, Singaporean Boys Constructing Global Literate Selves, School Nation Connections, Levelling the Reading Gap, Socio Spatial Perspectives. The book will be relevant to literacy scholars and educators, library science researchers and sociologists interested in the intersection of class and literacy practices in the 21st century.

Teaching Media in Primary Schools Cary Bazalgette, 2010-10-05. Topics covered include understanding children's relationships with media and how to build on these constructively, getting to grips with multimodality, developing children's critical skills through watching and analysing moving image media and more.

Re-framing Literacy Richard Andrews, 2010-09-13. Imaginative and attractive, cutting edge in its conception, this text explicates a model for the integration of language arts and literacy education based on the notion of framing. The act of framing, not frames in themselves, provides a creative and critical approach to English as a subject Re framing Literacy breaks new ground in the language arts literacy field integrating arts based and sociologically based conceptions of the subject The theory of rhetoric the book describes and which provides its overarching theory is dialogic political and liberating Pedagogically the text works inductively from examples up toward theory starting with visuals and moving back and forth between text and image exploring multimodality and engaging in the transformations of text and image that are at the heart of learning in English and the language arts Structured like a teaching course it is designed to excite and involve readers and lead them toward high level and useful theory in the field Offering an authoritative clear guide to a complex field it is widely appropriate for pre service and in service courses globally in English and language arts education

A Guided Reader for Secondary English David Stevens,2012-08-21 The Guided Reader for Secondary English draws on extracts from the published work of some of the most influential education writers to provide insight guidance and clarity about key issues affecting Secondary English teachers The book brings together key extracts from classic and contemporary writing and contextualises these in both theoretical and practical terms The extracts are accompanied by a summary of the key ideas and issues raised questions to promote discussion and reflective practice and annotated further reading lists to extend thinking Taking a thematic approach and including a short introduction to each theme the chapters cover Theoretical models of curricular English The nature and structure of the Secondary School English curriculum Historical perspectives Texts and intertextuality The arts context for secondary English Assessment and evaluation Linguistic and cultural contexts Future possibilities and tensions Aimed at trainee and newly qualified teachers including those working towards Masters level qualifications as well as existing teachers this accessible but critically provocative text will be an essential resource for those that wish to deepen their understanding of Secondary English Education

The RoutledgeFalmer Reader in Gender & Education Madeleine Arnot,Mairtin Mac An Ghaill,2006-09-27 This new Reader brings together classic pieces of gender theory as well as examples of the sophistication of contemporary gender theory and research methodologies in the field of education Leading international gender researchers address current debates about gender power identity and culture and concerns about boys and girls schooling gender achievement patterns the boys education debate and gender relationships in the curriculum the classroom and youth cultures The Reader is divided into six sections which reflect contemporary concerns about Gender and Education Gender and Educational Theory Difference and Power Identity Work Knowledge and Pedagogy Reflexivity and Risk Gender and Citizenship A specially written Introduction from the editors both experts in feminist and masculinity research provides a much needed context to the current educational climate Undergraduates postgraduates and academics interested in education gender studies and women s studies will find this a stimulating and important resource The analysis of the gender dimensions of the curriculum teaching and alternative pedagogies also provide important insights for practitioners wishing to promote gender equality

among children and adolescents in and out of school contexts are challenging educators and institutions to rethink pedagogies. As educators begin to embrace the pedagogical possibilities of multimodal texts and digital practices they are exploring the complexities of assessing these new literacies. The essays in this book explore what it means to assess the sophisticated textual engagements of new literacies including reading and writing online social networking gaming multimodal composing and creating virtual identities. Chapters offer practical examples of new literacies and examine how assessment provides insight into the diverse ways in which language is conceived valued and used to inform the literate lives of its twenty first century users. Scholars and educators will find this collection full of rich understanding of the assessment concerns raised by new communication practices youth culture digital engagements and semiotic diversification. SLA Research and Materials Development for Language Learning Brian Tomlinson, 2016-05-20. SLA Research and Materials Development for Language Learning is the only book available to focus on the interaction between second language acquisition theory and materials development for language learning. It consists of contributions written by experts in SLA experts in materials development researchers who have expertise in both fields and introductions and conclusions by the editor. The book is organized into four major sections: position statements materials driven by SLA theory evaluations of materials in relation to SLA theory and proposals for action that offer a diverse range of perspectives while maintaining a cohesive and comprehensive overview on the subject. This book is ideal for post graduate courses in applied linguistics and second language acquisition and for researchers interested in the relationship between SLA and materials development.

The Primary English Encyclopedia Margaret Mallett, 2008. This encyclopaedia includes short definitions and explanations of current UK requirements. It includes an introduction identifying the heart of primary English and up to date information and key issues. Inspiring Writing in Primary Schools Liz Chamberlain, Emma Kerrigan-Draper, 2016-05-28. Writing is not a subject it is part of reading of speaking and of listening. Being a writer means being a reader articulating stories and characters listening to tales and learning from other writers. Through teaching exciting and engaging lessons you can help children to discover stories create worlds record events mould characters and inspire each other as writers. Inspiring Writing in Primary Schools helps you to teach writing and to know what a good writing lesson looks and feels like. It gives you all the background theory you need to encourage purposeful writing across the curriculum. It includes exemplar lessons and offers them alongside a detailed exploration of what makes them good and the theory behind them. As a teacher or trainee teacher you can respond more imaginatively to the way you approach and teach writing. This text will help you to seize the opportunity of the new curriculum and inspire fabulous writing in your classroom. Packed with accessible advice engaging examples of research informed practice and new ideas for ways to involve and support young writers it offers primary teachers a breath of fresh air. Emerging from the memorable work of BookTrust's Everybody Writes initiative which was co led by Liz Chamberlain and drawing on her own doctoral research which involved exploring three young writers practices at home and at school the resultant mix of practice and theory theory and practice is very energising The authors take a real world view of writing and recognise and respect each child as a writer and each teacher as a professional a potentially creative pedagogue Teresa Cremin

The Routledge Companion to Children's Literature David Rudd, 2012-07-26 The Routledge Companion to Children's Literature is a vibrant and authoritative exploration of children's literature in all its manifestations It features a series of essays written by expert contributors who provide an illuminating examination of why children's literature is the way it is Topics covered include the history and development of children's literature various theoretical approaches used to explore the texts including narratological methods questions of gender and sexuality along with issues of race and ethnicity realism and fantasy as two prevailing modes of story telling picture books comics and graphic novels as well as young adult fiction and the crossover novel media adaptations and neglected areas of children's literature The Routledge Companion to Children's Literature contains suggestions for further reading throughout plus a helpful timeline and a substantial glossary of key terms and names both established and more cutting edge This is a comprehensive and up to date guide to an increasingly complex and popular discipline

Creativity in Primary Education Anthony Wilson, 2014-12-04 An alien spaceship crash landed in my playground today For one primary school in England this was not an ordinary day It was a fabulous day of inspiration writing drawing discovering and learning for the pupils the staff and the parents But the best thing of all The only truly out of the ordinary thing was the alien spaceship So how do you make creativity a more everyday part of primary teaching Teachers and trainees agree that creativity is a fabulous thing But to get creative approaches into everyday teaching you need to tackle the question what is creativity This book explores this question in an accessible and practical way It helps trainees to do more than know it when they see it by helping them to understand the separate and very diverse elements of creativity The third edition of this popular text retains key material but it has been updated and revised to include two new chapters on the creative curriculum along with links throughout to the Standards and the new National Curriculum This book will help you enhance your teaching so you and the children in your class can be fellow explorers adventurous discoverers and spontaneous investigators
