Organic Farming, Pest Control and Remediation of Soil Pollutants Eric Lichtfouse, 2009-10-15 Sustainable agriculture is a rapidly growing field aiming at producing food and energy in a sustainable way for humans and their children Sustainable agriculture is a discipline that addresses current issues such as climate change increasing food and fuel prices poor nation starvation rich nation obesity water pollution soil erosion fertility loss pest control and biodiversity depletion Novel environmentally friendly solutions are proposed based on integrated knowledge from sciences as diverse as agronomy soil science molecular biology chemistry toxicology ecology economy and social sciences Indeed sustainable agriculture decipher mechanisms of processes that occur from the molecular level to the farming system to the global level at time scales ranging from seconds to centuries For that scientists use the system approach that involves studying components and interactions of a whole system to address scientific economic and social issues In that respect sustainable agriculture is not a classical narrow science Instead of solving problems using the classical painkiller approach that treats only negative impacts sustainable agriculture treats problem sources Because most actual society issues are now intertwined global and fast developing sustainable agriculture will bring solutions to build a safer world This book series gathers review articles that analyze current agricultural issues and knowledge then propose alternative solutions It will therefore help all scientists decision makers professors farmers and politicians who wish to build a safe agriculture energy and food system for future generations

Corporate Crops Gabriela Pechlaner, 2012-12-01 Biotechnology crop production area increased from 1 7 million hectares to 148 million hectares worldwide between 1996 to 2010 While genetically modified food is a contentious issue the debates are usually limited to health and environmental concerns ignoring the broader questions of social control that arise when food production methods become corporate owned intellectual property Drawing on legal documents and dozens of interviews with farmers and other stakeholders Corporate Crops covers four case studies based around litigation between biotechnology corporations and farmers Pechlaner investigates the extent to which the proprietary aspects of biotechnologies from patents on seeds to a plethora of new rules and contractual obligations associated with the technologies are reorganizing crop production The lawsuits include patent infringement litigation launched by Monsanto against a Saskatchewan canola farmer who in turn claimed his crops had been involuntarily contaminated by the company s GM technology a class action application by two Saskatchewan organic canola farmers launched against Monsanto and Aventis later Bayer for the loss of their organic market due to contamination with GMOs and two cases in Mississippi in which Monsanto sued farmers for saving seeds containing its patented GM technology Pechlaner argues that well funded corporate lawyers have a decided advantage over independent farmers in the courts and in creating new forms of power and control in agricultural production Corporate Crops demonstrates the effects of this intersection between the courts and the fields where profits not just a food supply are reaped

Toxicity of Pesticides on Health and Environment Robin

Mesnage, Gilles-Eric Seralini, 2018-12-07 Public policy is regularly shaken by health crises or unexpected discoveries future directions in toxicology assessment are therefore urgently needed Convergent evidences suggest endocrine or nervous disrupting effects of pesticides as well as effects on wildlife and the environment These effects are amplified by the use of surfactants and or combinations of different active principles The usual concepts of regulatory toxicology are challenged by endocrine nervous or immune disruption or epigenetic effects Indeed most pollutants alter cell cell communication systems to promote chronic diseases They may accumulate in the food chain Mixtures effects with other pollutants may change their bioavailability and their toxicity The lack of scientific knowledge in these matters has large costs for public health This Research Topic focuses on the toxic effects of pesticides associated with large scale cultivation of genetically modified GM plants
