Service Industries In The New Economy:

Services Industries and the Knowledge-based Economy Canada. Industry Canada, 2006 Services industries account for almost three quarters of both gross domestic product and employment in Canada a trend that Canada shares with other G 7 countries Furthermore the services sector has been responsible for most of Canada s employment creation and much of its productivity growth over the past decade and the sector s importance to the Canadian economy continues to increase Thirty renowned experts contribute to this volume which is aimed at better understanding the dynamics of Canadian services industries and identifying the types of policies most likely to improve their innovation and productivity performance The Handbook of Service Industries J. R. Bryson, P. W. Daniels, 2007-01-01 It contains an impressive array of important and useful material that should be familiar to anyone interested in economic growth and change the potential value to be gained from these collected works is great James E Pratt Growth and Change Service activities are now acknowledged as key players in economic development societal change and public policy worldwide This exciting Handbook not only contributes to ongoing conceptual debates about the nature of service led economies and societies it also pushes back the frontiers of current critical thinking about the role of service activities in urban and regional development and the important research agendas that remain to be addressed Drawing on both theory and case studies the contributors are international experts who have written original and stimulating chapters from a number of different disciplinary perspectives Each chapter seeks to raise awareness of and to provoke debates about the opportunities and challenges presented by the shift to service employment Providing a truly interdisciplinary analysis The Handbook of Service Industries will be invaluable to scholars specializing in services research as well as students and researchers in the areas of economics geography business and management sociology public policy and planning The policy making community will also find the Handbook a relevant and useful resource

Service Industries and Regions Juan R. Cuadrado-Roura, 2013-03-26 The service sector in most advanced economies accounts for up to seventy percent of employment and GDP and given its growing importance has received much research attention over the last two decades However not very much attention has been paid to the relationship between this sector and both its territorial impact and regional effects The main objective of this book is to offer a comprehensive approach to these aspects focusing particularly on the location factors of service industries and the importance of some specific services such as business services and knowledge and information services The contributions have been prepared by well known experts in the field from a wide number of countries The focus of all contributions is not only on theoretical aspects but also provides empirical analyses on specific countries and topics such as the geographical concentration globalization impacts foreign direct investments and innovation Outsourcing and Service Work in the New Economy José-Luis Álvarez-Galván, 2012-03-15 This book examines the impact of outsourcing on workers and their employment conditions in the new economy To do so the call centre industry in Mexico City is analysed through a large number of in depth interviews with workers and managers available statistics and visits to leading firms in the sector The case of call centres is paradigmatic as it is often seen as a flag ship industry of the new economy rapidly growing and subject to high pressures for costs reduction The Mexican experience is crucially relevant to understand employment conditions in a weak institutional setting where labour protection is low and business competition intense Overall outsourcing has gained popularity as a mechanism to deal with the uncertainty of increasingly challenging business environments Nonetheless the practice of outsourcing also raises important concerns This book identifies those managerial practices which have a substantial impact on workers and their employment conditions such as job designs customer segmentation non standard contracts intensified supervision union avoidance limited career opportunities and strict social divisions in the workplace These findings also suggest that a number of practices that were common in the old economy are still dominant in the organisation of work in the twenty first century The book is a useful reference for scholars and students concerned with employment and labour studies economic development and globalisation

Service Industries and Asia Pacific Cities Peter W. Daniels,Kong Chong Ho,Thomas A. Hutton,Tom Hutton,2005-04 During the second half of the twentieth century development in the Asia Pacific region has been dominated by industrialization However at the beginning of the twenty first century services in particular finance information and creative services have become deeply embedded in the processes of urban growth In Asia Pacific the rise of service industries has lead to national modernization programmes and globalization strategies Services are also driving change in the internal form of city regions and are being actively deployed as instruments of metropolitan reconfiguration and land use changes These changes have created problems such as social polarization and the displacement of traditional industries and residential districts Also there are tensions between local and global processes in the development of service industries and between the imperatives of competitive advantage and sustainable development Service Industries and Asia Pacific Cities brings together a multi disciplinary team of experts to explore and illustrate the theoretical conceptual and practical issues arising from the transformation of Asia Pacific cities by service industries

Capital, Commodity, and English Language Teaching William Simpson,2022-07-28 Capital Commodity and English Language Teaching illustrates how the drive for profit in commercial ELT affects the manner in which language is taught The book looks at education as a form of production and asks how lessons are produced and how the production of profit in addition to the production of the lesson affects the operation of educational institutions and their stakeholders Simpson delivers a theoretically rigorous conception of capital and builds from this an investigation into how the circulation of capital for profit interrelates with the teaching of language Simpson discusses ELT at both a global level in discussion of the ELT industry in the UK the US Ireland Canada Japan Spain and transnationally online as well as at a more local level where finer detailed descriptions of the work lives of those within the Japanese eikaiwa ELT industry are given Drawing on a synthesis of

Marxist and Bourdieusian theory the book outlines a dialectical approach to understanding capital and to understanding how the drive for profit and language education interrelate with one another Simpson concludes by showing how such an approach might open up areas for further research in a number of contexts across the globe as well as in light of the Covid 19 pandemic Providing a model for addressing global issues of ELT this book is of interest to advanced students scholars and professionals within applied linguistics TESOL sociolinguistics and linguistic anthropology language economics and related areas

A Life in Balance? Catherine Krull, Justyna Sempruch, 2011-02-28 Magazine articles talk shows and commercials advise us that our happiness and well being rest on striking a balance between work and family It goes unsaid however that the advice is based on an outmoded and unrealistic ideal This volume reopens the work life balance debate Contributors argue that to truly resolve work family issues we must recognize work and family life as overlapping aspects of a single existence rather than separate and competing spheres A Life in Balance transcends prevailing myths by revealing how paid work employment and unpaid work caregiving and housework continue to be set against each other particularly in support of neo liberal agendas A truly equitable national childcare policy must be informed by alternative approaches to integrating family and paid work such as stay at home fathers family policy in Quebec and work and care in Aboriginal communities
