Ethnoarchaeological Perspectives of Prehistoric Settlement Patterns of South-Central Ganga Valley Shahida Ansari, 2011 Despite the early beginnings of agriculture in the Ganga plains and the Belan valley the hunting gathering way of life has not completely disappeared from the region Communities like the Musahars live almost entirely by small game hunting and gathering whereas others like the Kols combine hunting gathering with some agriculture and the Mallah with fishing and agriculture All three of these communities live a partly nomadic and partly sedentary life and raise several kinds of settlements ranging from temporary ones lasting only a few weeks to permanent ones lasting for many years In the present study the author reconstructs the lifeways of the past inhabitants of this region though the study of the settlements of the three contemporary simple communities The author places a particular emphasis on the relationship between subsistence practices economic activities and mode of the disposal of the dead The inhabited and abandoned residences and other structures of these three communities have been studied in detail topics such as form function construction materials and techniques disposal of cultural refuse and location of burial and cremation grounds are investigated The author compares the contemporary settlements with the excavated settlements of Mesolithic and Neolithic Chalcolithic cultures of the Ganga valley and identifies considerable similarities The author argues that the settlements of the living communities provide useful insights for reconstructing past settlements Archaeology of Population Makkhan Lal, 1984 Living with Floods Sheena Panja, Arun Kumar Nag, Sunando Bandyopadhyay, 2015 This book seeks to understand archaeological sites and their relationship with a dynamic alluvial environment in north Bengal India between c 600 1800 ce with a special focus on the excavations at the site of Balupur Moving away from the prevalent emphasis on the study of art and architecture this work aims to bring back the human to the study of these cultural periods through a study of the formation and changing character of past habitation settlements Multidisciplinary work involving archaeology geography zoology botany sedimentology and paleoanthropology sought to understand the interaction between changes in the landscape and various aspects of cultural adaptation in a zone where humans are constantly living with floods and shifting river courses Efforts have also been made to understand the methodology of studying archaeological sites in a turbulent terrain of the Ganga an aspect not well understood in the Indian context An important contribution of this volume is also a diachronic study of the fluvial environment of this region using rare maps satellite images and field studies Profusely illustrated with numerous maps drawings and photos this book is useful for students and researchers of archaeology history and earth sciences
