Sounding American Jennifer Fleege, 2014-05-01 Sounding American Hollywood Opera and Jazz tells the story of the interaction between musical form film technology and ideas about race ethnicity and the nation during the American cinema's conversion to sound Contrary to most accepted narratives about the conversion which tend to explain the competition between the Hollywood studios film sound technologies in qualitative and economic terms this book argues that the battle between disc and film sound was waged primarily in an aesthetic realm Opera and jazz in particular though long neglected in studies of the film score were extremely important in defining the scope of the American soundtrack not only during the conversion but also once sound had been standardized Examining studio advertisements screenplays scores and the films themselves author Jennifer Fleege concentrates on the interactions between musical form and film technology arguing that each of the major studios appropriated opera and jazz in a unique way in order to construct its own version of an ideal American voice Traditional histories of Hollywood film music have tended to concentrate on the unity of the score a model that assumes a passive spectator Sounding American claims that the classical Hollywood film is essentially an illustrated jazz opera with a musical structure that encourages an active form of listening and viewing in order to make sense of what is ultimately a fragmentary text

British Cinema Robert Shail, 2019-07-25 Seventies British Cinema provides a comprehensive re-evaluation of British film in the 1970s The decade has long been written off in critical discussions as a doldrums period in British cinema perhaps because the industry facing near economic collapse turned to unacceptable low culture genres such as sexploitation comedies or extreme horror The contributors to this new collection argue that 1970s cinema is ripe for reappraisal giving serious critical attention to populist genre films they also consider the development of a British art cinema in the work of Derek Jarman and Peter Greenaway and the beginnings of an independent sector fostered by the BFI Production Board and producers like Don Boyd A host of highly individual directors managed to produce interesting and cinematically innovative work against the odds from Nicolas Roeg to Ken Russell to Mike Hodges As well as providing a historical and cinematic context for understanding Seventies cinema the volume also features chapters addressing Hammer horror the Carry On films Bond films of the Roger Moore period Jubilee and other films that responded to Punk rock heritage cinema and case studies of key seventies films such as The Wicker Man and Straw Dogs In all the book provides the final missing piece in the rediscovery of British cinema's complex and protean history Contributors Ruth Barton James Chapman Ian Conrich Wheeler Winston Dixon Christophe Dupin Steve Gerrard Sheldon Hall I Q Hunter James Leggott Claire Monk Paul Newland Dan North Robert Shail Justin Smith and Sarah Street
