Signs Of Hope Working Towards Our Common Future:

An Analysis of The Brundtland Commission's Our Common Future Ksenia Gerasimova, 2017-07-05 Our Common Future is a joint work produced in 1987 by a United Nations commission headed by former Norwegian Prime Minister Gro Brundtland. Also known as The Brundtland Report, it offers a classic approach to problem solving by first asking a productive question: How do we protect the world we live in for future generations while at the same time stimulating economic and social development right now? The solution the work proposes is sustainable development, defined in the report as humanity's ability to ensure that it meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs. The key conclusion the report came to was that we need long-term strategies to manage the earth's natural resources. This proved to be so universally welcomed that it introduced the term sustainability into the everyday language of international politics. Solving the problem of workable sustainable development became a hot topic, leading to the birth of a new academic discipline: environmental economics. The book offered a solution to the problem of ensuring sustainable development by highlighting the critical importance of international cooperation.

An Introduction to Sustainable Development Jennifer A. Elliott, 2013 The contested nature of sustainable development is explored through a detailed consideration of changing ideas and practices within environmentalism and development thinking.

Trees of Life Kenton Miller, Laura Tangley, 1991-04-30 Staggering statistics and dramatic headlines about the destruction of rain forests: the world's richest ecosystems are only a small part of the devastating story of global deforestation. This volume provides comprehensive coverage of this complex scientific and political catastrophe in the making and examines the costs and the consequences in human, economic, and ecological terms. Also a survey of both contemporary and historical assaults on the world's forests along with their impact on the dependency of native peoples and cultures is chronicled. Specifically within developing nations, the relationships among poverty, population growth, and short-sighted government policies are calculated to be fundamental elements in the acceleration of tropical deforestation. With a special section on North America's old-growth forests, a glossary of special terms, an account of both the importance and relevance of arboreal genetic diversity, an extended list of suggested readings, and appendices listing international and federal organizations which offer educational materials for both individual and classroom use, this book offers important practical resources and makes clear the social, economic, and biological costs of continued global deforestation. Principles of International Environmental Law Philippe Sands, 2003-10-09 This second edition of Philippe Sands's leading textbook on international environmental law provides a clear and authoritative introduction to the subject, revised to December 2002. It considers relevant new topics including the Kyoto Protocol, genetically modified organisms, oil pollution, chemicals, etc., and will remain the most comprehensive account of the principles and rules relating to environmental protection and the conservation of natural resources. In addition to the key material from the 1992 Rio Declaration and subsequent developments, Sands also covers topics including the legal and institutional framework, the field's historic development and standards for general application This will continue to be an invaluable resource for both students and practitioners alike

Behavior and Environment T. Garling,R.G. Golledge,1993-01-28 Active researchers in the areas of geography and psychology have contributed to this book Both fields are capable of increasing our scientific knowledge of how human behavior is interfaced with the molar physical environment Such knowledge is essential for the solution of many of today s most urgent environmental problems Failure to constrain use of scarce resources pollution due to human activities creation of technological hazards and deteriorating urban quality due to vandalism and crime are all well known examples The influence of psychology in geographical research has long been appreciated but it is only recently that psychologists have recognized they have something to learn from geography In identifying the importance of two way interdisciplinary communication a psychologist and a geographer have been invited to each write a chapter in this book on a designated topic so that close comparisons can be drawn as to how the two disciplines approach the same difficulties Since the disciplines are to some extent complementary it is hoped that this close collaboration will have synergistic effects on the attempts of both to find solutions to environmental problems through an increased understanding of the many behavior environment interfaces

Historical Dictionary of the Green Movement Miranda Schreurs,Elim Papadakis,2020-02-26 There are very serious environmental problems facing the planet Biodiversity loss has reached unprecedented levels Climate change is progressing so rapidly that within this century we are likely to see substantial sea level rise There has been dramatic loss of tropical rainforests Plastic pollution is killing wildlife and polluting our oceans Various movements old and new are addressing these green issues Civil society activism has taken on new strategies with the emergence of new technologies and global networks of green activists have formed A new generation of green activists are emerging and boldly criticizing the status quo At the same time in some parts of the world green movements that looked like they were beginning to gain a political foothold or were even doing quite well are in retreat The reasons are complex Some suffer from lack of funding and hostile political and legal environments Others are being attacked by populist politicians who see green activism as a threat The second edition of Historical Dictionary of the Green Movement contains a chronology an introduction and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 300 cross referenced on green movements green politics green trends and major environmental agreements and events This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about the green movement

Educating Beyond Violent Futures Francis Hutchinson,2005-06-27 As we enter the Twenty First Century it is easy to assume that worsening trends in violence will be a feature of our lives whether in our schools our societies or as a species Educating Beyond Violent Futures challenges assumptions that trends in violence are destiny and raises crucial questions about choice and engagement Drawing upon new research this book is essential reading for those who want to prepare our children for living constructively in the next century

Ethics and Sustainable Agriculture Fabio Caporali,2021-10-18 This book describes the alarming condition of agriculture in the Anthropocene when the ethical conception of agriculture as a service of common utility for both society and environment has progressively been marginalized The ethical utility of agriculture has been sidetracked with the increasing industrialisation of society the involvement of agriculture in the business as usual economy and the consequential environmental and societal impacts it has had Thus re establishing a meaningful bridge between ethics and agriculture is necessary A relatively new science ecology with both a new epistemological tool that of the ecosystem concept and a unique narrative of sustainable development can help bridge this gap This book focuses on ethics as a lever for raising scientific technical social economic and political solutions to adopt in agriculture as a model of symbiotic relationships between man and nature It provides a detailed discussion of the ecological intensification practices in order to maximize ecological and ethical services wherein agroecosystems will follow

Shadows in the Forest Peter Dauvergne,1997 This book is the first to analyze the environmental impact of Japanese trade corporations and aid on timber management in the context of Southeast Asian political economies It is also one of the first comprehensive studies of why Southeast Asian states are unable to enforce forest policies and regulations

The Illusion of Progress Alexander Gillespie,2014-10-14 Is sustainable development a charade sold to an increasingly misled public This book presents a wide ranging penetrating critique of sustainability and what it actually means The author argues that despite the rhetoric of socially and environmentally sustainable development and the ever increasing number of legislative environmental policies the real issues such as consumption population growth and equity are either sidestepped or manipulated in international policy and law Analyzing the main areas of concern economic growth market structure trade aid debt security and sovereignty he shows that the entire development structure and the underpinnings of the debate are leading down quite a different path to that intended by sustainability Environmental Activism and World Civic Politics Paul Wapner,1996-01-04 A theoretical study of the politics of transnational environmental activist groups such as Greenpeace Friends of the Earth and the World Wildlife Fund that argues that environmental activists practice world civic politics and play a central role in the way the world addresses environmental issues Environmental Resources A.S. Mather,K. Chapman,2018-10-08 Environmental Resources provides a comprehensive text for undergraduate resource management courses It begins with an introduction to natural and environmental resources and then considers them in the context of politics time and space United Nations Reform Eric Fawcett,Hanna Newcombe,1996-09-12 The UN needs reform in order to meet the challenges of the unbalanced and alienated world whose outline is now on the horizon

The A to Z of the Green Movement Miranda Schreurs,Elim Papadakis,2009-09-21 Human beings have been concerned about nature and their place in it for millennia Disquiet about the consequences of human action on the natural environment date back to the ancient Greeks and Romans The efforts of the green movement can be traced back to the 19th century In this period individuals groups and organizations began campaigning for the conservation and preservation of natural areas and the protection of wildlife species Efforts to combat pollution also began It was not until the 1960s however that the green movement in its more modern incarnation emerged The green movements that arose at this time maintained the concerns with conservation preservation and industrial pollution held by earlier generations but added to their agenda new issues including justice equality participatory democracy and sustainability The A to Z of the Green Movement provides a detailed and comprehensive overview of green parties and movements green issues and green concepts This is done through a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography and hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries on countries in the world where green parties or proto parties have formed green movement organizations major international environmental conferences and green concepts This useful reference will be greatly valued by students academics journalists and policymakers alike Corporate Social Responsibility in Europe Samuel O. Idowu,René Schmidpeter,Matthias S. Fifka,2015-02-12 This book explores the current state of Corporate Social Responsibility CSR in 24 European nations examining the state of the development and practice of CSR and sustainability for organizations in these countries The common denominator for all of the book s 25 chapters is a management perspective rather than an ethical discourse The book therefore represents a comprehensive survey of initiatives and activities in the field of CSR and provides a wealth of complete cases and examples for different approaches to sustainable and responsible management practice The book also reviews the relevant political and governmental guidelines and frameworks for organizations both on a national and a European level Europe has taken a leading role in the promotion and implementation of CSR This book showcases how through CSR enterprises can significantly contribute to achieving the European Union's treaty objectives of sustainable development and a highly competitive social market economy Air Transport and the Environment Ben Daley, 2016-04-01

Air Transport and the Environment provides an overview of the main issues relating to aviation environmental impacts. It explains the challenge facing policymakers in terms of sustainable development focusing on the importance of balancing the industry's economic, social and environmental costs and benefits both for people living now and for future generations. Individual chapters review the current scientific understanding of the main aviation environmental impacts: climate change, local air pollution and aircraft noise. Various responses to those issues are also considered, including a range of policy options based on regulatory, market-based and voluntary approaches. Key concepts such as environmental capacity, radiative forcing and carbon offsetting are explained. In addition, the book emphasises the main implications of aviation environmental issues for policymakers and for the management of the air transport industry. Debates about the environmental impacts of flying often generate strongly polarised reactions, yet this book adopts a constructive approach to the subject and attempts to present the environmental issues in a clear, straightforward manner. It aims to provide a policy-relevant synthesis of a wide range of perspectives rather than advocating one particular viewpoint. Yet the central purpose of this book is to bring the sustainable development challenge facing the air transport industry to the fore and so to inform effective policy responses. Air transport plays a critical role in supporting economies and societies that are increasingly interconnected by globalisation; this book presents the view that the vital economic and social benefits of the air transport industry should not be lost and, in fact, could be distributed far more widely and equitably, but that the environmental impacts of air transport nevertheless require urgent and effective management. Air Transport and the Environment has been written primarily for professionals in the air transport industry, policymakers and regulators. It is also intended for use by academic researchers, students and others who are interested in the complex relationship between air transport and the environment.
