Sex Work in Colonial Egypt Francesca Biancani, 2018-07-30. In the early 20th century, Cairo was a vibrant and booming global metropolis. The integration of Egypt into the global market had led to rapid urban growth and increased migration. As occupational prospects for women outside the family were limited, sex work became a prominent feature of the new modern city. However, the economic and social changes in Egypt ignited national anxieties about racial degeneration, social disorder, and imperial decadence. Francesca Biancani argues here that this was a period of national crisis that became inscribed on the bodies of female sex workers. Based on a wide range of rare primary sources, including documents from court cases, reformist papers, police minutes, and letters, Biancani examines the discourses around sex workers and shows how prostitution was understood in colonial Egypt. The book argues that from initially regulating and managing prostitution, local and colonial elites began to depict sex workers as a threat to the physical and moral welfare of the rising Egyptian nation. However, far from being a marginal activity, prostitution is shown to play a central role in the history of the Egyptian nation-making. By exploring the interdependence of power and marginality, respectability and transgression, Biancani writes sex work and its practitioners back into the history of modern Egypt. The book is an original contribution to the global history of prostitution and a vital resource for scholars of Middle East Studies.

The Oxford Handbook of Modern Egyptian History Beth Baron, Jeffrey Culang, 2024. Until relatively recently, scholars of Egyptian history understood the modern period to begin with the movement of European people and ideas to Egypt's northern shores, precipitated by Napoleon's invasion in 1798. From this perspective, modern Egyptian history was animated by the diverse and sometimes contradictory ways in which Egyptians responded over time to colonial power and modern forms of knowledge. This handbook, featuring 26 originally commissioned essays by top scholars in the field, adds to a growing literature that complicates the facile colonizer/colonized and modern/tradition binaries undergirding this view. Modern Egyptian history is a continuous process of translation and adaptation, invention and reinvention. Bringing together a dynamic and accomplished group of historians of Egypt, the book maps the present state of modern Egyptian history, highlighting the most promising avenues of research and laying new ground upon which future generations of scholars may build. The contributors address both long-persisting themes in the field, though in new ways, as well as new themes reshaping how we understand modern

Egyptian history and thus Middle Eastern and global history These include environment family infrastructure intellectuals labor law literature medicine politics popular culture and slavery Within these categories they explore issues of gender race and class The questions these scholars consider reflect pressing contemporary concerns and debates including medical sovereignty and bodily autonomy the management of the environment the rights and movements of workers courts and legal struggles cultural expression production and reception and the relationship between the army state and society

The Large Landowning Class and the Peasantry in Egypt, 1837-1952 Raouf Abbas, Assem El-Dessouky, 2022-09-01 In Egypt the landowning class first arose in the early part of the nineteenth century from land grants given to extended family members and friends of the ruler Muhammad Ali The development of capitalism and with it the evolution of law and social practice allowed these land grants gradually to take on the attributes of private property a process that culminated in 1891 in land becoming a form of property like any other From these developments a class of large landowners emerged and began to defend their interests both economic and political In two seminal Arabic works published in the 1970s the authors Abbas and El Dessouky traced the formation of this class exploring the multiple factors that influenced the rise and power of landowners Combined into one volume and translated into English for the first time this book offers a comprehensive analysis of landownership and its effects on Egyptian society The authors draw from extensive archival sources successfully integrating in their work the competing forces of the state the landlords and the peasants By moving beyond much of the familiar scholarship on landholders this book presents a new interpretation of Egyptian politics and society

Expanding Nationalisms at World's Fairs David Raizman, Ethan Robey, 2017-10-23 Expanding Nationalisms at World's Fairs Identity Diversity and Exchange 1851-1915 introduces the subject of international exhibitions to art and design historians and a wider audience as a resource for understanding the broad and varied political meanings of design during a period of rapid industrialization developing nationalism imperialism expanding trade and the emergence of a consumer society Its chapters written by both established and emerging scholars are global in scope and demonstrate specific networks of communication and exchange among designers manufacturers markets and nations on the modern world stage from the second half of the nineteenth century into the beginning of the twentieth Within the overarching theme of nationalism and internationalism as revealed at world's fairs the book's essays will engage a more complex understanding of ideas of competition and community in an age of emergent industrial capitalism and will investigate the nuances contradictions and marginalized voices that lie beneath the surface of unity progress and global expansion

Tell This in My Memory Eve M. Troutt Powell, 2012-11-14 In the late nineteenth century an active slave trade sustained social and economic networks across the Ottoman Empire and throughout Egypt Sudan the Caucasus and Western Europe Unlike the Atlantic trade slavery in this region crossed and mixed racial and ethnic lines Fair-skinned Circassian men and women were as vulnerable to enslavement in the Nile Valley as were teenagers from Sudan or Ethiopia Tell This in My Memory opens up a new window in the study of slavery in the modern

Middle East taking up personal narratives of slaves and slave owners to shed light on the anxieties and intimacies of personal experience The framework of racial identity constructed through these stories proves instrumental in explaining how countries later confronted or not the legacy of the slave trade Today these vocabularies of slavery live on for contemporary refugees whose forced migrations often replicate the journeys and stigmas faced by slaves in the nineteenth century

Rajagopalan,2017-03-01 Building Histories offers innovative accounts of five medieval monuments in Delhi the Red Fort Rasul Numa Dargah Jama Masjid Purana Qila and the Qutb complex tracing their modern lives from the nineteenth century into the twentieth Mrinalini Rajagopalan argues that the modern construction of the history of these monuments entailed the careful selection manipulation and regulation of the past by both the colonial and later postcolonial states Although framed as objective archival truths these histories were meant to erase or marginalize the powerful and persistent affective appropriations of the monuments by groups who often existed outside the center of power By analyzing these archival and affective histories together Rajagopalan works to redefine the historic monument far from a symbol of a specific past the monument is shown in Building Histories to be a culturally mutable object with multiple stories to tell The SAGE Handbook of Architectural Theory C.
