Making Connections :

Making Connections High Intermediate Teacher's Manual Kenneth J. Pakenham, 2005-07-11 The Teacher's Manual contains teaching suggestions and an answer key for the Student's Book Making Connections Kathleen Pithouse, Claudia Mitchell, Relebohile Moletsane, 2009 This book follows on from a symposium that was held in Durban South Africa in July 2007 The symposium was called Seeing for Ourselves Exploring the Practice of Self Study in Teaching Learning and Researching for Social Change The Durban Symposium as called in this book was actually the second in a series of invitational international symposia organized through the second in a series of invitational international symposia organized through the Centre for Visual Methodologies for Social Change in the Faculty of Education University of KwaZulu Natal Committed as it is to the use of visual and other participatory methods within textual research in order to bring about social action the Centre for Visual Methodologies for Social Change started off its symposia series with Putting People in the Picture an event that eventually led to the publication of an edited book Putting People in the Picture Visual Methodologies for Social Change edited by Naydene de Lange Claudia Mitchell Jean Stuart 2007 Making Connections Mary Kennedy, Cathy Lubelska, Val Walsh, 2005-08-04 First Published in 1993 This is a wide ranging collection of essays bringing together contributions which address key issues and debates in contemporary women's studies and feminism The variety of feminist identities and perspectives which emerge from these pages reveals the extent to which the diversities of women's experiences continue to reshape feminist knowledge and politics A recurrent theme is how to work with our diversities and to make connections which do not recreate hierarchies or oppressive practices privileging the experiences and aims of some women over those of others Making Connections is an important contribution to ongoing feminist debates Making Connections Carol Gilligan, Nona Lyons, Trudy J. Hanmer, 1990 These essays are a series of exercises en route to a new psychology of adolescence and of women and part of a process that they also describe of changing a tradition by including girls voices of listening to girls and asking again about the meaning of self relationship and morality concepts central to any psychology of human development Making Connections , 2006-01-01 In this book comparisons are made between the practices of classrooms in a variety of different school systems around the world The abiding challenge for classroom research is the realization of structure in diversity The structure in this case takes the form of patterns of participation regularities in the social practices of mathematics classrooms The expansion of our field of view to include international rather than just local classrooms increases the diversity and heightens the challenge of the search for structure while increasing the significance of any structures once found In particular this book reports on the use of lesson events as an entry point for the analysis of lesson structure International research offers opportunities to study settings and characteristics untenable in the researcher's local situation Importantly international comparative studies can reveal possibilities for practice that would go unrecognized within the established norms of educational practice of one country or one culture Our capacity to conceive of alternatives to our current practice is constrained by deep rooted assumptions reflecting cultural and societal values that we lack the perspective to question The comparisons made possible by international research facilitate our identification and interrogation of these assumptions Such interrogation opens up possibilities for innovation that might not otherwise be identified expanding the repertoire of mathematics teachers internationally and providing the basis for theory development Making Connections Peggy Hackney, 2020-08-26 This book explores how we go about creating the connections within us that allow us to become fully embodied human beings in the world It provides some very personal memories of Irmgard Bartenieff and the development of her approach to Fundamentals

Making Connections Margaret Walsh, 2017-05-15 This book argues that legal persuasion results from making and breaking mental connections To support this argument it follows a cognitive science roadmap while the authors road test the directions through rhetorical analysis By taking a rhetorical approach to persuasion the authors are able to integrate research from cognitive science with classical and contemporary rhetorical theory and then to apply both to the taking apart and the putting together of effective legal arguments The combination of rhetorical analysis and cognitive science yields a new way of seeing and understanding legal persuasion one that promises theoretical and practical gains The work has three main functions First it brings together the leading models of persuasion from cognitive science and rhetorical theory blurring boundaries and leverage connections between the often separate spheres of science and rhetoric Second it illustrates this persuasive synthesis by working through concrete examples of persuasion from real life legal contexts In this way the book demonstrates the advantages of a deeper and more nuanced understanding of persuasion Third the volume assesses and explains why how and when certain persuasive methods and techniques are more effective than others The book is designed to appeal to scholars in law rhetoric persuasion science and psychology to students learning the practice of law and to judges and practicing lawyers who engage in persuasion

Making Connections Marilyn Naidoo, 2021-11-19 Because of the disconnect within the curriculum and the lack of contextual relevance African theological education is still searching for appropriate approaches to ministerial training Integrative theological education refers to systematic attempts to connect major learning experiences appropriate to the education and formation of ministers It is seen as a solution to connect and transform ministry training The main premise of this book is that the key to enhancing theological education is the intentional integration of knowing with being and doing of theory with practice and of theology with life and ministry In this way all aspects of student learning are brought together holistically highlighting an educational strategy that is concerned with connections in human experience thereby supporting student learning Making Connections offers the opportunity to consider integration as an appropriate pedagogical approach to create the correct balance in making education more meaningful and fulfilling for the African revealing humanising education grounded in African philosophy and worldview
