Brett, 2012-10-15 When it was first published in 2001 Negotiating Globally quickly became the basic reference for managers who needed to learn how to negotiate successfully across boundaries of national culture This thoroughly revised and expanded second edition preserves the structure of the acclaimed first edition and improves upon it making it even easier to learn how to navigate national culture when negotiating deals resolving disputes and making decisions in teams Rather than offering country specific protocol and customs Negotiating Globally provides a general framework to help negotiators anticipate and manage cultural differences This new edition incorporates the lessons of the latest research with new emphasis on executing a negotiation strategy and negotiating conflict in multicultural teams The well received chapter on Government At and Around the Table has been expanded and updated with new examples that span the globe In this comprehensive resource Jeanne M Brett describes how to develop a negotiation planning document and shows how to execute the plan She provides a model that explains how the cultural environment affects negotiators interests priorities and strategies She provides benchmarks for distinguishing good deals from poor ones and good negotiators from poor ones The book explains how resolving disputes is different from making deals and how negotiation strategy can be used in multicultural teams Negotiating Globally challenges negotiators to expand their repertoire of strategies so that they will be able to close deals resolve disputes and get teams to make decisions Political Space Yale H. Ferguson, R. J. Barry Jones, 2002-09-12 Applies the concept of space to international relations to arrive at novel interpretations Global Smarts Sheida Hodge, 2000-04-18 It may not surprise you to learn that seventy percent of cross border joint ventures fail within the first three years But did you know that the reason most commonly cited by transnational executives for this phenomenal failure rate isn't geopolitics global competition or economic volatility but culture clash As one frustrated transnational manager quipped How are you supposed to get all your ducks in a row when half of them think they're turtles Why despite the vast sums spent each year on cross cultural executive training do so many well laid business plans continue to fall apart under the strain of cultural differences Author Sheida Hodge finds the answer in the training itself which typically focuses on the ten percent of the iceberg above the surface how to bow or shake hands whether to cross your legs what gestures to use Much more dangerous is the ninety percent of the iceberg that is under water the deep seated cultural values on which

unsuspecting executives routinely founder In this book as in her world renowned training courses and seminars Hodge departs from the common practice of drilling readers in the do s and don ts of doing business in various cultures She concentrates instead on helping you build cross cultural competence by acquainting you with the basic values beliefs and biases that inform the business styles in most Asian Latin American and European cultures Rather than simply offering tips on how to eat and what colors to wear which do appear in abundance throughout the book she coaches you in a proven set of strategies and skills that will enable you to successfully navigate the people dimension of doing business virtually anywhere in the world For Hodge learning to see past one s own cultural hobbyhorses while avoiding getting trampled by everyone else s is the first big step toward succeeding in global business Thus most of her discussions of specific cultural differences start by exploring values and business practices that seem natural to North Americans and go on to show how they differ from values and practices in other cultures To better illustrate her points she has included anecdotes throughout told by managers from North America and around the world that provide vivid sometimes hilarious object lessons in how minor cultural frictions and misunderstandings can mushroom into major business disasters A complete guide to building solid cross border business relationships Global Smarts is must reading for all managers and entrepreneurs in today s global business world Proven strategies for breaking down cultural barriers and building prosperous business relationships anywhere in the world American executives need to know how to communicate effectively with their associates around the world to remain competitive In Global Smarts Sheida Hodge a successful international entrepreneur and one of the most sought after cross cultural business trainers shares her proven strategies for successfully dealing with such issues as language barriers culture shock international negotiation tactics and how to establish trust on a cross cultural basis Unlike other authors who merely list the various do s and don ts of doing business in specific regions Hodge helps you to develop a high degree of cross cultural competency that translates into an unbeatable competitive edge virtually anywhere in the world Packed with practical insider tips and eye opening anecdotes from cross cultural managers from the United States and other countries this thoroughly engaging guide is an indispensable resource for anyone doing business in today s global business world countries and acknowledge the changing dynamics in the global economy and in trade decision making States and Sovereignty in the Global Economy David A. Smith, Dorothy J. Solinger, Steven C. Topik, 1999-06-24 With editors and contributors of outstanding academic reputation this exciting new book presents an unconventional and radical perspective revealing that states do still matter Executive Diplomacy and the Art of Strategic Negotiations Marc Burbridge, 2020-11-02 Executive Diplomacy and the Art of Strategic Negotiations By Marc Burbridge What does it take for a manager or executive to be something more than just another in the myriad of those who make up corporate leadership or for a corporate culture to be more than just one more follow me This book provides a new fresh look at how things can be and it does so by simple taking a few lessons from the ancient art of diplomacy and applying them to the Executive Diplomat and a corporate culture described as Executive Diplomacy Typically corporate executives are taught and encouraged to be assertive bordering on aggressive and so they often are They do so without realizing that one can easily be assertive while failing to be effective In the same manner they celebrate the signing of a contract while ignoring that the objective is not the signing of the contract but rather its effective implementation Often their bonus blinds them from the value of a more diplomatic approach a more lucrative one We invite the reader to step beyond yesterday and explore something new and innovative where empowered executive alignment opens the pathway to a more meaningful corporate culture and better results in high value strategic negotiations in the new reality We suggest you start with the Preface of this book or by visiting www.executivediplomacy.org Building a Low-carbon Economy Great Britain. Committee on Climate Change, 2008 Climate change resulting from CO₂ and other greenhouse gas emissions poses a huge threat to human welfare To contain that threat the world needs to cut emissions by about 50 per cent by 2050 and to start cutting emissions now A global agreement to take action is vital A fair global deal will require the UK to cut emissions by at least 80 per cent below 1990 levels by 2050 In this report the Committee on Climate Change explains why the UK should aim for an 80 per cent reduction by 2050 and how that is attainable and then recommends the first three budgets that will define the path to 2022 But the path is attainable at manageable cost and following it is essential if the UK is to play its fair part in avoiding the far higher costs of harmful climate change Part 1 of the report addresses the 2050 target The 80 per cent target should apply to the sum of all sectors of the UK economy including international aviation and shipping The costs to the UK from this level of emissions reduction can be made affordable estimated at between 1.2 per cent of GDP in 2050 In part 2 the Committee sets out the first three carbon budgets covering the period 2008-22 and examines the feasible reductions possible in various sectors decarbonising the power sector energy use in buildings and industry reducing domestic transport emissions reducing emissions of non CO₂ greenhouse gases economy wide emissions reductions to meet budgets The third part of the report examines wider economic and social impacts from budgets including competitiveness fuel poverty security of supply and differences in circumstances between the regions of the UK Global Business Law John Warren Head, 2007 This text with its accompanying documentary Handbook for Global Business Law substantially revises and updates the very popular first edition of Global Business Law by David Frisch and Raj Bhala In doing so this second edition provides students of international business law especially in law schools but also in practice with a clear story line that addresses key questions facing international business lawyers as they advise clients on the three main forms of international business commercial sales licensing franchising and foreign direct investment In particular the new edition provides helpful chapter overviews and Study Questions to highlight key elements to be drawn from the material These new features together with a streamlining of case reports and secondary materials a modest restructuring of the topics presented additional illustrations and sample forms and an updating from the earlier edition combine to make this text a clean and comprehensive introduction to the principles and practice of global business law
