

Download Making Better Buildings: A Comparative Guide to Sustainable Construction for Homeowners and Contractors Kindle

Sustainable building from the ground up - the pros and cons of the latest green and natural materials and technologies From foundation to finish, a wealth of information is available on sustainable construction methods-entire volumes have been published on individual green and natural building techniques. But with so many different ideas to choose from, there is no single resource that allows an owner or builder to quickly and objectively compare the merits of each system for their particular project. Making Better Buildings cuts through the hype and provides the unvarnished facts about the upsides and downsides of the most widely discussed materials and technologies. Drawing on the real-world experiences of designer/builders, this comparative guide systematically and comprehensively examines each approach in terms of: Cost,

Schools as Community Hubs Benjamin Cleveland,Sarah Backhouse,Philippa Chandler,Ian McShane,Janet M. Clinton,Clare Newton,2023-04-19 This open access book brings together research on the planning design governance and management of schools as community hubs places that support the development of better connected more highly integrated and more resilient communities with education at the centre It explores opportunities and difficulties associated with bringing schools and communities closer together with a focus on the facilities needed to accommodate shared experiences that generate social capital and deliver reciprocal benefits This book discusses the expanded roles of schools and investigates how schools may offer more to their communities historically currently and into the future with respect to the role of the built environment in situating community activities and services Organised around four sections it showcases important areas of development in the field via an interdisciplinary approach which weaves together empirical research with theoretical insights and practical examples This book not only highlights the challenges associated with the development of schools as community hubs but offers evidence based insights into how to overcome such hurdles to develop community facing schools into the future Developing Community Schools, Community Learning Centers, Extended-service Schools and Multi-service Schools Hal A. Lawson,Dolf van Veen,2015-12-14 This book focuses on special organizational configurations for schools in diverse parts of the world Some of these new organizational and institutional designs are called multi service schools others are called extended service schools and still others are called community learning centers While these schools have different names and notable different characteristics they belong in the same category because of a common feature in their design they connect schools with once separate community programs and services Chief among the prototypes for these new organizational and institutional designs are the ones featured in the book s title Some are called multi service schools to indicate that they selectively provide some new programs and services Others are called extended service schools to indicate that they serve young people beyond the regular school day seeking influence and control over out of school time while enabling alternative teaching learning strategies and providing services other than typical pupil support services Still others are called community learning centers a name that showcases the educational functions and priorities of schools and announcing priorities for adult learning and development Community schools still called in some places full service community schools serves as a prototype that increasingly positions schools as multi purpose multi component anchor institutions serving identifiable neighborhoods and entire rural communities The book is structured to enhance understanding of these organizational prototypes and provides comparative social analysis It also identifies knowledge needs and gaps as well as developmental territory for the future
