Making Of The New Europe:

Making the New Europe M. L. Smith, Peter M.R. Stirk, 2016-10-06 This volume evaluates the notion of European Unity in a period when European identity was subjected to the destructive consequences of Nazi and Fascist domination of much of the Continent By presenting the competing visions of transformation and reconstruction played out during the war years the book aims to provide broader based and more complex insights into forces that shaped the post war period than those in conventional accounts that locate the thinking about European unity only in the years after 1945 Focus: Music, Nationalism, and the Making of a New Europe Philip V. Bohlman, 2010-09-13 Focus Music Nationalism and the Making of the New Europe surveys the intersection of music and nationalism by tracing its historical development and documenting its persistence today Contrasting different types of music reveals how music expresses core ideas of nationalism for example folk music in the nineteenth century and popular music in the twenty first Public Opinion and the Making of Foreign Policy in the 'New Europe' Nathaniel Copsey, 2016-04-15 By drawing a new boundary between the EU and its eastern neighbours the European Union has since 1989 created a frontier that has been popularly described in the frontier states as the new Berlin Wall This book is the first comparative study of the impact of public opinion on the making of foreign policy in two Eastern European states on either side of the divide Poland and Ukraine Focusing on the vocal informed segment of public opinion and drawing on results of both opinion polls and a series of innovative focus groups gathered since the Orange Revolution Nathaniel Copsey unravels the mystery of how this crucial segment of the public impacts on foreign policy makers in both states He also takes a closer look at the business community and the importance of economic factors in forming public opinion The book presents a fresh approach to our understanding of how the public's view of the past influences contemporary politics Political Parties in the New Europe Kurt Richard Luther, Ferdinand Müller-Rommel, 2002 The scope and intensity of the challenges currently faced by western European political parties is exceptionally large threatening the viability of the manner in which they have traditionally operated and causing them to seek new behaviours and strategies This volume brings together some of the foremost scholars of European party politics whose evaluation of political parties in the new Europe is organised under four broad headings Parties and Society Parties as Purposive Organisations Parties and National Government and Parties the Nation State and Beyond The contributors review the latest empirical findings and provide a concise critical review of the theoretical and methodological state of the art They also highlight the analytical challenges confronting party researchers and suggest new avenues for party research Separatism and Sovereignty in the New Europe Janet Laible, 2008-11-23 This book investigates why despite European integration separatist nationalism continues to thrive in EU member states Laible demonstrates that the EU sustains the importance of statehood and therefore separatism and creates new forms of political capital that nationalists employ in their struggles for self government Negotiating Diplomacy in the New Europe Stefanos Katsikas, 2011-10-30 Bulgaria has faced previously unimaginable pressures over the last two decades as it struggles to adapt to a post Communist landscape and to reform both state and society in the wake of the fall of the Soviet Union while facing the challenge of increased efforts by NATO and the EU to expand into this region In Negotiating Diplomacy in the New Europe Stefanos Katsikas sheds new light on the mechanisms and factors which have influenced the making and shaping of Bulgarian foreign policy examining the extent to which both domestic factors and the international environment have affected its trajectory Following the promulgation of Gorbachev's now famous policies of glasnost and perestroika and the fall from power of the Bulgarian Communist Party led at the time by Todor Zhivkov many have directly attributed Bulgaria's changes in foreign policy to the processes of democratization witnessed throughout Eastern Europe However although this was to some extent the case the commonalities shared with the country's foreign policy during the Cold War era leave in question the extent to which the effects of democratization alone suffice to explain Sofia's post communist diplomatic and strategic policies By analysing the influencing factors of Bulgaria's foreign policy since 1989 Katsikas considers factors such as domestic policies as well as the effects of EU and NATO efforts to expand their influence and membership Rich in primary sources including personal interviews with key protagonists who have dominated foreign policy making in both communist and post communist Bulgaria Negotiating Diplomacy in the New Europe examines the shift of foreign relations not only within the context of post Cold War democratization but also the country's integration into wider Euro Atlantic frameworks It thus holds invaluable analysis for researchers of Europe's post communist international relations as well as those interested in the processes of democratization and those of foreign policy formation

The Politics of the New Europe Ian Budge, Kenneth Newton, 2014-01-21 A pioneering textbook which explains the dynamics of politics across Europe in the post Cold war era Comparing democratisation transition to a market economy and increasing economic and political integration in the countries of central and eastern Europe with experiences in Scandinavia and southern and western Europe the book provides a wealth of information and analysis on the state of Europe at the end of a momentous century of European and World history

Tourism in the New Europe Derek R. Hall, Melanie K. Smith, Barbara Marciszewska, 2006-01-01 This book examines the implications of EU enlargement for tourism in the region It provides a country by country examination of each of the new member states in terms of their current patterns and trends of tourism development and the impacts of EU accession on them Topics include historical trajectories of the European tourism development process new structural and geographical patterns of European tourism the politics of EU enlargement and implications for tourism policy regional national and local economic development trends social and cultural implications of transition and accession tourism education in the new Europe and the marketing and re branding of accession countries

Immigration and Politics in the New Europe Gallya Lahav, 2004-04-22 With almost a quarter of the world's migrants Europe has been attempting to regulate migration and harmonize immigration policy at the European level The central dilemma exposed is how liberal democracies can reconcile the need to control the movement of people with the desire to promote open borders free markets and liberal standards Gallya Lahav's book traces ten years of public opinion and elite attitudes toward immigration cross nationally to show how and why increasing EU integration may not necessarily lead to more open immigration outcomes Empirical evidence reveals that support from both elite and public opinion has led to the adoption of restrictive immigration policies despite the requirements of open borders Unique in bringing together original data on European legislators and national elites longitudinal data on public opinion and institutional and policy analyses this 2004 study provides an important insight into the processes of European integration and globalization more broadly New Europe, New Germany, Old Foreign Policy? Douglas Webber, 2001 The contributions to this volume analyze how and the extent to which German foreign and European policy has changed since German unification Europeanization of Environmental Policy in the New Europe Mats Braun, 2016-04-22 Prior to the European Union EU 2004 2007 enlargement there were several predictions that this event would hamper progressive decision making within the EU on environmental policy It was believed that the new member states had adopted EU rules as a consequence of the EU's conditionality and consequently they would rather slow down the reform speed in the field after accession In this book Mats Braun offers an up to date account of how post communist member states have handled policy initiatives in the field of environmental policy after accession Using detailed case studies of how Bulgaria the Czech Republic Poland and Romania dealt with two different EU policy initiatives REACH and the Climate Energy Package he explores whether social norms and the process of socialization can help us understand why the track record of new member states in the area of environmental policy is more varied than was originally envisaged prior to enlargement The Nordic Countries and the New Europe Pär Stenbäck, 1997 New York and the New Europe, 1994 Provides information on the implications of the New Europe and the opportunities it presents Addresses the issues most relevant to small and medium sized companies seeking to enter European markets or expand sales there Discusses opportunities in 3 industries medical instruments electronic components and business services Applicable to all states and localities Charts tables and maps Ethnicity and Democratisation in the New Europe Karl Cordell, 2006-08-21 A broad ranging study that explores the complex relationship between ethnicity and democratization focusing on specific case studies including France Spain Slovakia the Czech Republic Russia Albania and Hungary Marrying the empirical and theoretical the book begins by conceptualizing the nature of ethnicity and relating these ideas to different theories of democracy and democratization The contributors locate ethnic experiences within a series of common frameworks to shed light on key issues such as the effect of democratization and authoritarian rule on ethnic tensions the extent to which ethnicity is constructed as an ideological tool whether democracy can only function if all citizens are fully assimilated The New Europe, 1992 Subregional Cooperation in the New Europe Andrew Cottey, 1999-04-12 Based on a major international research project undertaken by The Institute for East West Studies this book provides the first comprehensive analysis of an important but little explored feature of post Cold War Europe the emergence of subregional cooperation in areas such as the Barents the Baltic Sea Central Europe and the Black Sea It analyses the role of subregional cooperation in the new Europe provides detailed case studies of the new subregional groups and examines their relations with NATO and the European Union

Finland in the New Europe Max Jakobson, 1998-07-30 Jakobson tells the story of a small nation that has emerged a winner from the ordeals of the twentieth century Finland is still widely remembered for its successful resistance against Soviet attempts to subjugate it during World War II but less is known about the skillful balancing act by which Finns preserved their independence and way of life during the Cold War Finland is in fact one of the few European nations that can claim an unbroken record of democratic rule ever since the beginning of the 20th century By joining the European Union Finland has now finally moved out of Moscow's shadow and thanks to investment in education and technological development has joined the dozen most prosperous nations in the world The Finnish experience casts new light on the central issues facing Europe today for example the contradiction between the continuing vitality of nationalism and the pressures of integration as well as the challenge of how to relate to Russia still an unknown factor in the European security equation This is a major work for all scholars and researchers of Scandinavian and European Studies

NATO in the "New Europe" Alexandra Gheciu, 2005-08-17 In recent years the question of the post Cold War NATO particularly in relation to the former communist countries of Europe has been at the heart of a series of international reform debates NATO in the New Europe contributes to these debates by arguing that contrary to conventional assumptions about the role of international security organizations NATO has been systematically involved in the process of building liberal democracy in the former communist countries of Central and Eastern Europe The book also seeks to contribute to the development of an international political sociology of socialization It draws on arguments developed by political theorists sociologists and social psychologists to examine the dynamics and implications of socialization practices conducted by an international institution

Searching for Security in a New Europe Gerald J. Protheroe, 2004-03-01 Drawing on an array of archival material this study sheds light on Sir George Russell Clerk an important yet forgotten figure in British and European diplomatic history During the First World War Clerk was a senior Foreign Office official strongly sympathetic to the cause of the oppressed nationalities of the Austro Hungarian Empire This biographical study focuses on the most significant part of Clerk's career his role as a nation builder in post war Europe until his eventual downfall at the hands of Antony Eden and retirement in 1937 This is an excellent account of the thoughts and deeds of a remarkable man in British History

Citizenship Policies in the New Europe Rainer Bauböck, Bernhard Perchinig, Wiebke Sievers, 2009 Citizenship Policies in the New Europe describes the citizenship laws in each of the twelve new countries as well as in the accession states Croatia and Turkey and analyses their historical background Citizenship Policies in the New Europe complements two volumes on Acquisition and Loss of Nationality in the fifteen old Member States published in the same series in 2006 Book Jacket
