Metropolitan Management in Southeast Asia Jürgen Rüländ, 1996 Calcutta Poor Frederic C. Thomas, 2016-09-16 Calcutta is notorious for its pavement dwellers street children and scavengers that have become a portrait of the worst sort of human degradation In this illuminating critique Thomas investigates the standard solutions improved housing increased job creation and intervention of social services agencies only to come to the conclusion that such initiatives have little effect on the inherent nature of the problem of poverty Based on historical and anthropological findings and the author's visits to the slums of Calcutta what becomes clear is that even in the midst of great poverty there is a nobility of character a vitality of ethnic and cultural ties and an energy that bring out inventiveness and ingenuity in the lives of the poor If Calcutta's poverty is not to be an intractable problem these internal forces must be awakened to generate solutions Illustrated with stunning photographs Thomas's reflections provide new insight into an age old problem Infrastructure Policy and Inequality Michael A. Cohen, 2024-04-04 This book reframes the purpose of infrastructure from being an input to economic growth to becoming a major instrument in reducing socio economic inequalities in both industrialized and developing countries Drawing on global and national lessons of COVID 19 and extensive working experience in 55 countries this book reviews infrastructure policies and performance over several decades and suggests that the underperformance of infrastructure could be improved by more attention to users and the demand side and thereby contribute to overcoming many obstacles facing low income communities around the world This book argues that growth is not a necessary condition for sustainability or social justice and that both are undermined by structural inequalities which reduce the income and opportunities of urban households More focus on user needs can substantially change the distribution of benefits and the quality of living conditions of low income people It provides a unique theoretical and on the ground critique of conventional infrastructure practices while illustrating to readers the many positive experiences around the world More infrastructure is not enough different and better is needed This book reviews World Bank experience in launching a 30 year program to alleviate urban poverty through some 7 000 projects showing that many significant policy changes have led to a big improvement in global urban policies adopted by national and local governments yet have failed to significantly address and reduce intra urban inequalities The audience for this book includes academics both faculty and advanced graduate students while also a wider public interested in the prospects for international development

Rethinking Aid to Urban Poverty Reduction Alfredo Stein, International Institute for Environment & Development, 2001

Development: Identities, representations, alternatives Stuart Corbridge, 2000 Brings together more than one hundred articles dealing with the discipline of development in all its diversity Key topics include the transformation of peasant economies agribusiness rural urban relations markets industrialization workers trade aid and structural adjustment A unique set in its comprehensiveness and diversity it also considers four key challenges for development theory and practice relating to capabilities ethics sustainability and regulation

Mega Urban Regions of Southeast Asia Ira M. Robinson, 2011-11-01 A distinguishing feature of recent urbanization in the ASEAN countries of Thailand Malaysia the Philippines Singapore and Indonesia is the outward extension of their mega cities Bangkok Jakarta Manila Singapore and Kuala Lumpur beyond the metropolitan borders resulting in the establishment of new towns industrial estates and housing projects in previously rural areas This process has both positive and negative effects On one side household incomes and employment opportunities are increasing but on the other the growth often causes serious problems in terms of environmental deterioration conflicting land uses and inadequate housing and service provisions Mega Urban Regions of Southeast Asia is the first comprehensive work on the subject of ASEAN mega urban regions The contributors review T G McGee's original idea of desakota zones and offer arguments both for and against this concept making a significant contribution to our understanding of the true face of ASEAN cities The book brings together authors from around the world and will be of interest to a wide audience including demographers urban planners geographers sociologists economists civil servants and development consultants

Urban India, 2010 Asian and Pacific Cities Ian F. Shirley, Carol Neill, 2013 The cities of Asia and the Pacific are at the epicentre of development in what is arguably the most populous culturally distinctive and economically powerful region in the world 16 major cities such as Tokyo Shanghai Manila Jakarta Bangkok Singapore Auckland Kuala Lumpur and Santiago located in countries as diverse as Mexico and Vietnam Samoa and India China and Australia exemplify the changing patterns of development across this vast region of the world By tracking economic and social trends the contributors to this collection reveal how a wide range of political and cultural factors have interacted over time to provide a powerful explanation for the shape and characteristics of the city today Based on a collaborative research programme and drawing on the work of local researchers this book examines the realities of city development characterised by domestic migration spatial and social fragmentation squatter settlements and gated communities economic experiments and the emergence of the Asian Tigers The collection as a whole records the way in which countries in this region have moved from underdevelopment to become global economic and political powers This book provides a fascinating journey through Asia and the Pacific by generating an insiders view of each city and an insight into national development As such it will be of great interest to students and scholars interested in the

Asian and Pacific region in disciplines such as economics politics geography and sociology and in policy domains such as urban planning and economic development Design, 1987 Institutional Development Ronald McGill, 2016-07-27 This book reviews the theoretical perspectives on institutional development ID and third world city management It considers the practice of ID in city management by reviewing two related cases on organizational strengthening and building a planning capability both in local government The synthesizing chapters offer some guidelines on and tests for ID in city management practice The book therefore seeks to identify some general principles to guide the ID process in relation to third world city management

Bibliographic Note, 1992 City Requiem, Calcutta Ananya Roy, 2003 Housing developments emerge amid the paddy fields on the fringes of Calcutta overflowing trains carry peasant women to informal urban labor markets in a daily commute against hunger land is settled and claimed in a complex choreography of squatting and evictions such Ananya Roy contends are the distinctive spaces of a communism for the new millennium where at a moment of liberalization the hegemony of poverty is quietly reproduced An ethnography of urban development in Calcutta Roy's book explores the dynamics of class and gender in the persistence of poverty City Requiem Calcutta emphasizes how gender itself is spatialized and how gender relations are negotiated within the geopolitics of modernity and through the everyday practices of territory Thus Roy shows how urban developmentalism in its populist guise reproduces the relations of masculinist patronage and in its entrepreneurial guise seeks to reclaim a bourgeois Calcutta gentlemanly in its nostalgias In doing so her work expands the field of poverty studies by showing how a politics of poverty is also a poverty of knowledge a construction and management of social and spatial categories
