

Mexicans

Mexicans are brown
That's my race
So don't mess around
Mexican Pride
I will not disagree
My Mexican blood flows with ease
Through thick and thin til the day I die.
Our Mexican flag up in the sky
I yell this poem louder than the rest

Cuz everyone knows Mexicans are G's
Mexican Pride is on my mind
Mexican blood in my veins
So step aside and let us through
Cuz it's the Mexican Crew
Lifes messed up and you die alone
But if your one of us you die with pride.

Dauster,2021-10-21 Two strands one indigenous the other imposed produce the poetic and cultural tensions that give form to the work of five contemporary Mexican poets All Chumacero Efrain Huerta Jaime Sabines Ruben Bonifaz Nuno and Rosario Castellanos Although all five are significant figures only Castellanos has yet been widely studied in the United States primarily for her novels and her relations with the feminist movement In spite of a number of rather basic differences in their work these poets share and write within a complicated culture rooted in both the pre Hispanic and the European traditions Their poetry reflects this in its emphasis on death as a constant presence and in the echoes of both Aztec ritual poetry and European poetry Although apparently very different formally and thematically the five share a number of concerns Each of them writes out of a contradictory inner tension each is preoccupied with the effort to shape language as part of a personal voyage of discovery each is haunted by death and seeks realization or plenitude through love of some kind And each of them ultimately finds there is no escape As Frank Dauster concludes The poetry of Mexico like its people and its society reflects the fusion of two worlds and these complex poets of the double strand operate freely and imaginatively within it Although addressed primarily to specialists in Latin American literature The Double Strand also speaks to those interested in the complex interaction between two widely differing cultural heritages and in the rich fusion this blending produces in Mexican letters Anthology of Mexican Poetry Octavio Paz,1958 Selections from the works of more than thirty Mexican poets chosen to represent each historical period from 1521 to 1910 Translated by S Beckett heartbreaking unforgettable collection by the great Mexican poet Coral Bracho about her mother s Alzheimer s exquisitely translated by the Pulitzer Prize winning poet Forrest Gander It Must Be a Misunderstanding is the acclaimed Mexican poet Coral Bracho s most personal and emotive collection to date dedicated to her mother who died of complications from Alzheimer s Remarkably Bracho author and daughter seems to disappear into her own empathic observations as her mother comes clear to us not as a tragic figure but as a fiery and independent personality The chemistry between them is vivid poignant and unforgettable As the translator Forrest Gander explains in his introduction the book s force builds as the poems cycle through their sequences from early to late Alzheimer s with non judgmental affection and compassionate watchfulness

Mexican Ballads, Chicano Poems José E. Limón,1992-07-24 Mexican Ballads Chicano Poems combines literary theory with the personal engagement of a prominent Chicano scholar Recalling his experiences as a student in Texas Jos Lim n examines the politically motivated Chicano poetry of the 60s and 70s He bases his analyses on Harold Bloom s theories of literary influence but takes Bloom into the socio political realm Limón shows how Chicano poetry is nourished by the oral tradition of the Mexican corrido or master ballad which was a vital part of artistic and political life along the Mexican U S border from 1890 to 1930 Limón's use of Bloom as well as of Marxist critics Raymond Williams and Fredric Jameson brings Chicano literature into the arena of contemporary literary theory By focusing on an important but little studied poetic tradition his book challenges our ideas of the American canon and extends the reach of Hispanists and folklorists as well
